Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, it seems to me, that on this matter each party has had his day in Court. At the beginning of this session a resolution was offered asking for certain information which I feel under the provisions of the Constitution this House had a right to demand. Not on individual judgment, but as was recited in that report as I recall now, upon the best advice which this State pays for, legal advice, an open defi was hurled into the face of this House, which said you have have no right —the doors are closed. The House chose by its action to refer to the appropriate committee for the matter of obtaining advice, the best legal judgment as to the right of your House, that same question. That committee has given its honest time, its honest effort, its honest and thorough investigation as to what the rights of this House are. There are men in this House who would like to know whether their individual judgment has been sustained by the committee or whether it has been overruled by the legal judgment of this State, and I am one of those. The House took its stand, and I do not think, Mr. Speaker, that that stand was taken for political purposes; but simply for the purposes of doing those things which this House believes to be right; and I think that this House at this time should insist upon its stand. I believe that as matters stand before us now that the report of the Judiciary General Committee, which is ready, is a matter which should go upon the record of this House, voicing the judgment of that committee. Whether or not this House may sustain that judgment is another matter. If there be any supplemental reports from anybody else or any other deportment following upon the heels of that report, let us receive them. As I said, it is not just to this House, it is not just to the individual members of this committee, it is not just to you, nor to me, Mr. Speaker, nor to anyone else, that this thing should be stifled. As it appears to me, from what has been said in relation to holding out the report of the committe based on what has come in here this morning, and which I did not have the opportunity of hearing, I take it that now an invitation has been extended either to this committee or to the members of the House to call upon the Governor and if he cannot persuade them that they should go no further, or cannot persuade them as to what the position is in relation to the matter inquired about, then in that event, he may allow you to go further. Now what is the necessity of that? The report—I do not know what is in the report—there has been intimated even on the floor of this House, that it was being attempted to bring out a certain report. I do not know what that report is, but I would like to know what that report is. I think every member here is justified in knowing, and the one way we can do that is to hold in abeyance the motion of the gentleman from Philadelphia (Mr. Shern) and receive the report of the committee at this time.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to present the report of the Judiciary General Committee at this time.

Mr. COX. Mr. Speaker, I object.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears objection. The suggestion from the gentleman from Tioga would be a very practical solution of this matter, but the Chair hears objections.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I move you that the rule of order under which we are now acting be set aside for the purpose of receiving the report of the Committee on Judiciary General.

The SPEAKER. The Chair could not entertain that motion because there is a motion before the House. The motion before the House is that action upon the message of the Governor be suspended pending the receiving of the report of the Judiciary General Committee.

Mr. SHERN. Mr. Speaker, I ask that the roll be called, and I insist that the roll be called.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I second the call.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia (Mr. Shern) has requested a roll call and the call has been seconded by the gentleman from Allegheny (Mr. Allen), therefore the roll must be called. The question being—

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, my point of order is that the motion just stated by the chair cannot supersede a motion to lie on the table.

The SPEAKER. The motion stated by the Chair is in the form in which the gentleman from Philadelphia (Mr. S. B. Scott) agreed that the motion to lie on the table might be put.

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, as I understood the motion of the gentleman from Philadelphia, it was a motion to lie on the table, which cannot be amended.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia withdrew his motion to lie on the table substantially by agreeing that the motion might be stated as a motion to postpone consideration until the receiving of the report of the Committee on Judiciary General. That is the matter before the House.

Mr. SHERN. Mr. Speaker, in order that I may not be misunderstood, I want to say that I have no intention of stifling the report of the Committee on Judiciary General. I know what that report is, I was a member of the subcommittee to whom was given the power to draft the report and we went over it with the Judiciary General Committee and after the motion that I made is either adopted or rejected I have absolutely no opposition to the report being presented by the Chairman of the Judiciary General Committee. I have no desire or intention to attempt to stifle that report and will welcome its presentation after the motion of Mr. Scott is either accepted or rejected.

Mr. COX. Mr. Speaker, I have no desire to stop the report of the committee going in, but I believe that before this body there is a message that should be considered one way or the other and that is the reason that I objected to any further consideration of any other business.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will call the roll. The question being, Will the House postpone action on the message of the Governor until the report of the Judiciary General Committee shall be received and read.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know whether or not it is not the thought of the gentleman on the side of the committee and also the thought of the gentleman on the side of sustaining the gentleman from Philadelphia (Mr. Shern) that after we vote to decide upon the message first that we can immediately take up the question with the committee report?

Mr. SHERN. Mr. Speaker, immediately, immediately.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, that is what I want to know.

Mr. SHERN. Mr. Speaker, I will move that the report of the Judiciary General Committee be taken up immediately after the passage or rejection of this motion. If the motion that Mr. Scott made is defeated and the motion I made is accepted, then immediately after the House votes upon my motion I will move that the report of the Judiciary General Committee be immediately taken up.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will call the roll.

The calling of the roll was started.

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, I rise for information. I wish to know what we are doing. I do not understand what we are voting on here and I do not believe that this House is proceeding with any degree of order. I hear other men around me who say they do not know what we are voting on. What is the issue before the House?

The SPEAKER. The Chair was as elaborate as the Chair knew how to be in stating the question. It is certainly not in order to interrupt the calling of the roll and yet it is important that the House fully understand what it is voting upon. The Governor sent a message to the House. Thereupon the gentleman from Philadelphia, (Mr. Shern) moved that in compliance wtih a suggestion contained in the Governor's message, the Committee of Inquiry or Dual Office Committe call on the Governor to confer. The gentleman from Philadelphia, (Mr. S. B .Scott) moved that action upon the motion be postponed until the report of the Judiciary General Committee, now in the hands of the Chairman of that Committee, ready to be presented, shall have been presented and read. The present roll call is upon the motion of the gentleman from Philadelphia. (Mr. Scott), the question being shall action on the motion of the gentleman from Philadelphia, (Mr. Shern), be postponed until the report of the Judiciary General Committee has been received.

Mr. ULERICH. Mr. Speaker, then we are to understand that when we vote on the Gentleman's motion from Philadelphia that the report of the Judiciary General Committee will come up following that. Is that the idea?

The SPEAKER. The Chair is of the opinion that will be the next order of business.

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, perhaps some one will explain why it will be necessary to postpone the motion of the gentleman from Philadelphia in order to present this report. Would not the report still be in order?

Mr. SHERN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. SHERN. Mr. Speaker, my point of order is that there is nothing in order except the calling of the roll.

The SPEAKER. The Chair cannot permit discussion of the question. While it was hardly parliamentary practice and it may be out of order to interrupt the calling of the roll for explanation the Chair tried to make a full explanation, because in the opinion of the Chair an intelligent understanding is more important than parlimentary technicalities.

The roll call will proceed and begin de novo.

The question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. S. B. SCOTT asked for a verification of the roll.

This was done as follows:

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SHERN and Mr. ALLEN.

So the question was determined in the negative and the motion is not agreed to.

The SPEAKER. The question is on the motion of the gentleman from Philadelphia, (Mr. Shern), that the Committee on Inquiry be directed to confer with His Excellency, the Governor in pursuance of the invitation contained in the Governor's message.

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, it seems to me to be an absurd parliamentary procedure to attempt to decide an issue of the magnitude which is now before us without having the advice of your committee constituted for that very purpose. Since you, Gentlemen of the House, have refused to accept the instructions and information which the Committee has labored to prepare for you, all that can be done is to permit members of the Committee a few moments for debate in an attempt to try to tell you what you are doing and how you are trying to destroy for all time to come the honor and dignity of the Legislative branch of the Government. Now, Mr. Speaker, this issue has been prepared with wonderful clarity. Up until this morning every step was duly and properly taken. This House appointed its Committee of Investigation with full power. That Committee prepared and served its subpoena upon a subordinate of the Governor. That subpoena was ignored and the Governor made the issue his own in a message written with great clarity and distinctness and said "I have directed Mr. Gaither to refuse to respond to this subpoena of the House." Mr. Speaker that raises a question of enormous magnitude. I ask you to consider for a moment the situation in which the State of Pennsylvania found itself a few years ago when this Capitol was constructed. It was then believed that enormous frauds had been committed in the construction of this building and the Legislature proceeded to appoint a committee to find out whether or not such fraud had been committed. That joint Committee of the two Houses was clothed with full power to subpoena and it did subpoena subordinates of the Executive Department and every department that might by any posibility have any information on the subject; and on the basis of the information which was thus brought out, facts were established, prosecutions were commenced and convictions were obtained. I don't for a moment suggest that there may be any necessity for any such proceedings again and I also say that the particular matter of this subject itself holding an investigation is within itself of the slightest possible moment, but the question—the bland question is whether the subpoena of the House has any compelling power upon the subordinates of the Executive? That is the question and that is a momentus question. It will make a precedent which will be cited every time there is any hitch in the State Government. I don't mean only now—that is of no importance but every time in the future, through all the history of the State, where the Executive may have something to hide from the Legislature, through that whole course of history, this precedent that you are now making in the absence of information that your Committee can give you—that precedent will be cited as the action of the House and will have its bearing in every legislative department. I say it is the most insane action that you should proceed to the vote upon such a subject after you have turned your back on the Committee which has been appointed to look into this matter. I say the issue is clear. You vote no to this motion which will simply have its effect, that is that for the moment you have refused to vote with your Committee. We recommend then after you have heard the Committee and what it has to tell you might be able to consider and you might intelligently act and then decide after what has been done by the Governor.

Mr. WILLIAMS (in the Chair).

Mr. SHERN. Mr. Speaker, as far as the process of this House is concerned, I am as jealous of it as a member, as my friend from Philadelphia. Mr. S. B. Scott, but at the same time, Gentlemen of the House, if you pay attention to the message of His Excellency, the Governor, you will observe that he absolutely and unqualifiedly reported to you that if the members of this committee desired the appearance of Mr. Gaither and the rest of his subordinates, he would bow in obedience to the process of the subpoena of this House. Now, if that is not a complete admission and answer by him that he admits the prerogatives of this House by which this process must be obeyed, I cannot comprehend or understand the English language. If he writes to this House: "I recognize the fact that you are right; would you show me the courtesy and give me an opportunity to see if I can satisfy you with the information you desire, and if not, I will bow to the inevitable and recognize your subpoena." I think the Chief Executive of this great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania should be shown that much courtesy. I don't expect this committee to be satisfied after calling upon the Governor, because if I were a member of that committee, I would stand on my dignity, notwithstanding the message of the Governor, and would still demand that Mr. Gaither and the other subordinates be served with a subpoena of this House in order to establish a precedent. I would suggest to the committee calling upon him, that they would impress upon His Excellency that we must have the process of this House obeyed. After that is done the matter is disposed of and my friends' agony about what may appear as a precedent in the future will disappear.

Mr. GEORGE A. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I don't understand His Excellency, the Governor's, message like my friend Mr. Shern understands it. On the contrary, it appears to me that the Governor's message evaded the whole issue here which has been so completely and succinctly told by my firend. Mr. S. B. Scott. We don't know from it whether or not the subordinates of the Executive Department can be made to accept service of the subpoenas of this House. If the message of His Excellency were reread, it will be discovered that the Governor does not undertake to promise to furnish these witnesses at the request of the committee, because it is a matter of right on the part of the House but as a matter of grace on the part of the Executive. Therefore, the whole speech of my friend, Mr. Shern, is quite beside the question. The Governor does not recede from the position which he took originally but he says, "If you want to hear these witnesses and have this matter brought out and desire to be informed upon the law as a matter of grace, I will direct them to appear." The subject remains as it stood before the Governor's message was received.

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Shern, in his speech put the cart before the horse. He is anticipating what the report of the Judiciary General Committee will be. Possibly he as a member of the sub-committee and a member of the Judiciary General Committee itself might know, but how are we of this House going to anticipate the report here, if the report of that Committee is that the Executive has the power to refuse to require his subordinates to appear before the Legislative Committee. Then, of course, the message of the Governor and the motion of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Shern, amounts to nothing. If the report is that it is the duty of these witnesses to appear before the Legislative Committee, then the orderly procedure would be first to hear the report from the committee and after the House has been informed by its legal committee and what the view of that committee is upon the law and if it is adverse to the position taken by the Governor in his message of March 12th, then it is quite orderly for us to take up the motion that is made by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Shern, and then await the pleasure of the Governor. Mr. Speaker, if the Governor recedes from the position that he has taken in refusing to allow the witnesses to appear before the committee, why undoubtedly that ends the whole thing,—the whole discussion. Why should my friend from Philadelphia, Mr. Shern, rush in with his motion anticipating the report of the Judiciary General Committee—he really anticipates the whole question. Why is it that he is so ardent to have a committee of this House to wait upon the Governor upon the question which this House has not as yet been informed as to the view of the Judiciary General Committee? Why all this haste? Why all this roll call? Why all this discussion upon the part of the gentleman from Philadelphia pressing his motion? Why don't we allow the proper suggestion made by the Chairman of the Judiciary General Committee when he asks unanimous consent to stop all discussions and make his report? Why don't we follow the very sensible suggestion made by the Speaker of this House, when this motion was put, when he said: "The orderly way is to receive the report, then after we have received their report, after the House has been advised as to what the Judiciary General Committee presents, and accordingly at that time is the time for whatever action is taken by the House."

The members of the Committee on Judiciary General will not only be too pleased to join with the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Shern, and do anything that we possibly can to allay the troubled waters. I suggest that we act on the suggestion of the Speaker of the House and the sensible suggestion made by the Chairman of the Judiciary General Committee and give unanimous consent to the Chairman of that committee to offer his report when he asks unanimous consent for the report.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, a few days ago, a communication was received from the Governor in relation to a committee report from this House. Soon after that message from His Excellency was received it was referred to the Judiciary General Committee with instructions to report to the House what action the House should take. Immediately thereafter, this committee made a report to the House and asked instruction of the House what to do. That report was referred to the same committee and I have them both here. Then, this morning, His Excellency comes in with a message and the motion is made to accept the message and instruct this committee what to do before the house gets the advice from the Judiciary General Committee as to what this other committee should do. Mr. Speaker, in view of that situation I renew my request for unanimous consent to present the report of the Judiciary General Committee on this subject.

Mr. COX. Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Cox.

Mr. COX. Mr. Speaker, I object.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, in spite of all that has been said and in spite of all the disavows that there is no politics in this, each and every member has his own opinion and most likely they are all correct. The truth of the matter is this that we are now forced, if we refuse to pass this motion offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Shern, of going into the question of the powers of the various departments of this government—one over the other. This has occurred a number of times but not more than eight or ten times in the national government. The first instance that you will find that that question was raised in the national government was during the Presidency of General Jackson, and for the purpose of showing the House that there is a difference of opinion whether or not a legislative body has the power to issue subpoenas and demand information without limit from an Executive, has been well threshed out. It is true that a decision on both sides of that question could not be determined here without some preparation and have to prove and satisfy you that this is no new proposition as to where the powers of the Executive and the powers of the legislative body end. These chiefly are questions that have necessarily arisen in this government of ours, almost from its beginning. We find here the question discussed as to the powers of the House and the powers of the Senate. Now, the members on the one side say that the Senate has no right to do this, and over on the other side you will hear them saying that the House has no right to do this. When we come down to facts in both houses, we find that they call our House the slower House and we call theirs the slower House. That conflict has been going on since this government has been organized and created with three bodies, legislative executive and judicial, but I think if you go into that proposition, that the form of the resolution should be carefully studied. If you will examine the talks that have occurred in Congress on this subject, they are divided by a very fine line, and it is important to the best interests of the government that we should study the form that resolutions of this character take when they are presented in the United States Congress. I do not think that the language contained in this resolution gives you the power to subpoena individuals in the Executive Department, nor in any other department of this State. I am not going to disucss it any further than to read you an issue that occurred in Congress in President Jackson's administration—

Mr. SHERN. Mr. Speaker, I think my friend from Delaware will have the opportunity to discuss that when the report from the Judiciary General Committee comes in.

I rise to the point of order that he is out of order: that at this particular time he is out of order. The question is whether or not this committee shall call upon the Governor and request the information, and if dissatisfied, to subpoena the witnesses if it so desires. Now, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. John R. K. Scott—because we have to use names to distinguish them—seems to misunderstand the proposition. We understand in the communication just received in the House from the Governor that he does say that he will obey the process of this body by ordering his subordinates to appear before this committee, and if that is not a complete receding from the original message, I do not know what is. I still maintain my point of order.

The SPEAKER. The point of order is well taken; the point of order raised by the gentleman from Philadelphia is correct.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I agree that the point of order is well taken, but I raise the point of order that the past speaker has spoken on it, and I do not think he is justified in raising his point of order now. I agree with him that the point of order is properly taken, but it should have been insisted upon before. It has led off into this condition, and I am very willing to stop if the gentleman is satisfied to desist.

Mr. MOSES. Mr. Speaker, I do not intend to make any extended remarks on this question. If I understand the message from His Excellency, the Governor, and I think I do, I consider it a fair, square and manly proposition to this House and should be accepted as such. I will support Mr. Shern's motion and trust every member of the House will do the same.

Mr. ALTER. Mr. Speaker, the situation, as I understand it at the present time, before the House is the simple question of whether the House, in response to a courteous invitation from the Governor, is willing that the House committee shall confer with the Governor for the purpose of seeing whether the apparent issue between the Governor and the House may properly be avoided. I thought, Mr. Speaker, that it would have been better to have the report of the Judiciary General Committee read to the House before action upon this motion, and I voted accordingly; but the House in its wisdom decided that the motion to accept the Governor's invitation for a conference should be acted upon first, and therefore we have now before us the plain issue, will the House agree to accept the Governor's invitation to confer with him by adopting this motion? The House doesn't give up one iota of any prerogative which it now has. No man in this House is more jealous of the prerogatives of this House than I am, whatever may be the rights and prerogatives of the House in this matter. When anything brings them up, it is our duty to take such action as will pass those rights and prerogatives on to our successors unimpaired. We must concede likewise, that whatever the rights and prerogatives of the administrative department may be, it is the duty of His Excellency, the Governor, to pass them to his successors likewise undiminished. Now, we do not have the report of the committee before us, and therefore let us assume for the purpose of this present discussion that the report of the committee advises the House that it has full power to subpoena those witnesses. Assuming that to be the case, why, nevertheless, should the motion not be adopted. What does this motion involve? Simply this. Here is an issue which has been raised between the Executive and the House, between two coordinate branches of the government, an issue involving a serious constitutional question. Suppose the Governor stands upon his position and suppose the House stands upon its position, and suppose the House directs that attachments be issued for these witnesses, and suppose the Speaker issues those attachments, and he would not hestitate one moment to issue them if such should be the will of the House. The witnesses who are attached for contempt will go down to the Dauphin County court and there obtain a writ of habeas corpus. After deliberation and delay the Dauphin County court decides that question, and then it is appealed to a higher court, and sometime long after the adjournment of this House the question is decided. In the meantime, what information has our committee obtained? In the meantime, all through this session, we have a constant feeling of irritation which is bound to result from a pending lawsuit between the Executive and this House. His Excellency very properly showed in the message that was read this morning that he and the Legislature have duties of great importance to the people, which he and we are trying to accomplish, and why endanger the successful accomplishment of those duties by having a controversy of this kind between the House and the Governor. Now, does he suggest that we recede from our position? Not at all. The purpose of the motion of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Shern, is simply this: That the House accept the invitation of the Governor. If the motion were that the House should go over and wait upon the Governor without an invitation from him, I would oppose it, because it would be inconsistent with the dignity of this House. But he has taken the initiative, because he has sent us the invitation asking that our committee confer with him and see whether a lawsuit cannot be avoided. No good lawyer would fail to advise his clients to confer and try to avoid a lawsuit. Let the committee confer with the Governor and if, as the result of that conference, it be found that the information desired by the House may be obtained consistently with what the Governor deems his duty with reference to his executive prerogative, if in fact, as the result of that conference it be found that there is no substantial controversy, then why have a controversy; but if that Committee comes back to this House recommending anything that would abate in the smallest degree the rights and prerogatives of this House, I for one would vote against it. The simple proposition here is, will the House in response to the invitation of the Governor, confer in order to see whether a most regrettable controversy may honorably be avoided?

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker,—

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order. The gentleman has already addressed the House three or four times on this subject.

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I think the gentleman is mistaken upon that. I did not address the House at all upon this question.

The SPEAKER. The point of order is not well taken.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. I withdraw it.

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, the words of the Speaker of this House on the floor of the House are words of undoubted wisdom. He is to be congratulted that, as the presiding officer of this House, he has taken so manly a stand in the protection of the prerogatives of the members; that he has protected the dignity of the House. I would gladly join with him in voting for the motion offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia if I did not anticipate that this is but a preliminary motion for other motions to follow and prevent the question that the Speaker says he would defend even to the extent of issuing attachments and enforcing imprisonment. I feel, Mr. Speaker, that if the motion which is now before the House, the motion which has been urged to be decided before the report comes from the Judiciary General Committee, the motion which has been protected by the objection of the friends of the motion to the reading of the report of the Judiciary General Committee by unanimous consent, I fear that that motion is but a preliminary to the plan that has been laid out by those who attempt to stifle the expression of right in this House. Mr. Speaker, if this motion that is now offered is not for the purpose of keeping from this House the report of the Judiciary General Committee, then why all this haste? Then why all this rushing in before the orderly course of business? There has not been none of us who are members of the Judiciary General Committee or of its sub-committee who have by act or word indicated that we want to create differences between this House and the Executive, or that we want to take from the Executive any of the dignity that belongs to his great office, or that we want to stop the friendly relations that exist now and will exist in the future, but what we do say to the House is that the House has sent to the Judiciary General Committee the message of the Governor, and the report from the sub-committee, the one declining to allow witnesses to appear and the other asserting that the witnesses did not appear, and to us, a committee, then left the question to be reported back to this House. In view of the law, we have now prepared the report. We are your committee. We have the right as your committee to ask that the report of the committee be laid before the members of the House so that we can meet the conciliatory motion that has been made by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Shern, and none of us on either the general or the sub-committee of the Judiciary General Committee recedes one whit or step from the position taken by the distinguished Speaker of this House. We want to join with him upon this motion; we want to remove strife; but we will remove no strife, Mr. Speaker, if we stultify the decision on this question. We will remove no strife between the Executive and this House. We will not be stulaifying the House. We wont exalt, we wont raise the position of the Executive by lowering our own position. We wont build up any friendly relations between the Executive and the Legislative Branch by merely having this preliminary motion now placed on the record of the House and never have the report of the Judiciary General Committee placed upon the records. We will have in the future this precedent; a report from a specially appointed committee declaring that their subpoena was ignored. We will have on the record the message from His Excellency, the Governor, defying the subpoena so far as his subordinates are concerned. Then we will have upon the record that these two questions were referred to the Judiciary General Committee and that is the end of the record, if we anticipate or read the meaning of this motion by the gentleman from Philadelphia. I would gladly join, and I dare say every one who helped draft that report, every one who rushed to the defence of the dignity of this House, would join with the distinguished Speaker of the House if we thought that mere question of time, mere question of precedence of the motion before the report meant nothing but precedence. But we anticipate that the objection that comes when the distinguished gentleman of the Judiciary General Committee offers his report to be read, we anticipate that this motion is but a preliminary skirmish and when the motion is disposed of and if successful when the report is to be offered, when the report is to be placed before the House, when the adoption of the report is asked, we anticipate that then the real purpose of this motion will be disclosed.

If the distinguished Speaker of this House voices aright that this motion now is a mere feeling between the Executive and the House, I dare say that I express the thought of every one on the committee that they would join with him in his manly position; but we anticipate, Mr. Speaker, that this motion now is the motion that will stop the deciding of the question, which is not the question for to-day, but the question for many sessions to come. I therefore, Mr. Speaker, urge all the friends of this report, urge all who would speak to sustain the dignity of this House, given us by the Constitution and by the acts of the various Legislatures, that we all join and vote down at this time the motion of the gentleman from Philadelphia.

Mr. WILDMAN. Mr. Speaker, I call for the previous question.

Mr. STEIN. Mr. Speaker, I second the call.

The SPEAKER. The previous question has been called for.

The motion was seconded by the following members: Messrs. North, Walton, Ulerich, Dickinson, Bayle, Neel, Heyburn, Fahey, Frey, Spangler, Frank Gray, McArdle, S. J. Perry, Ely, Goss, Hess, Conner, Kitts, Body, Becker, Donahoe, Kitts, Lowers, Isler, Morrow, George C. Irwin, Miller, Schuck, Gans, Meckling, Adam C. Schaeffer, Swift, Adams, H. H. Irwin, Semmens, Strauss and others.

The SPEAKER. More than twenty members having joined in moving the previous question,

On the question,

Shall the previous question be now put?

It was agreed to.

The SPEAKER. The question now before the House is the motion of the gentleman from Philadelphia (Mr. Shern).

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, I rise for information. I would ask that the Governors' message be read.

The SPEAKER. There is nothing in order but the decision of the question now before the House.

Mr. SHERN. Mr. Speaker, I ask that the roll be called on this motion.

The SPEAKER. The roll will be called. I would ask the gentleman from Philadelphia (Mr. Shern), to state his motion again.

Mr. SHERN. Mr. Speaker, my motion is that in pursuance of the message of the Governor to this House, that the Special Committee appointed to investigate dual office holding, be requested to call upon the Governor in regard to his invitation and report back to the House their findings at the earliest opportunity.

The SPEAKER. The roll will now be called. The Clerk will proceed.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SHERN and Mr. COX and were as follows:

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES.

The SPEAKER: The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Tioga, Mr. Rockwell.

Mr. ROCKWELL: Mr. Speaker I desire to offer a report from the Committee on Judiciary General.

The SPEAKER: The report will be read by the Clerk.

TO THE HONORABLE THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES OF THE COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA.

THE JUDICIARY GENERAL COMMITTEE OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, to which was submitted the message of His Excellency, the Governor, Honorable John K. Tener, declining to permit the attendance of certain witnesses before a Committee of this House, and also the preliminary report of the aforesaid Committee seeking the attendance of the said witnesses

REPORTS:

First. The said Committee of the House of Representatives, consisting of Honorable F. E. Geiser, Chairman, Honorable Charles J. Roney, Jr., Secretary, Honorable J. H. DeFrees, Honorable Charles A. Schaffer and Honorable William D. Walton, was established and empowered to act by the following resolution adopted by the House of Representatives February 19th, 1913:

"Whereas, it is currently reported that there are persons in the employ of the several departments of this Commonwealth holding more than one position under the administration, the duties of which are nominal and the combined salaries greatly in excess of the services rendered,

"Therefore, be it resolved, That a Committee of five members of the House of Representatives to be appointed by the Speaker of the House, two of whom shall be Democrats, shall be and hereby are constituted a committee to inquire into the facts to to make report of their findings to the House within thirty days. Such Committee shall have full power to administer oaths and to compel the attendance of witnesses and the production of all books and papers, to issue all necessary processes, and to exercise all the powers belonging to a Committee of the House of Representatives."

This Committee after organization lawfully issued its subpoena of the following form:

"Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, ss:

The House of Representatives of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to Greeting:—We command you that setting aside all manner of business and excuses whatsoever you be and appear in your proper person before the Special Commission of this House appointed to investigate the matter of persons holding more than one position under any department or office of this Commonwealth, at a meeting of the said Commission to be held on the 12th day of March, 1913, at Room 508, State Capitol, Pennsylvania, at 5.00 o'clock, to testify all and singular those things which you shall know concerning the matter under investigation, and that you bring with you.....

and this you are not to omit under penalty.

Witness the said Special Commission by hand and seal of the Secretary thereof this 12th day of March, 1913.

(Sgd.) CHARLES J. RONEY, JR., (Seal.)
Secretary."

At the direction of the said Committee a supboena in the form above recited was regularly and personally served by the Sergeant-at-Arms and his assistants upon the following persons: Walter Gaither, George Thorn, George Kendelhart, John F. Whitmore, H. D. Jones, James Craig, Cassius A. Dunn, Samuel F. Todd, Harry McDevitt, M. B. Eisenhart, James N. Robbin and E. T. Oswald.

On the 12th day of March, 1913, at the time set forth in the subpoena issued, the Committee sat for the purpose of performing its appointed duty, but the said persons subpoened as aforesaid to appear before the Committee neglected or refused to attend as witnesses. No reason was communicated to the Committee by any of the persons subpoened as to why they had not appeared and the Committee knows of no reason given by the said persons why they should not have appeared in compliance with the terms of the subpoenas served upon them

Prior to the time fixed by the Committee for the appearance of the said persons as witnesses before it, to wit, on the 12th day of March, 1913, received from the Governor of the State of Pennsylvania, the following communication addressed to the House of Representatives of Pennsylvania:

March 12, 1913.

"To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Gentlemen:—A resolution adopted by the House of Representatives reads as follows:

"Whereas, It is currently reported that there are persons in the employ of the several departments of this Comonwealth holding more than one position under the administration, the duties of which are nominal and the combined salaries greatly in excess of the services rendered,

Therefore, be it Resolved, That a Committee of five members of the House of Representatives, to be appointed by the Speaker of the House, two of whom shall be Democrats, shall be and are hereby constituted a committee to inquire into the facts and to make report of their findings to the House within thirty days. Such Committee shall have full power to administer oaths and to compel the attendance of witnesses and the production of all books and papers; to issue all necessary processes, and to exercise all the powers belonging to a committee of the House of Representatives."

"Pursuant to this one House resolution, Mr. Walter H. Gaither, holding the office of Private Secretary to the Governor, a subordinate in the Executive Department of the Commonwealth, has been served with a subpoena, commanding him to appear before said Committee.

"I have directed Mr. Gaither to refuse to obey the command of the said subpoena for the following reasons:

"Having in view the powers and duties of the three coordinate branches of the State government, a proper regard for the Executive Department and the prerogatives, powers and duties vested in that department by the people, under the Constitution of the Commonwealth, impels me respectfully to express my dissent from the proposition that it lies within the power of either branch of the General Assembly to compel the Governor, or the head of any department included by the Constitution within the Executive Department, and their subordinates, subject to the supreme executive power vested in the Governor by that Constitution, by its subpoena, to appear and testify concerning, or produce books, papers and documents relating to, the administration of the Executive Department, before a legislative committee created by it, in any case where, in the judgment of the Governor of the Commonwealth, it would be incompatible with the public interest, to obey such summons.

"The Constitution provides that:

'The supreme executive power shall be vested in the Governor, who shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed,'

and that

'He may require information in writing from the officers of the executive department upon any subject relating to the duties of their respective offices,'

and that

'He shall from time to time, give to the General Assembly information of the state of the Commonwealth, and recommend to their consideration such measures as he may judge expedient.'

"The same fundamental principle in our organic law which exempts the Governor and his subordinates, while engaged in performing the duties pertaining to their respective offices, from the subpoena of the judicial department of the State Government, likewise exempts the Governor and his subordinates from the compelling power of a subpoena of an investigating committee created by a resolution adopted by but one branch of the General Assembly,"

"I have never declined, nor shall I decline, to communicate to the General Asembly, all the information which, under the Constitution, or the law, of this Commonwealth, it is my duty to give, or which in my judgment as the Governor of the State may suggest to me, or a request from the Legislature may indicate to me, will be useful in the discharge of the appropriate duties and functions committed to the law-making branch of the government.

"I do not find, however, in the Constitution of the Commonwealth, the authority given to the House of Representatives to require the Governor, or his subordinates, constituting an independent co-ordinate branch of the State Governoment, created by that instrument, to submit to the compelling power of such a subpoena, as is purported to be authorized by the resolution referred to.

"If the information attempted to be compelled without limitation as to propriety or relevancy, by this resolution, and required by the unrestricted subpoena of the House Committee thereby created, and now served upon my Secretary and other subordinates of the various Executive Departments of the government, be sought instead through a proper request or inquiry of the Legislature, addressed to the Governor, concerning the subject matter of the resolution, in a way which does not strike at the above fundamental principles of our frame of government, or violate any other provision of the organic or statutory law of the Commonwealth, I shall unhesitatingly see to it, that all such information shall be promptly furnished. Meanwhile and until such request is preferred to the Governor, I have directed the heads of the several Executive Departments and their subordinates to decline to respond to the subpoena.

(Signed.) JOHN K. TENER.

Third. The power of the House of Representatives to appoint a committee with the powers of the committee by virtue of the above resolution is given by the 11th Section, Article 2, of the Constitution of Pennsylvania in the following language:

> "Each house shall have power to determine the rules of its proceedings and punish its members or other persons for contempt or disorderly behavior in its presence, to enforce obedience to its process, to protect its members against violence or offers of bribes or private solicitation, and with the concurrence of two third, to expel a member, but not a second time for the same cause, and shall have all the powers necessary for the Legislature of a free State. A member expelled for corruption shall not thereafter be eligible to either House and punishment for contempt or disorderly behavior shall not bar an indictment for the same offense."

The power of either branch of the Legislature to issue its subpoena for the attendance of witnesses is given by the Act of the 13th of June, 1842, P. L. 491, (Purdon's Digest, 13th Edition, 4th Vol. 5187):

> "Each branch of the Legislature shall have the power to issue their subpoena as heretofore practiced, into any part of the Commonwealth and by attachment to compel the attendance of all persons summoned as witnesses; and in case any witness brought to the bar of either House shall refuse to be sworn or affirmed or having been sworn or affirmed shall refuse to render an answer to all legal questions duly propounded, the Speaker of the House before which such refusal shall be made, shall have full power, by the direction of the said House to issue to the Sergeant-at-Arms a warrant of commitment to the prison of Dauphin County, the inspectors and keepers whereof are hereby authorized and required to receive and confine such delinquents so committed until discharged in due course; and the expense of such imprisonment shall be paid out of any money in the State treasury not otherwise appropriated."

The refusal to appear before a legislative committee of either house during session is further punishable by the Act of the 14th day of March 1872, P. L. 25 (Purdon's Digest 13th Edition 4th Vol. Page 5187) as follows:

> 'Any person or persons who shall willfully neglect or refuse to appear and testify before any committee of either branch of the Legislature of this State, or before any joint committee thereof after he, she or they shall have been duly served with a subpoena to so appear and any person or persons who is or shall be in contempt by reason of such neglect or refusal so to appear and testify or either, shall be held and deemed to be guilty of a misdemeanor and on conviction thereof, shall be punished by imprisonment not exceeding six months, and by fine not exceeding one thousand dollars, or either at the discretion of the Court trying the same."

Fourth. Your Committee therefore finds that the constitution, Aritcle 2, Section II, together with the acts of 1842 and 1872 gives ample power to the House of Representatives to apppoint a committee by virtue of the resolution passed 19th day of February 1913 and heretofore recited, to issue its subpoena and compel the attendance of witnesses before it.

Your Committee further finds that under the provision of the Constitution and the Acts of Assembly above recited the House of Representatives has ample power to issue attachments for the attendance of witnesses before its body and the power to adjudge those who fail to purge themselves of contempt for disobedience to its lawful order and command to appear as witnesses in contempt and punish such contempt by imprisonment.

Fifth. The question now before the Committee for determination and report is whether or not the above-named persons subpoenaed to appear before the Committee appointed by the Speaker of the House during its session by virtue of the above-mentioned resolution adopted by the House on the 19th day of February, 1913, are exempt from obeying its subpoena to appear before it as witnesses.

His Excellency, the Governor, in his message to the House of March 12, 1913, that he has advised the heads of the several executive departments and their subordinates to refuse obedience to the subpoena of the Committee of this House on the ground that:

> "The same fundamental principal in our organic law which exempts the Governor and his subordinates while engaged in performing the duties pertaining to their respective offices from the subpoena of the judicial department of the State government, likewise exempts the Govenor and his subordinates from the compelling power of a subpoena of an investigating committee created by resolution adopted by but one branch of the General Assembly."

And again

> "I do not find however in the Constitution of the Commonwealth the authority given to the House of Representatives to require the Governor or his subordinates, constituting an independent co-ordinate branch of the State government, created by that instrument to submit to the compelling power of such a subpoena as is purported to be authorized by the resolution referred to."

The law is clear that the House and its properly appointed committees have the power to subpoena and compel the attendance of witnesses before them. All persons, whether holding public office or not, are subject to subpoena of either branch of the Legislature or their committees. There are, however, certain recognized exceptions wherein a person cannot be compelled to testify, instances being that a person is not bound to give testimony that will tend to incriminate him. Persons in the performance of their duties in the State or national Legislature cannot be compelled to obey a subpoena where answer to the same would cause a conflict with their officials duties, nor can the executive or his subordinates be compelled to give testimony which they have learned in their official capacity and the giving of which would be detrimental to the public service and injurious to the interests of the Commonwealth.

The laws seems to be that the President of the United States, the Governors of the several states, and the heads of executive departments are not bound to produce papers or disclose information in a judicial or legislative inquiry.

The law in the State of Pennsylvania is nowise different upon this question than that of the United States. In the case of the Commonwealth vs. John F. Hartranft, Governor of Pennsylvania et al. 85th Pa. 433, the Governor and heads of his departments were held by the supreme court not to be compelled to appear before the Grand Jury of Allegheny County and there disclose knowledge had by themselves pertaining to the conflict between the strikers and the militia in the famous Pittsburgh riots. A close examination of this case will clearly show that it in nowise rules the question now reported on. In that case the grand jury petitioned the Court of Quarter Sessions of Allegheny County as follows:

> "That the citizens of said County are greatly concerned in having a careful investigation of the late riots of July 21st and 22nd, 1877, and all facts and particulars incident and relative thereto and connected therewith, and the grand jury do respectfully pray your Honor to give this matter in charge to them to inquire concerning, and to furnish them compulsory process to secure the attendance of such witnesses as they may consider necessary to examine."

A subpoena was issued to the Governor and the heads of his departments. They refused to appear and application for attachment was made to the Court. The Attorney-General appeared before the Court representing the Commonwealth, said:

> "The Governor as Commander-in-Chief of the army and navy of the State, Adjutant-General Latte, General R. M. Brtinton, and Major A. Wilson Norris, against whom attachments have been applied for, to compel their obedience to a subpoena to appear and testify before said grand jury, have no knowledge of the late riots in Allegheny County except that which they learned in their military and official capacities and which are privileged communications.———They declared to him that in the exercise of their official discretion an examination into these acts in connection with the said riots would be detrimental to the public service and injurious to the interestts of the Commonwealth."
> The Attorney-General further averred that the Governor and heads of his departments:
> Absent themselves on the ground that such matters as they could testify to are privileged communications and not the subject of inquiry before a grand jury; that John F. Hantranft, Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and James W. Latta, Adjutant General, are in constant correspondence with the army in the field in disorderly and riotous regions of the State and in daily expectation of being required at the front."

And also that:

> "He is of the opinion that the interest of the State will be best subserved by their absence."

A careful reading of the Attorney General's argument to the Appellate Court shows that it was these same reasons that were advanced by the Attorney General for the Executive's non-compliance with the subpoena of the Court, wherein he said:

> "The President of the United States and the Governors of the several States are not bound to produce powers or disclose information communicated to them when in their own judgment the disclosure would be on public consideration inexpedient."

The Hartranft case was clearly decided upon this exemption given to the executive. Governor Hartranft was not compelled to testify before the grand jury to matters which he received as Governor and the disclosure of which would be detrimental to the people. Justice Gordon said in his opinion:

> "It will be observed that these persons are subpoenaed for the purpose of compelling a revelation of such things as have come to their knowledge in their official capacity and which strictly belongs to their several departments as officers of the Commonwealth. This is clearly set out in the answer of the Attorney General to the application for the attachment and there has been no denial thereof upon the argument before us."

Showing clearly that the exemption to the executive from disclosing confidential communications as Justice Gordon sets forth in this language:

> "In like manner he is constituted the judge of what things knowledge or information coming into his department through himself personally or from his subordinates may or may not be revealed, then such subordinates without his permission cannot be compelled to disclose in court any such matters or information."

The decision in the Hartranft case can clearly be distinguished and differentiated from the question presented to this Committee to report upon your Honorable Body. The Hartranft case does not hold that anyone, be he the chief executive, head of an executive department, or a subordinate therein, is exempt from appearing in answer to a subpoena lawfully issued except in case where the presence of the executive, the executive head of a department or a subordinate therein, is by stress or extraordinary circumstances compelled to be present at a place other than the one to which he has been subpoenaed to appear in the performance of his official duties.

The privilege of refusing to testify given to the persons subpoenaed in the Hartranft case was solely because it appeared affirmatively of record and was not denied that the information which was sought to be secured from the witnesses was information which "they learned in their military and official capacities and which are privileged communications," and that "In their official discretion an examination into the secrets in conection with the said riots would be detrimental to the public service and injurious to the interests of the Commonwealth."

In refusing to appear before the Committee appointed by this House the witnesses subpoenaed have not excused themselves, nor does the communication of His Excellency the Governor, sent to this House, wherein he advises their nonattendance as witnesses, attempt to excuse them on the ground that at the time they were requested to attend before the Committee in answer to the subpoena they would be by stress of circumstances engaged in the performance of their official duties, nor do the witnesses subpoenaed nor the Governor in his communication aver that the persons subpoenaed are excused from testifying on the grounds that the only testimony which they could offer was that "which they learned in their official capacity and which is in the nature of privileged communications," and that the giving of such testimony "would be detrimental to the public service and injurious to the interests of the Commonwealth."

That neither the Governor nor those holding positions under him nor under the heads of executive departments can determine in advance of an examination whether testimony sought is to be had "would be detrimental to the public service and injurious to the interest of the Commonwealth," needs no argument to demonstrate. In this connection a reference to the case of:

In that case John Eckstein, who was a Clerk of Common Councils of Philadelphia, was subpoenaed to appear as a witness before a sub-committee of Councils, which was then conducting an investigation into the affairs of the office of the City Treasurer. He appeared in answer to the subpoena but refused to be sworn, basing his refusal, on the ground that he had been indicted with the City Treasurer on charge of conspiracy and that the giving of testimony before the Committee might tend to incriminate him. In disposing of this question and enunciating the law on this question of obedience of witnesses to subpoenaes issued by a committee similar to the one appointed and authorized to act by your Honorable Body, the Supreme Court said:

> "The investigation which was in progress before the Councils was a lawful investigation. The subpoena was lawfully issued, and it was his duty to obey it. Upon his refusal to do so, it was lawful for the Court of Common Pleas to compel such obedience. It cannot be tolerated for a moment that a man may be allowed to disobey a lawful subpoena upon his mere opinion that the subpoena had ben improperly issued, or that the particular tribunal before which he is summoned to appear has no lawful jurisdiction to proceed. It was time enough for the appellant to have raised any objection after he had obeyed the subpoena, and had been sworn as a witness. If a question had been asked which tended to criminate him, or which was in violation of any of his rights as a citizen, under the Constitution and the Laws of this Commonwealth, he could have declined to answer the same, and any questions touching his rights as a witness could have been disposed of in a legal and orderly manner."

So in the present matter, if in the course of the investigation conducted in obedience to the resolution of this House, it shall appear that testimony is sought from witnesses which they have derived solely by virtue of their official connection with the department of the executive, and that the giving of such testimony would in the discretion of the executive be detrimental to the public service and injurious to the interests of the Commonwealth, it might well be that the witness would be justified in refusing to give such testimony and that the refusal to testify under such circumstances could not be held to amount to contempt.

But this question has not as yet been raised and is not before this House for decision. The sole and only question before this body at the present time is whether under any circumstances a subpoena may issue effectively to the Governor, the head of an executive department, or a subordinate in the department. If this is so it must appear clear when attention is given to the circumstances under which the witnesses have neglected or refused to appear and when regard is paid to what the Governor has stated as to his reason for advising the non-attendance of the witnesses. In the course of his communication, he states:

> "The same fundamental principle in our organic law which exempts the Governor and his subordinates while engaged in performing the duties pertaining to their respective offices from the subpoena of the judicial department of the State Government likewise exempts the Governor and his subordinates from the compelling power of a subpoena of an investigating committee created by a resolution adopted by but one branch of the General Assembly."

In this the Governor enunciates it as a general proposition that the chief executive and his subordinates are exempt from the effective service of a subpoena in a judicial or legislative investigation.

This Committee is of the opinion, and so reports, that no such exemption from the service or subpoena exists in favor of the Governor and his subordinates in other than the cases of the exemptions heretofore noted, and that the matter of the obedience of the witnesses to the subpoena issued by the Committee and served upon them does not dall within the exemptions so noted.

In United States vs. Burr, 25th Federal Cases, 14692—D

A subpoena ducestecum was issued to the President of the United States, directing him to produce certain papers, and there it was held that where it did not appear affirmatively that the testimony sought would be detrimental and injurious to public interest, the subpoena was effective and would have to be obeyed.

In United States vs. Smith, 27th Federal Cases, 16342, it was held that members of the Cabinet of the President of the United States might be compelled to appear as witnesses in a Federal Court.

In Volume 3, Hong's Precedents, of the House of Representatives of the United States, Page 190, etc., there appears a report of the controversy arising by reason of the refusal of the Attorney-General to transmit certain papers called for by the Senate and in the report of the Honorable George F. Edmunds, of Vermont, from the Committee on the Judiciary, it appears that it is clearly the duty of the head of an executive department to produce such information as is requested in the course of a legislative inquiry, and it further there appears that the Senate of the United States adopted a resolution wherein there was a condemnation of the action of the Attorney-General as "in violation of his official duty and subversive of the fundamental principles of the government and of a good administration thereof," because he had failed to produce the papers called for.

For the reasons heretofore given on the precedents herein set forth this Committee reports to your Honorable Body that the Committee of the House of Representatives, consisting of the Honorable F. E. Geiser, Chairman, Honorable Charles J. Doney, Jr., Secretary, Honorable J. H. De Frees, Honorable Charles A. Schaffer, and Honorable William D. Walton, appointed and empowered by the resolution adopted February 19th, 1913, by this House, had authority to legally issue subpoenas for the attendance before them as the Committee appointed by this House of Representatives to conduct the investigation authorized by the said resolution of February 19th, 1913, and report thereon their findings, of the following persons, Walter Gaither, George Thorn, George Kendelhart, John F. Whitmore, H. D. Jones, Cassius A. Dunn, Samuel P. Todd, Harry McDevitt, M. B. Eisenhart, James H. Robbin, and E. T. Oswald.

That the said Committee, consisting of the members heretofore named, appointed by virtue of a resolution of February 19th, 1913, did so issue his legal subpoena for the attendance of the above-named persons as witnessses to appear before the said Committee on the 12th day of March, 1913, at Room 508, State Capitol Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, at 5:00 o'clock P. M.

That on the said 12th day of March, 1913, at five o'clock P. M. the said Committee convened in Room 508 State Capitol, Pennsylvania, for the purpose of examining the said witnesses so subpoenaed to appear and hearing what they might testify to in the premises.

That on the said 12th day of March, 1913, at five o'clock P. M. in Room 508, State Capitol, Pennsylvania, none of the persons, to-wit: Walter Gaither, George Thorn, George Kendlehart, John F. Whitmore, H. D. Jones, Cassius A. Dunn, Samuel P. Todd, Harry McDevitt, M. B. Eisenhart, James N. Robbin and E. T. Oswald, so subpoenaed to appear at the time and place appeared in obedience to the subpoena so served upon them and no sufficient reason has been given to the said Committee for the failure or neglect or the said witnesses to appear in obedience to the said subpoena so served upon them.

That by virtue of the failure or neglect of the said Walter Gaither, George Thorn, George Kendlehart, John F. Whitmore, H. D. Jones, Cassius A. Dunn, Samuel P. Todd, Harry McDevitt, M. B. Eisenhart, James N. Robbin, and E. T. Oswald to so answer and obey the said subpoena served upon them and appear before the Committee apppointed by virtue of the resolution of February 19th, 1913, they and each of them have acted in contempt and defiance of the lawful order and subpoena of the Committee of the House of Representatives and are by virtue thereof in contempt of the House of Representatives of the State of Pennsylvania.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

F. E. GEISER,
Chairman.

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I move the adoption of the report.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The SPEAKER. The Clerks will take notice. The correction will be made accordingly.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. C. A. SHAFFER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question.

Mr. C. A. SHAFFER. I desire to ask unanimous consent to file my reason for my vote yesterday on Bill No. 118.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman asks leave to file his reasons for his vote on House Bill No. 118, voted upon yesterday. The reasons will appear in the Journal.

REASONS FOR VOTE.

Mr. C. A. SHAFFER. Mr. Speaker, my reason for voting "No" on House Bill No. 118, March 18, 1913, is as follows:

I inadvertently was not present when House Bill No. 118 was up for discussion and I came in the Hall of the House, just prior to voting and heard it stated on the floor of the House, that it was a bad bill and contained many defects. I having previously supported the motions in this session to put the question of electing United States Senators before the people, and my attitude on State-wide uniform primaries is well known to be in favor of same.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. MARTIN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question.

Mr. MARTIN, Mr. Speaker, Bill No. 1304, entitled:

An Act to amend an act approved the twenty-fourth day of February one thousand eight hundred thirty-four entitled "An Act relating to executors and administrators" was not introduced by me as stated on the pink calendar, and I ask that the correction be made, as I am not the sponsor of the bill.

The SPEAKER. The Clerks will confer with the committee in charge of the bill and see to the correction.

Whereupon,

The SPEAKER in the presence of the House signed the same.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE.

Mr. G. A. BALDWIN asked and obtained leave of absence for himself for the balance of the week.

Mr. A. C. SHAFFER asked and obtained leave of absence for himself for the balance of the week.

Mr. MELLOTT asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. Snavely on account of illness.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. JACKSON. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. JACKSON. Mr. Speaker, Bill No. 490, entitled:

An Act to authorize county commissioners to appropriate and use certain limited amounts of money out of the funds of their counties respectively for the improvement of agricultural conditions by means of general instruction and public demonstration of improved methods of farming which was returned with a negative recommendation was a mistake. I respectfully ask that it be returned to the Committee.

The SPEAKER. The bill will be returned to the committee as requested.

BILL PLACED ON CALENDAR.

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker, I offer the following motion.

The SPEAKER. The motion will be read by the Clerk.

The motion was read by the Clerk as follows:

Moved by James E. Steedle, seconded by W. S. Bigger that House Bill 1101, entitled:

An Act providing for including in the taxable value of lands upon which are maintained billboards signs or other advertising devices the increased value of such lands resulting from the use of such premises for advertising be placed upon the Calendar notwithstanding the negative recommendation of the Committee on Judiciary Special.

The SPEAKER. As the gentleman desires to have the bill placed on the Calendar he will have to have the unanimous consent of the House.

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker, and Gentlemen, my object in offering this motion is that this House voted on a resolution that where a bill was to be negatived the sponsor of the bill was to be notified. On this question I was never notified, and this bill was handed me by the Civic Commission of the City of Pittsburgh. The purpose of this motion is to have this bill placed on the Calendar and then to have it recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary Special.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to have this bill placed on the calendar? The Chair hears no objections and consent isgranted and the bill will be placed on the Calendar.

BILL RECOMMITTED.

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary Special.

Mr. BIGGER. I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

SENATE MESSAGE.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented extracts from the Journal of the Senate which were laid upon the table.

RESOLUTION.

Mr. REX offered the following resolution, which was twice read and laid over under the rules.

In the House of Representatives, March 19, 1913.

Whereas, It has been the practice and is still the practice for each member of this House to be furnished with a so-called "prize package," containing pocket knives, combs, hair brushes, clothes brushes, hat brushes, fountain pens, pocket books, card cases, silver match boxes, scissors and other articles of like nature; and

Whereas, The said "prize packages" cause an unwarranted waste of the people's money at every session of the Legislature, amounting to thousands of dollars; therefore, be it

Resolved, That this purile practice and great unwarranted waste of the people's money shall be stopped, as a form of so-called "graft," that the majority of the Members of this House are pledged to abate.

TIME OF NEXT MEETING.

Mr. EHRHARDT offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to.

"Resolved, That when the House adjourns this day it be to meet at eight o'clock this evening."

TO RESTRICT INTRODUCTION OF RESOLUTIONS.

Mr. KITTS offered the following resolution which was twice read and laid over under the rules:

Whereas, Many resolutions of little import have taken a great deal of time of this Assembly; and

Whereas, The House of Representatives seems to have been exposed to an epidemic for the introduction of Resolutions, and the exploiting of investigations; and

Whereas, It will become necessary in the near future for this Assembly to get down to business and pass a few laws; therefore,

Be It Resolved, That Monday, March 24th, be and is hereby designated as the last day for the introduction of fool resolutions, and for the introduction of such other resolutions calling for investigations into the several offices and departments, of this Commonwealth.

ADJOURNMENT.

Mr. JOSEPH GRAY. Mr. Speaker I move that the House do now adjourn.

The motion was agreed to and (at 1:15 o'clock P. M.) the House adjourned to meet at 8:00 o'clock P. M.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

WEDNESDAY, March 19th, 1913.

(EVENING SESSION).

The House met at eight o'clock P. M.

The SPEAKER (George E. Alter) in the Chair.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Mr. SHERN asked and received the unanimous consent of the House to call up House Bill No. 399 File Folio 2571, on page 31 of to-day's Calendar, Bills on Third Reading Postponed for the Present, for the purpose of amendment.

Agreeably to order.

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 399, as follows:

An act defining the liability of an employer to pay damages for injuries received by an employee in the course of employment establishing an elective schedule of compensation and regulating procedure for the determination of liability and compensation thereunder

ARTICLE I

Damages by Action at Law

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That in any action brought to recover damages for personal injury to an employee in the course of his employment or for death resulting from such injury it shall not be a defense

(a) That the injury was caused in whole or in part by the negligence of a fellow employee or

(b) That the employee had assumed the risk of the injury or

(c) That the injury was caused in any degree by the negligence of such employee unless it be established that the injury was caused by such employee's intoxication or by his reckless indifference to danger The burden of proving such intoxication or reckless indifference to danger shall be upon the defendant and the question shall be one of fact to be determined by the jury

Section 2 The employer shall be liable for the negligence of all employees while acting within the scope of their employment including engineers chauffeurs miners mine-foremen fire-bosses mine superintendents plumbers officers of vessels and all other employees licensed by the State or other governmental authority if the employer be allowed by law the right of free selection of such employees from the class of persons thus licensed

Section 3 An employer who permits the entry upon premises occupied by him or under his control of a laborer or of an assistant hired by an employee or contractor for the performance upon such premises of a part of the employer's regular business entrusted to such employee or contractor shall be liable to such laborer or assistant in the same manner and to the same extent as to his own employee

Section 4 No agreement composition or release of damages made before the happening of any accident except the agreement defined in Article two of this act shall be valid or shall bar a claim for damages for the injury resulting therefrom and any such agreement other than that defined in Article two herein is declared to be against the public policy of this Commonwealth The receipt of benefits from any association society or fund to which the employee shall have been a contributor shall not bar the recovery of damages by action at law nor the recovery of compensation under article two hereof and any release executed in consideration of such benefits shall be void

ARTICLE II

Election Compensation

Section 1 When employer and employee shall by agreement either expres or implied as hereinafter provided accept the provisions of Article two of this act compensation for personal injury to or for the death of such employee by an accident in the course of his employment shall be made in all cases by the employer without regard to negligence according to the schedule contained in sections five and six of this Article provided that no compensation shall be made when the injury or death be intentionally self-inflicted but the burden of proof of such fact shall be upon the employer

The terms "injury" and "personal injury" as used in this Article shall be construed to mean only violence to the physical structure of the body and such disease or infection as naturally results therefrom and wherever death is mentioned as a cause for compensation under this article it shall mean only death resulting from such violence and its resultant effects and occurring within three hundred weeks after the accident The term "injury" by an accident in the course of his employment" as used in this article not include an injury caused by an act of a third person intended to injure the employee because of reasons personal to him and not directed against him as an employee or because of his employment but shall include all other injuries sustained while the employee is actually engaged in the furtherance of the business or affairs of the employer whether upon the employer's premises or elsewhere and shall include all injuries caused by the condition of the premises or by the operation of the employer's business or affairs thereon sustained by the employee who though not so engaged is injured upon the premises occupied by or under the control of the employer or upon which the employer's business or affairs are being carried on the employee's presence thereon being required by the nature of his employment

Section 2 Such agreement shall be an acceptance of all the provisions of article two of this act and shall operate as a surrender by the parties thereto of their rights to any form or amount of compensation or damages for any injury or death occurring in the course of the employment or to any method of determination thereof other than as provided in article two of this act Such agreement shall bind the employer and his personal representatives and the employee his or her wife or husband widow or widower next of kin and other dependents

Section 3 (a) In every contract of hiring made after June thirty one thousand nine hundred and thirteen and in every contract of hiring renewed or extended by mutual assent expressed or implied after said date it shall be conclusively presumed that the parties have accepted the provisions of article two of this act and have agreed to be bound thereby unless there be at the time of the making renewal or extension of such contract an express statement in writing from either party to the other that the provisions of article two of this act are not intended to apply and unless a true copy of such written statement accompanied by proof of service theerof upon the other party setting forth under oath or affirmation the time place and manner of such service be filed within ten days after service in the Bureau of Industrial Statistics of this Commonwealth Every contract of hiring oral written or implied from circumstances now in operation or made or implied on or before June thirty one thousand nine hundred and thirteen shall be conclusively presumed to continue subject to the provisions of article two hereof unless either party shall on or before June thirty one thousand nine hundred and thirteen in writing have notified the other party to such contract that the provisions of article two hereof are not intended to apply and unless there shall be filed in the Bureau of Industrial Statistics a true copy of such notice together with proof of service within the time and in the manner hereinabove prescribed provided however that the provisions of this section shall not be so construed as to impair the obligation of any contract now in force In the employment of minors article two shall be presumed to apply unless the said written notice be given by or to the parent or guardian of the minor It shall not be lawful for any officer or agent of this Commonwealth or for any county city borough or township therein or for any officer or agent thereof or for any other governmental authority created by the laws of this Commonwealth to give such notice of rejection of the provisions of this article to any employee of the State or of such governmental agency

(b) After June thirty one thousand nine hundred and thirteen an employer who permits the entry upon premises occupied by him or under his control of a laborer or an assistant hired by an employee or contractor for the performance upon such premises of a part of the employer's regular business entrusted to that employee or contractor shall be conclusively presumed to have agreed to pay to such laborer or assistant compensation in accordance with the provisions of article two unless the employer shall post in a conspicuous place upon the premises where the laborer's or assistant's work is done a notice of his intention not to pay such compensation and unless there be filed with the Bureau of Industrial Statistics within ten days thereafter a true copy of such notice together with proof of the posting of the same setting forth upon oath or affirmation the time place and manner of such posting and after June thirty one thousand nine hundred and thirteen any such

laborer or assistant who shall enter upon premises occupied by or under the control of such employer for the purpose of doing such work shall be conclusively presumed to have agreed to accept the compensation provided in article two in lieu of his right of action at common law or under article one unles he shall have given notice in writing to the employer at the time of entering upon such employer's premises for the purpose of doing his work of his intention not to accept such compensation and unless within ten days thereafter there shall have been filed with the Bureau of Industrial Statistics a true copy of such notice accompanied by proof of service thereof upon such employer setting forth under oath on affirmation the time place and manner of such service And in such cases where article two binds such employer and such laborer or assistant it shall not be in effect between the intermediate employer or contractor and such laborer or assistant unless otherwise expressly agreed

Section 4. The contract for the operation of the provisions of article two of this act may be terminated prior to any accident by either party upon sixty days' notice to the other in writing if a copy of such notice with proof of service be filed in the Bureau of Industrial Statistics as provided in section three of this article

Section 5 The following schedule of compensation is hereby established for injuries resulting in disability

(a) For the first three hundred weeks after the fourteenth day of total disability fifty per centum of the wages received at the time of injury but the compensation shall not be more than ten dollars per week nor less than five dollars per week provided that if at the time of injury the employee receves wages of less than five dollars per week then he shall receive the full amount of such wages per week as compensation And after the first three hundred weeks of total disability for the remainder of the life of the employee forty per centum of the wages received at the time of the injury but the compensation shall not be more than eight dollars per week nor less than four dollars per week Provided that if at the time of the injury the employee received wages of less than four dollars per week then he shall receive the full amount of such wages as compensation Nothing in this clause shall require the payment of compensation after disability shall cease should partial disability be followed by total disability the period of three hundred weeks mentioned in this clause during which compensation was paid for such partial disability

(b) For disability partial in character (except the) particular cases mentioned in clause (c) fifty per centum of the difference between the wages received at the time of injury and the earning power of the employee thereafter but such compensation shall not be more than ten dollars per week This compensation shall be paid during the period such paritial disability not however beyond three hundred weeks after the fourteenth day of such disability Should total disability be followed by partial disability the period of three hundred weeks mentioned in this clause shall be reduced by the number of weeks during which compensation was paid for such total disability

9 If there be neither widow widower children nor dependent parent then to the brothers and sisters if actually dependent to any extent upon the decedent for support at the time of his death fifteen per centum of wages for one brother or sister and five per centum additional for each additional brother or sister with a maximum of twenty-five per centum such compensation to be paid to their guardian

10 Whether or not there be dependents as aforesaid the reasonable expenses of last sickness and burial not exceeding one hundred dollars (without deduction of any amounts theretofore paid for compensation or for medical expenses) payable to the dependents or if there be no dependents then to the personal representatives of the deceased

Compensation shall be payable under this section to or on account of any child brother or sister only if and while such child brother or sister is under the age of sixteen No compensation shall be payable under this section to a widow unless she was living with her deceased husband at the time of his death or was then actually dependent upon him for support No compensation shall be payable under this section to a widower unless he be incapable of self-support at the time of his wife's death and be at such time dependent upon her for support The terms "child" and "children" shall include step-children and adopted children if members of decedent's household at the time of his death and shall include posthumous children Should any dependent of a deceased employe die or should the widow or widower remarry or should the widower become capable of self-support the right of such dependent or such widow or widower to compensation under this section shall cease If the compensation payable under this section to any person shall for any cause cease the compensation to the remaining persons entitled thereunder shall thereafter be the same as would have been payable to them had they been the only persons entitled to compensation at the time of the death of the deceased

The wages upon which death compensation shall be based shall not in any case be taken to exceed twenty dollars per week nor be less than ten dollars per week This compensation shall be paid during three hundred weeks and in the case of chidren entitled to compensation under clause 1 of this section the compensation of each child shall (if the other parent be dead or have abandoned such child) continue until such child reach the age of sixteen at the rate of fifteen per centum of wages if there be but one child with ten per centum additional for each additional child with a maximum of fifty per centum

Section 7 Except as hereinafter provided all compensation payable under this article shall be payable in periodical installments as the wages of the employee were payable before the accident

Whenever in this article the term "wages" is used it shall be construed to mean the money rate at which the service rendered is recompensed under the contract of hiring in force at the time of the accident and shall not include gratuities received from the employer or others nor shall it include board lodging or similar advantages received from the employer unless the money value of such advantages shall have been fixed by the parties at the time of hiring In occupations involving seasonal employment or employments dependent upon the weather the employee's weekly wages shall be taken to be one-fiftieth of the total wages which he has earned from all occupations during the year immediately preceding the accident unless it be shown that during such year by reason of exceptional causes such method of computation does not ascertain fairly the earnings of the employee in which case the period of calculation shall be extended so far as to give a basis for the fair ascertainment of his average weekly earnings In continuous employments if immediately prior to the accident the rate of wages was fixed by day or hour or by the output of the employee his weekly wages shall be taken to be five and one-half times his average earnings at such for a working day of ordinary length excluding earnings from overtime and using as the basis of calculation his earnings during so much of the preceding six months as he worked for the same employer Where the employee is working under concurrent contracts with two or more employers his wages from all employers shall be considered as if earned from the employer liable for compensation

Section 8 Compensation under this article to alien dependent widows children and parents not residents of the United States shall be the same in amount as is provided in each case for residents except that at any time within one year after death of the injured employee the employer may at his option commute all future installments of compensation to be paid to alien dependents not residents of the United States by paying to such alien dependents two-thirds of the total amount of such future installments of compensation Alien widowers brothers and sisters not residents of the United States shall not be entitled to any compensation

Section 9 Unless the employer shall have actual knowledge of the occurrence of the injury or unless the employee or some one on his behalf or some of the dependents of some one on their behalf shall give notice thereof to the employer within fourteen days after the accident no compensation shall be due until such notice be given or knowledge obtained If notice be given or the knowledge obtained after fourteen days but within thirty days after the accident the delay shall not bar compensation unless the employer shall show that he was prejudiced thereby and then only to the extent of such prejudice If the notice be given or the knowledge obtained after thirty days but within ninety days after the accident and if the employee or other beneficiary shall show that his delay in giving notice was due to his mistake or ignorance of fact or of law or to his physical or mental inability or to fraud misrepresentation or deceit or to any other reasonable cause or excuse then compensation shall be allowed except to the extent that the employer shall show that he was prejudiced by such delay Unless knowledge be obtained or notice given within ninety days after the accident no compensation shall be allowed

Section 10 The notice referred to in section nine hereof shall be substantially in the following form

To (name of employer)

You are hereby notified that an injury of the following character ( ) was received by (name of employee injured) who was in your employment at (place) while engaged as (kind of employment) on or about ( ) the ( ) day of ( ) Anno Domini ( ) and that compensation will be claimed therefor

Date Signed ( )

but no variation from this form shall be material if the notice be sufficient to inform the employer that a certain employees name received an injury the charactr of which is described in ordinary language in the course of his employment on or about a time specified and at or near a place specified

Section 11 The notices referred to in section three and section nine hereof may be served personally upon the employer or upon the manager or superintendent in charge of the works or business in which the accident occurred or by sending them through the registered mail to the employer at his or its last known residence or place of business or if the employer be a corporation either foreign or domestic then upon the president vice-president secretary or treasurer thereof Knowledge of the occurrence of the injury on the part of any of said agents shall be the knowledge of the employer

Section 12 After an injury the employee if so requested by him employer must submit himself for examination at some reasonable time and place and as often as may be reasonably requested to a physician or physicians legally authorized to practice under the laws of such place who shall be selected and paid by the employer If the employee requests he shall be entitled to have a physician or physicians of his own selection to be paid by him present to participate in such examination For all examinations after the first the employer shall pay the reasonable traveling expenses and loss of wages incurred by the employee in order to submit to such examination The refusal of the employee to submit to such examination shall deprive him of the right to compensation under this article during the continuance of such refusal and the period of such refusal shall be deducted from th period during which compensation would otherwise be payable

Section 13 In case of failure to agree upon a claim for compesation under this article between the employer and employee or the dependents of the employee either party may submit the claim as to questions of fact nature and effect of the injuries and the amount of compensation due therefor according to this article to the Court of Common Pleas of the county in which the accident occurred or of the county in which the adverse party resides or has a permanent place of business or by agreement of the parties to the Court of Common Pleas of any other county which courts shall hear and determine such disputes in a summary manner and their decisions as to all questions of fact shall be conclusive

Section 14 In case of personal injury all claims for compensation shall be forever barred unless within one year after the accident the parties shall have agreed upon the compensation payable under this article or unless within one year after the acident one of the parties shall have filed a petition as provided in section fifteen hereof In cases of death all claims for compensation shall be forever barred unless within one year after the death the parties shall have agreed upon the compensation under this article or unless within one year after the death one of the parties shall have filed a peititon as provided in section fifteen hereof Where however payments of compensation have been made in any case said limitation shall not take effect until the expiration of one year from the time of the making of the last payment

Section 15 Procedure in case of dispute shall be as follows

Either party may present a petition to said court or any judge thereof setting forth the names and residences of the parties and the facts relating to employment at the time of the accident the extent and character of the injury the amount of wages received at the time of the acident the knowledge of the employer or notice of the occurrence of the injury and such other facts as may be necessary and proper for the information of the said court shall state the matter or matters in dispute and the contention of the petitioner with reference thereto This petition shall be verified by the oath or affirmation of the ptitioner

Upon the presentation of such petition the same shall be filed with the prothonotary of the Court of Common Pleas and the court shall fix a time and place for the hearing thereof not less than three weeks after th date of the efiling of said petition A copy of said petition and order shall be served upon the adverse party as a summons in a civil action may be served Within seven days after the service of such notice (unless the time be extended by the court for cause shown) the adverse party shall file an answer to said petition which shall admit or deny the substantial averments thereof and shall state the contention of the answering party with reference to the matters in dispute The answer shall be verified in like manner as the petition If no answer be filed as aforesaid evidence shall be offered at the hearing by the petitioner only The court shall in every case have authority to allow amendments of the petition or answer and to suspend the proceedings during the refusal of the employee to submit to the examination required by section twelve hereof

At the time fixed for hearing or any adjournment thereof the said court or any judge thereof shall hear the witnesses and in a summary manner decide the merits of the controversy This decision called an award shall be in writing and filed with the prothonotary of the Court of Common Pleas and shall contain a brief statement of the facts as determined by said court Costs may be awarded by said court in its discretion and when so awarded the same costs shall be allowed taxed and collected as are allowed taxed and collected for like services in the same court After petition filed the Court of Common Pleas may in its discretion upon motion of either party or of its own motion appoint one or more impartial physicians or surgeons to examine the injuries of the claimant and to report thereon to the court Said court shall have power to fix the compensation of such physicians or surgeons and to tax the same as a part of the costs of the proceedings The report of any physicians or surgeons appointed by the court as aforesaid shall be filed with the prothonotary and shall be a part of the record and shall be open to inspection by both parties Such report shall not be conclusive of the facts therein stated but shall be advisory only Appeals may be taken from the award of the Court of Common Pleas to the Supreme or Superior Courts in such manner and upon such terms as the Supreme Court shall by rule prescribe but no appeal shall operate as a supersedeas unles allowed by trial or appelate court except where the compensation shall have been commuted as provided in section sixteen of this article Cases arising under this article shall have precedence both in the Courts of Common Pleas and in the appellate courts over all other civil cases

Section 16 The compensation contemplated by this article may be computed by said Court of Common Pleas at its present vaue when discounted at six per centum interest with annual rests disregarding the probability of the beneficiary's death (except in commuting payments due under clause (a) section five of this article) upon application of either party with due notice to the other if it appear that such commutation will be for the best interest of the employee or the dependents of the deceased employee or that it will avoid undue expense or undue hardship to either party or that such employee or dependent has removed or is about to remove from the United States or that the employer has sold or otherwise disposed of the whole or the greater part of his business or assets Except as provided in section eight hereof and in this section no commutation of compensation shall be made

An agreement or award of compensation may be modified at any tim by a subsequent agreement or may be reviewed by said court upon the application of either party on the ground that the incapacity of the injured employee has subsequently increased or diminished or that the status of the dependent has changed In such case the provisions of section twelve and fiftee of this article with reference to medical examination shall apply

At any time after the entry of the award a sum equal to all future installments of compensation may (where death or the nature of the injury renders the cmount of future payyments certain) by leave of court be paid by the employer to any savings bank trust company or life insurance company in good standing and authorized to do business in this State and having an office in the county in which the award was entered and such sum together with all interest thereon shall thereafter be held in trust for the employee or the dependents of the employee who shall have no further recourse against the employer The payments of such sum by the employer evidenced by the receipt of the trustee noted upon the prothonotary's docket shall operate as a satisfaction of said award as to the employer Payments from said fund shall be made by the trustee in the same amounts and at the same periods as are herein required of the employer until said fund and interest shall be exhausted in the appointment of the trustee preference shall be given in the discretion of the court to the choice of the employee or the dependents of the deceased employee

Section 17 The right of compensation granted by this article of this act shall have the same preference (without limit of amount) against the assets of the employer as is now or may hereafter be allowed by law for a claim for unpaid wages for labor Claims or payments due under this article of this act shall not be assignable and (except as provided in section two of article III hereof) shall be exempt from all claims of creditors and from levy execution or attachment which exemption may not be waived

Section 18 Where the employer and the employee or the dependents of the employee shall after any accident agree upon the compensation payable hereunder for such accident a memorandum of such argreement signed by the parties may be filed with the prothonotary of said Court of Common Pleas The costs of the prothontary for such service shall be allowed taxed and collected as heretofore upon a confession of judgment When thus filed such agreement shall have the same effect as if it were an award of the court as provided in section fifteen hereof but shall be subject to review by the court for fraud mistake or other cause shown provided however that nothing in this Section shall be construed to permit a commutation of payments except as provided in sections eight and sixteen hereof and provided further that no agreement relating to compensation shall be valid if made within fourteen days of the accident nor shall any such agreement be valid of it vary the percentage of wages payable as compensation or the period during which compensation is to be paid as stated in sections five and six hereof

Section 19 If default shall be made by the employer for thirty days after demand in the payment of any amount due under any of the provisions of this article then upon petition of any person interested and after ten days notice thereof to the employer served in the same manner in which a summons may be served the court or any judge thereof shall if the default still exists enter judgment thereon for the amount or amounts due together with interest thereon and costs Upon such judgment no stay of execution shall be allowed except in the discretion of the court

Section 20 It shall be the duty of the prothonotary of each Court of Common Pleas to make report monthly to the Bureau of Industrial Statistics of all proceedings begun in such court under this article of this act classifying such report in such manner as to show whether the proceedings are brought for the settlement of a dispute as to liability for compensation for a modification thereof for a commutation of payments for a judgment in default of payment or for fixing of counsel fees and such report shall state the number and term of each proceeding but neither names nor further detail need be given unless required by the Bureau of Industrial Statistics

Section 21 Where a third person is liable to the employee or the dependents for the injury or death the employer shall be subrogated to the right of the employee or the dependents against such third person but only to the extent of the compensation payable under this article by the employer Any recovery against such third person in excess of the compensation theretofore paid by the employer shall be paid forthwith to the employee or to the dependents and shall be treated as an advance payment by the employer on account of any future installments of compensation

ARTICLE III

Section 5 All acts and parts of acts inconsistent with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed

Section 6 This act shall not apply in the case of an accident occuring prior to the first day of July next succeeding its passage and approval and it shall be known as the "Workmen's Compensation Law of one thousand nine hundred and thirteen"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. SHERN. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent of the House to insert an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk then read the amendment as follows:

Amend Article 2, section 17 by adding after the section "provided that no claim for compensation shall have priority over any mortgage or conveyance of land recorded prior to the filing of the petition or agreement as to compensation in the office of the Prothonotary of the county in which said land is situated."

Mr. SHERN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to say a few words to the House concerning this amendment. In Section 17, Article 2, the section reads at present as follows:

Section 17 The right of compensation granted by this article of this act shall have the same preference (without limit of amount) against the assets of the employer as is now or may hereafter be allowed by law for a claim for unpaid wages for labor Claims or payments due under this article of this act shall not be assignable and (except as provided in section two of article three hereof) shall be exempt from all claims of creditors and from levy execution or attachment which exemption may not be waived

If this amendment were not inserted, the result would be that every lien on a first mortgage would be impaired that was presented prior to the petition for compensation, and immediately the banks and trust companies throughout the State got busy with their members and a number of the members came to me and asked me what I proposed to do about this matter. I took it up with members of the committee and they in conjunction with the representatives of the Federation of Labor have agreed to this amendment. This is the only amendment that I know of that will be inserted.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendments? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none, and the amendment will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

HOUSE BILLS NOS. 399, 401, 402, 403 AND 404 MADE A SPECIAL ORDER.

Mr. SHERN. Mr. Speaker, I ask the unanimous consent of the House that House Bills Nos. 399, 401, 402, 403 and 404, the Compensation Bill, and also the accompanying bills, be made a special order of business for eleven o'clock next Tuesday morning.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent that House Bills Nos. 399, 401, 402, 403 and 404 be made the special order of business on next Tuesday morning at eleven o'clock? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none, and it is so directed.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. BIGGER. I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege?

Mr. BIGGER. I am not recorded as having voted on House Bill No. 31, on page 852 of the Journal. I was present and did vote on the proposition and voted "aye," and desired to be so recorded.

The SPEAKER. The notation will be made upon the Journal.

RESOLUTION.

Mr. JAMES A. DUNN asked and received unanimous consent of the House to offer the following resolution, which was read and laid over for printing under the rules.

In the House of Representatives, March , 1913.

A Concurrent Resolution providing for the appointment of a Joint Committee of the House of Representatives and the Senate to investigate the workings of the civil service laws in the cities of the first class

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the Speaker of the House of Representatives shall appoint four members and the President pro tempore of the Senate shall appoint three senators who shall constitute a joint committee whose duty it shall be to investigate the workings of the civil service law or laws in the cities of the first class.

Said committee shall have power to elect its own chairman; to employ legal counsel and such other officers and employes as may be needed to enable it to properly perform its duties as aforesaid; but its expenditures shall be limited to the amount of one thousand dollars, which shall be appropriated in the general appropriaiton bill.

Said committee shall also have power to issue subpoenas signed by its chairman requiring the attendance of persons and the production of books and papers as in its judgment will assist in the performance of its duties as aforesaid, and shall report to this General Assembly not later than April twentieth one thousand nine hundred and thirteen, with recommendations as to the necessity of improving, extending, or repealing of the said civil service law or laws in the cities of the first class.

RESOLUTION.

Mr. WILTBANK asked and received the unanimous consent of the House to offer the following resolution, which was read and laid over for printing under the rules:

Whereas, Charges have been published affecting the integrity of Williard R. Black while a clerk in the Game Commissioner's Office, and who is now employed as Assistant Clerk of the House of Representatives, therefore

Be it Resolved, That the House of Representatives appoint a Committee to investigate the said charges, and report their findings to the House when it meets on Monday, March 25, for such action as it may see fit to recommend.

REPORT OF THE JUDICIARY GENERAL COMMITTEE RELATIVE TO IMPEACHMENT PROCEEDINGS AGAINST HON. WILBUR F. SADLER.

Mr. ROCKWELL asked and received the unanimous consent of the House to report to the House from the Judiciary General Committee the findings of the committee in the matter of the impeachment proceedings brought by George W. Miller against the Hon. Wilbur F. Sadler, President Judge of the Ninth Judicial District.

The SPEAKER. The findings of the committee will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk then read the findings of the committee as follows:

The Judiciary General Committee having carefully examined the charges and allegations of George W. Miller against Hon. Wilbur F. Sadler, Judge of the Ninth Judicial District, as to his alleged unjudicial conduct, reports that the Committee finds that the charges and allegations are not sufficient to warrant the House of Representatives to take further action thereon, or that a Committee should be appointed to investigate the charges therein contained.

The SPEAKER. The report of the committee will be filed and the findings of the committee printed in the Journal.

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That any building or part of a building used for purpose of fornication lewdness assignation or prostitution shall be a nuisance

Section 2 Any person knowing or having reason to believe that any building or part of a building is so used may in writing notify the owner and agent of the owner that such building or part of a building is so used A copy of said notice shall be served on the person using said building or part thereof as aforesaid Such notification may be served personally or by registered mail Any such agent shall be guilty of a misdemeanor who shall receive such notification and who shall not within twenty-four hours either deliver the same to the owner personally or mail the same to the owner by registered mail Testimony showing that such notice was served on the owner or agent as aforesaid shall in any proceeding under this act be prima facie evidence that such owner or agent has knowledge of the nuisance If such nuisance be not abated within one week after service of such notice as aforesaid the court of common pleas of the county on the petition of the district attorney or of any citizen of the county shall grant a preliminary injunction directed to the owner of such building and to the person so using the same restraining such owner and such person from using or permitting such building to be used as aforesaid Such petition shall recite the said nuisance and the service of notice on the owner and such person as aforesaid and the failure of the owner and such person to abate the nuisance and shall be vertified by adavit of the petitioner or of one of the petitioners

Section 3 Service of such injunction shall be made personally upon the owner and on such person if they can be found in the county If they cannot be so found a copy thereof shall be delivered to any adult residing in said building and upon the agent if any of the owner If no such adult be found and service be had upon such agent if any then a copy shall be posted upon any outer door of such building and a copy shall be published in one or more newspapers of general circulation in the county as the court may direct If any person other than such owner shall be served with any such notice of injunction and shall not within twety-four hours thereafter deliver the same to said ower or mail it to said owner by registered mail such person shall be guilty of a misdemeanor

Section 4 The hearing on such injunction shall not be more than four days after the service of the notice or after the last day of publication of such notice as aforesaid If after consideration the court shall find that the building or part thereof was used as aforesaid the injunction shall be made a perpetual injunction restraining the owner his heirs and assigns or successors forever from using such building or any part thereof as aforesaid or permitting the same to be done and restraining said person from using said building or any part thereof in the manner aforesaid A copy of the petition injunction and decree shall be recorded in the office of the recorder of deeds of the county in the same manner as a mortgage would be recorded if given by said owner Such record shall thereafter forever be public notice to all owners of said property of the continuance of such injunction If any owner shall violate such owners shall in addition to attachment for contempt be guilty of a misdemeanor and be punishable as hereinafter provided

Section 5 If the preliminary injunction be dissolved the costs shall be imposed as directed by the court If the injunction be not dissolved the owner shall pay all costs which shall include an attorney's fee for petitioner of seventy-five dollars

The sixth section was read as follows:

Section 6 Any owner of such building or any agent of such owner who after such injunction be made permanent shall use such building or any part thereof as aforesaid or knowing permit the same to be used shall be guilty of a misdemeanor

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SWIFT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Section 6, line 8, by inserting after the word "be" the word "so."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

The section as amended was then agreed to.

The seventh, eighth and ninth sections were read and agreed to, as follows:

Section 7 Any person using said building or part thereof as aforesaid and enjoined with such owner as aforesaid who shall use said building or part thereof or any other building or part thereof in violation of such injunction shall be guilty of a misdemeanor

Section 8 Any person who shall violate any of the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than five hundred nor more than one thousand dollars and to undergo an imprisonment in the jail of the county for a period of not less than six months nor more than two years without suspension of sentence

Section 9 This act is not intended to repeal any of the provisions of an act approved the thirty-first day of March one thousand eight hundred and sixty entitled "An Act to consolidate revise and amend the penal laws of this Commonwealth" or any amendments thereof or supplements thereto

The title was read as follows:

An Act to enjoin and abate houses of lewdness assignation and prostitution to declare the same to be nuisances to enjoin the person or persons who conduct or maintain the same and the owner or agent of any building used for such purpose and to assess a tax against the person maintaining said nuisance and against the building and owner thereof

On the question,

Will the House agree to the title?

Mr. SWIFT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend the title by striking out the title and inserting in lieu the following

An Act declaring buildings and parts of buildings used for the purposes of fornication, lewdness, assignation and prostitution to be nuisances, and providing a method of abating same, and establishing a method of procedure against those who so use said buildings or parts for such purposes, and providing penalties for violation of this act.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

The title as amended was then agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time, and agreed to, as amended,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order

The rule requiring bills to be considered in committee of the whole in this case dispensed with,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 157, entitled:

An Act authorizing the Commissioner of Fisheries to sell the real estate upon which the Fish Hatchery at Conneaut Lake Crawford County is located and distribute the money received from such sale

The first section was read as follows:

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the Commissioner of Fisheries is authorized and directed to sell at public or private sale for the best price obtainable all of the real estate to which the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania now has title composing the Fish Hatchery grounds at Conneaut Lake Crawford County in the following manner The said property shall be first exposed to public sale at the Court House in Meadville Crawford County after advertisement once a week for four weeks in at least two newspapers of general circulation in the County of Crawford and in the event that a proper and adequate price for said property cannot be obtained by exposing the same to public sale then the said Commissioner of Fisheries is hereby authorized to sell said property at private sale for a price to be approved by the Fisheries Commission and the Governor of of the Commonwealth

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read as follows:

Amend section 1, by adding after the last word on line 16 the following: "provided, however, that no sale shall be made of said property at either public or private sale, unless the price bid or offered therefor shall be sufficient to fully reimburse all of the contributors referred to in section 2 of this act, and in addition thereto a sum sufficient to fully reimburse the Commonwealth for the cost of all buildings and improvements erected or made thereon."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I object to that amendment as it is framed there. Personally, I have no interest whatever in this bill, but I have been handed a statement from the Commissioner of Fisheries, who asked me to represent this bill and present the matter as well as I could before the members of the House. Now, there is no objection to this amendment, in so far as it reimburses the citizens of Crawford County who made a contribution or contributions for the purchase of this fishery, but we do object to that part of the amendment which would provide that the Commonwealth must be reimbursed for the buildings that were erected by the Commonwealth. The purpose of this bill is to abandon a fish hatchery that the Fish Commissioner, after very thorough investigation has considered to be inadequate, and totally inadequate for the needs of this State. As I understand, this hatchery has not been in use for more than a year, and the Fish Commissioner informs me that even if this bill would not pass, that he still would feel that the fish hatchery in Crawford County would not satisfy the demands of the Department, and that that hatchery could not be used advantageously by the Department. The Fish Commissioner has stated that there are eight hatcheries in the State at the present time. Two of them have been found to be utterly inadequate, one of these at Spruce Creek and the other at Conneaut Lake. The Fish Commissioner has further this to say: "There are already three hatcheries in northwestern Pennsylvania, and two of them, one at Erie and the one at Union City are amply adequate to take care of all the eggs which can be obtained for stocking Lake Erie and other lakes of northwestern Pennsylvania, for a long time to come, and the water supply is such that these batteries can be increased indefinitely. There is, therefore, no reason that a battery should be maintained at Conneaut Lake necessitating the shipment of the eggs down to Conneaut Lake and the reshipment of the fish when hatched at Erie. This would be true even if the water supply at Conneaut Lake was adequate to the demand." Now with respect to the inadequacy of this hatchery the Fish Commissioner has this to say: "The lay of the land at the Crawford hatchery is such that it is almost flat for a distance of several miles, and this, of course, affects the drainage spoken of above and materially effects it when there is any rise in the waters. This was fully shown when the question of putting in a water motor was considered which could be used to raise the height of the water to fill the ponds if the banks were raised higher. Experience shows that owing to the conformation of the grounds the water motors could not run in high water on account of the back water." Now, the gentleman from Crawford has listened to the siren voice of his constituents, who of course desire to have maintained in their county a State institution, but the question before us is not what particularly benefits Crawford County but what benefits the State of Pennsylvania. When the Fish Commissioner has presented a bill which is equitable in its every feature and which provides that the citizens of Crawford County who have contributed to the purchase of this land, that these persons shall be reimbursed, and that is embodied in this bill, it seems to me that it would be the height of unwisdom on the part of this House to fly in the face of the wisdom of the Fish Commissioner.

Now, with the permission of the gentleman from Crawford, I will read a letter that the gentleman has written. Will the gentleman from Crawford permit himself to be interrogated?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Crawford permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

Mr. SPANGLER. Will the gentleman from Crawford permit the letter to be read that he wrote to Mr. Lydell, Esquire, Assistant Superintendent Michigan Fish Commissioners?

Mr. HUMES. I will after seeing the letter, but I cannot consent to the reading of the letter and know nothing about it, or until I have had an opportunity to examine it.

(Mr. HUMES examined the letter.)

Mr. HUMES. I would be very glad to have the gentleman read that letter.

Mr. SPANGLER. "Dwygth Lydell, Esquire, Assistant Superintendent Michigan Fish Commissioners, Comstock Park, Michigan. My dear sir: I am informed that you"—

Mr. HUMES. I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, it strikes me there is nothing before this House but the amendment, and if the gentleman is going to undertake to discuss this whole proposition, I think it is out of order. The matter that he is about to discuss does not pertain to the amendment that is before the House.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I would state, that if this amendment carries it will completely nullify this bill. This amendment provides for an utterly preposterous proposition. It says that the State, or the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, must be compensated in full for all buildings and improvements erected or made at this fish hatchery, and if this is not an absurd proposition, I do not know what is. And as I understand the purpose of this amendment, it will virtually kill this bill at the outset.

The SPEAKER. As the purpose of the amendment is to fix a minimum price anything bearing upon the expediency of the bill is relevant in the opinion of the Chair. The gentleman from York may proceed.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from York permit himself to be interrogated?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from York permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman whether or not he considers it killing a bill, or rather if he considers it impossible to sell a piece of property for the cost of the real estate and the buildings actually erected thereon.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I will state that the only proposition that the citizens of Crawford County are concerned with in respect to this matter is to be compensated in full for the amount of money that the citizens of Crawford County have contributed toward this project. I am perfectly willing that an amendment of that character shall be submitted. There is a proposition in this bill that provides as follows: "The amount realized from such sale however made shall be in cash and the said

Commissioner of Fisheries is hereby authorized to ascertain the names of subscribers to the fund with which the property was originally purchased and the amount of each subscription and if the property shall bring a sum less than the total of such subscription then said amount———shall be distributed pro rata in the proportion which said amount bears to the amount subscribed by each person to the original purchasers and donors of the property their heirs or personal representatives."

Now, I am perfectly satisfied, and I think the Fish Commissioner will be satisfied to have an amendment added to that bill compensating those subscribers in full, but we are not willing to have an amendment tacked on here that will virtually kill this bill and its purposes.

This is the letter written to the Superintendent of Fisheries of the State of Michigan:

February 7, 1913.

Dmygth Lydell, Esq.,
Asst. Supt. Michigan Fish Commissioners,
Comstock Park, Michigan.

My dear Sir:—I am informed that you, at the request of Mr. N. R. Buller, State Fish Commissioner of Pennsylvania, visited the Fish Hatchery at Conneaut Lake, with a view as passing as an expert upon this Hatchery.

If it would not be too much trouble, I would deem it a very great favor if you would advise me as to your opinion of the Hatchery and as to whether or not it is suitable for the purposes for which it is intended.

I would also be pleased to have you tell me as to whether or not the best approved practice is to raise fish until they are from three to five inches long before putting them into the stream or whether it is best to put them in when they are smaller

Thanking you in advance for your courtesy, I am

Very truly yours,
(Signed) E. Lowry Humes.

Now in reply to this letter the Fish Expert wrote to Mr. Humes as follows:

Mr. E. Lowry Humes,
State House, Harrisburg, Pa.

"Yours under the date February 7th received while I was absent from home, therefore this delay in answering.

The hatchtry at Conneaut Lake that I visited last fall by request of your Commissioner Mr. Buller, I consider very undesirable for what it was intended.

To Continue a station like the one at Conneaut Lake will sooner or later reflect discredit on your Commissioner, and also on your Honorable Body, for allowing the State's money to be so expended.

I made a report of my findings to your Commissioner, and no doubt he will be willing to hand you a copy of same for the asking.

Mr. HUMES: Mr. Speaker, I insist that the gentleman read the whole letter, not part of it.

Mr. SPANGLER. (Continuing to read.)

"In regard to the planting of fry or fingerlings in your streams or lakes, will say, it is a broad question, and one that has been up for disscusion before the American Fisheries Society more than any other subject.

"Good results have been obtained from both methods. It depends to a great extent on the condition of the waters to be stocked, and the varities of fish to be introduced. This question I should judge would be best handled, and best results obtained if it were left to the judgment of your able Commissioner, Mr. N. R. Buller.

I am, very truly yours
(Signed,) DWIGHT LYDELL,
Asst. Supt. Mich. Fish Commission.

Now on the inquiry of Mr. Humes as to the adequacy and sufficiency of this hatchery, it was the opinion of the very man that he placed confidence in, in whose opinion he placed confidence, that this hatchery was totally and absolutely unfit for the kind of fish that this hatchery was intended to propagate. Now the maintenance of the Fish Hatchery at Conneaut Lake is a considerable expense to the State. It requires the upkeep of these buildings. It requires a man to be there to watch the property and if these hatcheries are inadequate and insufficient what is the purpose of continuing them? Are we going to fly in the face of the Fish Commissioner? Are we going to say that you have got to maintain certain fish hatcheries which the Fish Commissioner, the man whom we have entrusted with a great department of our State, are we going to say that he is wrong and that we are right? And yet we have to do that if we adopt Mr. Humes' amendment. Therefore, although I have no personal interest whatever, I believe it would be a matter of the greatest unwisdom and of the greatest folly in the right of the experience and the opinion of the Fish Commissioner and of the opinion of the Assistant Fish Commissioner of the State of Michigan and the Fish Commissioner of the State of Wisconsin, who has also knowledge of the matter, for us to fly in the face of expert opinion when we know that there are other fish hatcheries in the State that are amply able to supply the demand of the Department, to defeat this bill, defeat the purposes and compromise the Commissioner of Fisheries of this Commonwealth?

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman who offered this amendment.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Crawford permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. ROCKWELL. I desire to ask the gentleman how much, in his judgment, this property would sell for if put up at public sale.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, the Commissioner of Fisheries informs me that this should sell for much more than the sum required to carry out the provisions of Section 2 of this Act and it was upon his judgment as to the value of this property, when he insists that it is worth more than enough to carry out the provisions of Section 2, that I have offered this amendment. He seems to be the authority on the value both for fish and commercial purposes of this plant and it is for him to determine the value. I am not an expert.

Let me say to the gentleman in answer to his question that a property that will not pay for the cost of the real estate and actual cost of the buildings erected thereon must be a mighty poor piece of property.

Mr. ROCKWELL. I desire to ask the gentleman whether he has seen that property.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, I have.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, I desire then to ask the gentleman, in his judgment, how much the real estate would sell for.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, I do not pretend to know the value of real estate in that community, but I will say that as a Fish Hatchery it is worth twice what the cost of the real estate and the buildings erected thereon amount to.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman another question, and that is, if it is not his purpose by introducing this amendment to make this bill so that it cannot be carried out?

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, basing my answer on the opinion expressed by the Fish Commissioner, I will say no.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, I was before the Fish Committee when this bill was considered and I entirely agree with the gentleman from York (Mr. Spangler) in relation to his position taken on this bill. I have no interest in the case in any shape, but only as a common citizen with the rest of the people of the State. As I understand the situation it is this: the people up in Crawford County contributed something like fifteen hundred dollars to buy a piece of land upon which the State erected some buildings and created a Fish Hatchery. It was the judgment of the former Fish Commissioner that the site of the location was bad and the present Fish Commissioner corroborates that judgment and the Hatchery has been abandoned for something over a year. The State is still keeping a caretaker there at an expense of one thousand to twelve hundred dollars a year. The State Fish Commissioner states that in his opinion it cannot possibly be used profitably for the purpose for which it was organized. And now the bill proposes that the land be sold and the money realized repaid to the people who originally subscribed for it. The purpose of this amendment is that it must be sold to pay the cost of digging out the Fish Pond and all the buildings erected there on and that the Comonwealth be paid for, and we gentlemen who were before the Fish Committee, I believe every one is of the opinion that it could never be sold for any such amount; therefore this amendment would virtually kill the whole bill and it would be of no effect and the State would still be keeping the matter up at an expense of one thousand to twelve hundred dollars a year and getting no benefit, and I trust the Gentlemen of the House will vote this amendment down.

Mr. HESS. Mr. Speaker, the property is a poor property for the purpose for which it was originally intended and that is why the Commonwealth wants to sell it. The particular trouble with this property is that it is entirely or nearly on the same grade as the lake and it is impossible to get a sufficient amount of water through these ponds to raise fish successfully. A retention of the property can only mean continued expense without results. Now they have had the opinion of several experts on this land on this particular property, and they are unanimous in opinion. The purpose of this amendment can only be to make it impossible to sell this property. I trust the Gentlemen of the House will vote down this amendment.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Tioga permit himself to be interrogated?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Crawford permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, certainly.

Mr. HUMES. I would like to inquire as to whether or not I understood the gentleman correctly. I understood him to say that the Fish Commissioner preceding the present Fish Commissioner had condemned this property as unsuitable.

Mr. ROCKWELL. No, Mr. Speaker, I did not state that. I was under the impression from the talk had before the Fish Committee that it was stated there that the former Fish Commissioner had agreed that it was an unwise proposition to maintain a hatchery there. That is all the information I have, that it was stated there that he had so thought.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, I wish to say to the gentleman from Tioga and to the House that this site was selected by the Fish Commissioner of Pennsylvania, not the present Fish Commissioner, but by his predecessor, and I defy the gentlemen who have spoken against this amendment, or any one else, to assert here that the ex-Fish Commissioner ever opposed this Fish Hatchery for any purpose. It was his personal selection of a site, and I venture to assert that neither the gentleman from Lancaster, nor the gentleman from Tioga, nor the gentleman from York have ever seen this Hatchery or know anything as to its location. They have taken their information absolutely second-handed and I want to say to them that they have been absolutely and perhaps wilfully misinformed as to the facts.

The gentleman from York has undertaken to read a letter purporting to come from me. I want to explain that letter because the gentleman has undertaken to say that it was the man that I consulted as an authority. This I deny, but it was the man that the Fish Commissioner of Pennsylvania said was one of the most eminent authorities in the State of Pennsylvania on this subject; and the only reason that the Fish Commissioner has presented the bill for the intended abandonment of this property is because the pond as now located was not deep enough to raise fry until five or six inches in length and you will notice in the last paragraph of the letter which the gentleman read from this eminent expert, who was the expert named by the Fish Commissioner, he says it is a disputed question as to whether fry should be raised until five or six inches long and that the practice in Michigan is to only raise them, keep them until they are five weeks old and then plant them; and the present Fish Commissioner, or no other gentleman in this State who knows the situation, dare deny that the ponds as now constructed, without the investment of another dollar in this hatchery, are sufficient to comply with the requirements of this eminent expert that they have referred to from Michigan. I know what I am talking about when I talk about the work of this hatchery, because I have seen it and I have seen it in operation, and I want to say that I believe that this hatchery, to the State of Pennsylvania for the purpose of a Fish Hatchery, is worth three times what the State has invested in land and in buildings, and I think that any gentleman who will face the subject in a fair-minded way, who knows the situation, will agree with me on that proposition.

And I say it is not an unreasonable requirement to say that when the State sells real estate which belongs to it, or at least when the buildings are less than three years old, that it is not unreasonable to insist that a sufficient sum be secured for the property to pay the actual investment. That is all we are asking for in this case, and we are asking it because we do not care to see this property sold to some private concern at their own figures for some purpose for which it is not adapted. It is a reasonable requirement and I hope the Gentlemen of this House will vote to incorporate this amendment into the bill. They say that it was abandoned for over a year. Gentlemen, fish were taken from the ponds of this hatchery during the last year for exhibition purposes and were used in making the exhibit at the Agricultural Exhibition in the Northwestern part of Pennsylvania. And yet the gentleman from York undertakes to say not because he believes so, but because he knows nothing about it and some one has told him so, that these hatcheries and fisheries are not adapted to the purposes for which they are intended, and I ask the members of this House who are willing to protect the interest of the Commonwealth in this property and who are interested in the honest propogation of fish in this state, to vote for the incorporation of this amendment.

Mr. MITCHELL: Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Crawford.

The SPEAKER: Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HUMES: I will.

Mr. MITCHELL: Will the gentleman from Crawford tell the House how much he has invested in this fishery?

Mr. HUMES: Mr. Speaker, I do not know whether the gentleman from Erie proposed to insinuate something improper or not by that interrogation, but I can understand no other purpose back of it. I want to say that this fish hatchery was purchased on the advice of the Ex-Fish Commissioner on a poular subscription raised by the people of Crawford County and donated to the State of Pennsylvania, and I am proud of the fact that I was one of the contributors to that fund. I would not attempt to say how much at this time—it was four years ago—it was not much—we all contributed from five to twenty-five or thirty dollars apiece. I was one of the contributors, I do not know how much, but I want to say to the gentleman from Erie that if that would influence me in this proposition, the bill as it now stands is the bill that would secure to me the return of my money, and if the proposition which is advanced on the other side of the House is agreed to, the amendment is keeping me from getting the return of the money which I have invested in this plant. I do not like the imputation of the gentleman from Erie.

Mr. MITCHELL. Mr. Speaker, I would not attempt to say anything to the discredit of the gentleman from Crawford, I am very sure of that, but I simply wanted to bring out to the attention of the House his pecuniary interest in the question relative to his being reimbursed. I would like to say that I have no personal interest in this matter, and no personal feeling, but I think it is extremely improper to dispose of an administration measure in this manner. It is a question of going against the policies of the Department and we have no right to question the motives of the Fish Commissions. I would like to take just a few minutes more. I live in the Northwestern part of the State. I have not been to the hatchery in question but I know the lay of the land well and the whole country thoroughly. About fifteen hundred dollars was put into this hatchery by a number of patriotic citizens of Crawford County, and they purchased this land, which amounted to something like thirty acres. The whole amount invested was fifteen hundred dollars. This was turned over to the Fisheries Department and was accepted by the Fisheries Department, and they entered upon the land and built several houses upon it, two houses and a barn, and they built a hatchery, and made other improvements. It has been found to be inexpedient and unwise to operate it. The reason is given by the Department and given by the experts from other states that visited this hatchery, and in order to make certain that no personal feeling should appear in the matter, the Fisheries Department invited experts from other states to visit the property and give an opinion upon it. One of the gentleman who had thirty years experience in Wisconsin, I believe, came to the site and investigated it. They found as a result of that investigation that it was unwise and improvident to further operating it as a fish hatchery. They found the land to be swampy and less than two feet of water there, and that if they were to excavated to the depth of a very few feet, the water would be sluggish and not the proper water in which to propogate fish. For that reason it was abandoned. The gentleman from Crawford must admit that there is no law that will compel the Department to operate that hatchery. It appears to me to be a dog in the manger proposition. Why should the State pay a thousand dollars a year for a caretaker when the property is not in operation? It is simply a fair proposition that this property be sold and then the gentleman can get back their twenty-fives and thirtys and tens. I am afraid there is something personal in this. I believe that there is some feeling on the gentleman's part agaist the Department. I do not believe there is any question about his being reimbursed for the money which he and his associates put into this hatchery. If they get their money back, then they will think they are superior in knowledge to the head of the Department. I hardly see what stand he has on the question. This is an administration policy, and I hope that the men of this House will join me in voting down this amendment.

Mr. HUMES: Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Erie.

The SPEAKER: Will the gentleman from Erie permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MITCHELL: I will.

Mr. HUMES: I would like to ask the gentleman if he has not now three hatcheries in his county?

Mr. MITCHELL. Mr. Speaker, I know that we have one in Erie and one in Crawford, owing to our proximity to the lake.

Mr. HUMES. You also have a hatchery in Union City and one in Corry.

Mr. MITCHELL. Will you wait a moment? Owing to the fact that the City of Erie is situated on the lake, it is one of the largest fresh fish ports in the world, mind you, in the world. More fresh fish are caught and exported from Erie than from any other fresh fish port in the world. We have two hatcheries there and it is proper that we should have.

Mr. HUMES. I would like to ask the gentleman if they are not undertaking to secure another hatchery for Erie from the Fisheries Department at this time?

The SPEAKER. The Chair would suggest that we are getting a good piece away from the question at issue.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, in reply to the gentleman from Crawford, I would say that the Fish Commissioner has already stated, in this report I have read, that the fish hatcheries in the northwestern part of the State of Pennsylvania are ample for the needs of that part of the State and that those fish hatcheries being used now can be extended indefinitely for the uses of the Fish Commissioner for the present and for the future. The gentleman called attention to a previous Fish Commissioner. If a previous Fish Commissioner had recommended this particular fish hatchery, this is the opinion of the Superintendent of the fish hatchery of Wisconsin. He said: With the President of our Board, about five years ago I had the pleasure of visiting some of your State Hatcheries. Both he and myself thought that the several buildings, the construction of the ponds, and the manner in which they were kept, was a disgrace to the great State of Pennsylvania. To think that they have been hatching fish for the past thirty years and have not advanced any during that time, (the buildings and construction work being done at that time was similar to that built thirty years previous, when fish culture was in its infancy)." Now we have a Fish Commissioner whose effort is to upbuild and reconstruct and it seems to me it is entirely unsuitable at this time to oppose his wishes.

The question recurring,
Will the House agree to the amendment?
It was not agreed to.
On the question,
Will the House agree to the section?
It was agreed to.
The second section was read and agreed to as follows:

Section 2 The amount realized from such sale however made shall be in cash and the said Commissioner of Fisheries is hereby authorized to ascertain the names of subscribers to the fund with which the property was originally purchased and the amount of each subscription and if the property shall bring a sum less than the total of such subscriptions then said amount without any deductions for costs of advertisement or sale shall be distributed pro rata in the proportion which said amount bears to the amount subscribed by each person to the original purchasers and donors of the property their heirs or personal representatives Provided however that if any of the subscribers their heirs or personal representatives cannot be found after a deliberate search then the share of such person be put into the general fund of the State Treasury and if the amount received from the property at the sale as aforesaid shall exceed the amount originally subscribed by all the subscribers to the purchase fund such balance after distribution as aforesaid shall be deposited in the State Treasury

The preamble was read and agreed to as follows:

Whereas, Several years ago certain residents of Crawford County, by popular subscription, raised the money and purchased certain grounds at Conneaut Lake, Crawford County, and donated the same to the State of Pennsylvania for the use of the Department of Fisheries in erecting a Fish Hatchery thereon, and

Whereas, After a thorough trial it had been demonstrated to the satisfaction of the Commissioner of Fisheries and certain other experts who have examined carefully into the situation that the local conditions make it impossible to maintain an efficient hatchery there and the Fisheries Commission has determined that the best interests of he Commonwealth require the abandonment of the said property as a hatchery Therefore,

The title was read and agreed to as follows:

An Act authorizing the Commissioner of Fisheries to sell the real estate upon which the Fish Hatchery at Conneaut Lake Crawford County is located and distribute the money received from such sale

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on second reading?

An Act to authorize the township commissioners of townships of the first class to ordain and establish sidewalks along the principal streets and highways of the township leading directly to or connecting cities boroughs villages or places of public resort and to charge a part of the expense of constructing the same upon the abutting property owners and to defray the remaining part of such expense from the public funds of the township

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That it shall be lawful for the board of township commissioners of any township of the first class in this Commonwealth and they are hereby authorized and empowered from time to time whenever they may deem it advisable so to do to ordain and establish sidewalks along either one or both sides of any principal street or highway of the said township leading directly to or connecting cities boroughs villages or places of public resort within the lines of the said street or highway for such distance as the said board of township commissioners may deem proper Provided However That in case the said street or highway be a turnpike or other road managed and controlled by a corporation duly incorporated under the laws of this Commonwealth the written consent of the said corporation shall first be obtained thereto

Section 2 The said board of township commissioners is hereby authorized and empowered to charge to the owner or owners of the properties abutting on the said sidewalk according to the respective frontage of each abutting property such part or portion of the expense of the construction of such sidewalk as the said board of township commissioners shall deem reasonable and just not to exceed however in any case fifty per cent of the total cost of the construction of the said sidewalk and to defray the remainder of the expense of the construction of the said sidewalk from the public funds of the said township

Section 3 The ordinance establishing any such sidewalk shall specify the width thereof which however shall not be less than five (5) feet in any case and shall in no case leave a roadway of less than twenty (20) feet in the clear and shall require such grading and filling as shall be deemed necessary The kind and character of the pavement shall be specified in the ordinance and the manner of laying the same may be specified in like manner or provided for by some general ordinance or by the regulation of a committee of the board Provided That it may be lawful for the said township commissioners to provide for the construction of a boardwalk in any case instead of a paved sidewalk

Section 4 In all cases coming under this act if at the time of the passage of the ordinance a sidewalk paved with brick stone or concrete of any sort has already been constructed by a property owner in front of his property the township commissioners may accept such walk as a compliance with the ordinance although it be not constructed according to the specifications thereof Otherwise if such sidewalk be not accepted the township shall bear the expense of reconstructing the same

Section 5 All ordinances for the construction of sidewalks under the provisions of this act shall provide for written notice to be given to the property owners to grade and construct such sidewalk in front of their respective properties within a certain specified period not less than three (3) months from date of the service of such notice Provided however That when such notice is given on or after the first day of September in any year the property owners affected shall not be considered in default for failure to construct the said sidewalk until the first day of June of the following year Service of such notice shall be made by handing the same to the property owner or by leaving the same at his place of residence if he have one in the county or if he do not reside in the county by mailing the same to his address if his address can be obtained and also in all cases a copy of such notice shall be served upon the occupant of the house or any other building on the premises Should any property owner fail to comply with the requirements of the ordinance within the time or times specified in this section it shall be lawful for the board of township commissioners to cause the sidewalk in front of his property to be constructed in accordance with the requirements of the ordinance and to collect the proportion of the expense thereof which under the ordinance authorizing the construction of the same is chargeable upon the property owner including the costs of grading and any other incidental matters together with the penalty of ten per centum by action of assumpsit or by filing a lien against said property in the nature of a municipal lien in the manner prescribed by existing laws

Section 6 When any sidewalk has been constructed by an abutting property owner in front of his property under the provisions of this act the township commissioners upon the presentation to them of a receipted bill for the cost of constructing such sidewalk shall forthwith pay to the property owner the part or portion of the expense of the construction of the said sidewalk which by the terms of the ordinance authorizing the construction of the same is to be defrayed from the public funds of the said township and if the said part or portion of the expense of the construction of the said sidewalk which is to be defrayed from the township funds is not paid forthwith to the property owner by the board of township commissioners the property owner shall be exonerated from the payment of any and all township taxes until he has been fully reimbursed by the taxes so exonerated for the part or portion of the expense of constructing the said sidewalk which should have been paid him by the township commissioners with interest thereon from the date of his payment thereof

Section 7 This act shall not be construed to repeal or in any wise alter or affect any existing act of assembly authorizing or regulating the construction of sidewalks along any public road street or highway or part or portion thereof within townships of the first class in this Commonwealth

The second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh, eighth, ninth, tenth, eleventh, twelfth, thirteenth, fourteenth and fifteenth sections and the title of the bill were separately read and agreed to as follows:

Section 2 No such policy shall be issued or delivered except subject to the following conditions (1) unless the entime money and other consideration therefore are expressed in the policy nor (2) unless the time at which the insurance thereunder takes effect and terminates is stated in a portion of the policy preceding its execution by the insurer nor (3) if the policy purports to insure more than one person nor (4) unless every printed portion thereof and of any indorsements or attached papers shall be plainly printed in type of which the face shall be not smaller than ten point or (5) unless a brief description thereof be printed on its first page and on its filing back in type of which the face shall be not smaller than fourteen point nor (6) unless the exceptions of the policy be printed with the same prominence as the benefits to which they apply Provided however That any portion of such policy which purports by reason of the circumstances under which a loss is incurred to reduce any indemnity promised therein to an amount less than that provided for the same loss occurring under ordinary circumstances shall be printed in bold face type and with greater prominence than any other portion of the text of the policy

Section 3 Every such policy so issued shall contain certain standard provisions which shall be in the words and in the order hereinafter set forth and be preceded in every policy by the caption "Standard Provisions" In each such standard provisions wherever the word "Insurer" is used there shall be substituted therefor "company" or "corporation" or "association" or "society" or such other word as will properly designate to the insurer Said standard provision shall be

(1 A standard provision relative to the contract which may be in either of the following two forms Form (A) to be used in policies which do not provide for reduction of indemnity on account of change of occupation and Form (B) to be used in policies which do so provide If Form (B is used and the policy provides indemnity against loss from sickness the words "or contracts sickness" may be inserted therein immediately after the words "in the event that the insured is injured"

(a) 1 This policy includes the endorsements and attached papers if any and contains the entire contract of insurance No reduction shall be made in any indemnity herein provided by reason of change in the occupation of the insured or by reason of his doing any act or thing pertaining to any other occupation

(b) 1 This policy includes the endorsement and attached papers if any and contains the entire contract of insurance except as it may be modified by the insurer's classification of risks and premium rates in the event that the insured is injured after having changed his occupation to one classified by the insurer as more hazardous than that stated in the policy or while he is doing any act or thing pertaining to any occupation so classified except ordinary duties about his residence or while engaged in receration in which event the insurer will pay only such portion of the indemnities provided in the policy as the premium paid would have purchased at the rate but within the limits so fixed by the insurer for such more hazardous occupation

If the law of the state in which the insured resides at the time this policy is issued required that prior to its issue a statement of the premium rates and classification of risks pertaining to it shall be filed with the state official having supervision of insurance in such state then the premium rates and classification of risks mentioned in this policy shall mean only such as have been last filed by the insurer in accordance with such law but if such filing is not required by such law then they shall mean the insurer's premium rates and classification of risks last made effective by it in such state prior to the occurrence of the loss for which the insurer is liable

(2) A standard provision relative to changes in the contract which shall be in the following form

2 No statement made by the applicant for insurance not included herein shall be avoid the policy or be used in any legal proceeding hereunder No agent has authority to change this policy or to waive any of its provisions No change in this policy shall be valid unless approved by an executive officer of the insurer and such approval be endorsed hereon

(3) A standard provisions relative to reinstatement of policy after lapse which may be in either of the three following forms Form (A) to be used in policies which insure only against loss from accident Form (B) to be used in policies which insure only against loss from sickness and Form (C) to be used in policies which insure against loss from both accident and sickness

(A) 3 If default be made in the payment of the agreed premium for this policy the subsequent acceptance of a premium by the insurer or by any of its duly authorized agents shall reinstate the policy but only to cover loss resulting from accidental injury thereafter sustained

(B) 3 If default be made in the payment of the agreed premium for this policy the subsequent acceptance of a premimum by the insurer or by any of its duly authorized agents shall reinstate the policy but only to cover such sickness as may begin more than ten days after the date of such acceptance

An Act amending the tenth section of an Act entitled "An Act providing when how and upon what property and how and upon what property and to what extent liens shall be allowed for taxes and for municipal improvements and for the removal of nuisances the procedure upon claims filed therefor the mehods for preserving such liens and enforcing payment of such claims the effect of judicial sales of the properties liened and the manner of distributing the proceeds of such sales" approved the fourth day of June one thousand nine hundred and one by changing the procedure for reviving and continuing the liens of municipal and tax claims

The first section of the bill was read as follows:

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That section ten of an act entitled "An Act providing when how upon what property and to what extent liens shall be allowed for taxes and for municipal improvements and for the removal of nuisances the procedure upon claims filed therefor the methods for preserving such liens and enforcing payment of such claims the effect of judicial sales of the properties liened and the manner of distributing the proceeds of such sales" approved the fourth day of June Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and one which as heretofore amended read as follows:

"Section 10 Claims for taxes water-rents lighting rates and sewer rates must be filed in the court of common pleas of the county in which the property is situated on or before the last day of the third calendar year after that in which the taxes or rates are first payable and other municipal claims must be filed in said court within six months from the time the work was done in front of the particular property where the charge against the property is assessed or made at the time the work is authorized within six months after the completion of the improvement where the assessment is made by the municipality upon all the properties after confirmation of the improvement and within six months after confirmation by the court where confirmation is required the certificate of the surveyor engineer or other officer supervising the improvement filed in the proper office being conclusive of the time of completion thereof but he being personally liable to any one injured by any false statement therein A number of years taxes or rates of different kinds if payable to the same plaintiff may be included in one claim

Municipal claims shall likewise be filed within said period where no appeal is taken from the assessment for the recovery of which such municipal claim is fixed In such case the lien filed shall be in the form hereinafter provided except that it shall set forth the amount of the claim as an undetermined amount the amount thereof to be determined by the appeal taken from the assessment upon which such municipal claim is based pending in a certain court (referring to the court and the proceeding where such appeal is pending) Upon the filing of such municipal claim the claim shall be indexed by the prothonotary upon the judgment index and upon the locality index of the court and the amount of the claim set forth therein as an undetermined amount

If the final judgment is not obtained upon such appeal within five years from the filing of such municipal claim the claimant in the lien shall within such period of five years file a suggestion of non-payment in the form hereinafter set forth which shall have the effect of continuing the lien thereof for a further period of five years from the date of filing such suggestion Such municipal claim shall be revived in a similar manner during each recurring period of five years thereafter until final judgment is entered upon said appeal and the undetermined amount of such municipal claim is fixed in the manner hereinafter provided

When the final judgment is obtained upon such appeal the court in which said municipal claim is pending shall upon the petition of any interested party make an order fixing the undetermined amount claimed in such claim at the amount determined by the final judgment upon said appeal which shall bear interest from the date of the verdict upon which judgment was entered and thereafter the amount of said claim shall be the sum thus fixed Proceedings upon said municipal claim thereafter shall be as in other cases

Whereon final judgment upon said appeal it appears that no account is due upon the assessment for the recovery of which such claim is filed the court in which such municipal claim is pending shall upon the petition of any interested party make an order striking such municipal claim from the record and charge the costs upon such claim to the plaintiff in the claim filed

Where such appeal is discontinued the court in which such municipal claim is pending shall upon the petition of any interested party make an order fixing the undetermined amount claimed at the amount of the original assessment which shall bear interest from the date that such assessment was originally payable and thereafter the amount of such claim shall be the sum thus fixed

Such tax municipal or other claim if filed within the period aforesaid shall remain a lien upon said porperties until fully paid and satisfied Provided however That either a suggestion of non-payment and an averment of default in the form hereinafter provided be filed in cases of tax claims either before or after judgment o nthe scrie facias and in cases of other than tax claims ater judgment on the scire acias or else a writ of scire facias in the form herein provided be issued to revive the same within each period of five years following (a) the date on which said claim was filed (b) the date on which a writ of scrie facias was issued thereon (c) the date on which any judgment was entered thereon (d) the date on which a previous suggestion of non-payment and default was filed thereon or (e) the date on which a judgment of revival was obtained thereon

The suggestion and averment shall be in the following form under the caption of the claim

And now the claimant by his solicitor suggests or record that the above claim is still due and owing to the claimant and avers that the owner is still in default for non-payment thereof The protonotary is hereby directed to enter this suggestion and averment on the municipal lien or the proper docket of the claim and also to index of it upon the judgment index and on the locality index of the court for the purpose of continuing the lien of the claim

Such suggestion and averment must be signed by the solicitor or chief executive officer of the claimant The prothonotary shall docket and index the suggestion and averment as directed therein and for such services shall be entitled to a fee of one dollar to be taxed and collected as other costs in the claim The filing and indexing of such suggestion and averment within five years of filing the claim or the issuing of any writ of scrie facias thereon or of any judgment thereon or of the filing or any prior suggestion the averment of default shall have the same force and effect for the purpose of continuing and preserving the lien of the claim as though a writ of scire facias had been issued or a judgment or judgment or revival had been obtained within such period Provided That no writ of levari facias shall be issued upon a claim for the purpose of exposing the property liened to sheriff's sale except after a judgment shall have been duly obtained upon the claim as provided in this section and such judgment must have been obtained within five years of the issuance of the levari facias Whenever the lien of a claim has been revived and continued by the filing and indexing of a suggestion and averment of default the claimant may at any time within five years therefrom issue a writ of scire facias thereon reciting all suggestion and averment of default filed since the filing of the claim and shall proceed thereon in the manner herein provided subject to the right of the owner to raise any defense arising since the last judgment

If a claim be not filed within the time aforesaid or if it be not prosecuted in the manner and at the time aforesaid it shall be wholly lost" shall be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 10 Claims for taxes water-rents lighting rates and sewer rates must be filed in the court of common pleas of the county in which the property is situated on or before the last day of the third calendar year after that in which the taxes or rates are first payable and other municipal claims must be filed in said court within six months from the time the work was done in front of the particular property where the charge against the property is assessed or made at the time the work is authorized within six months after the completion of the improvement where the assessment is made by the municipality upon all the properties after the completion of the improvement and within six months after confirmation by the court where confirmation is required the certificate of the surveyor engineer or other officer supervising the improvement filed in the proper office being conclusive of the time of completion thereof but he being personally liable to any one injured by any false statement therein A number of years taxes or rates of different kinds if payable to the same plaintiff may be included in one claim

Municipal claims shall likewise be filed within said period where no appeal is taken from the assessment for the recovery of which such municipal claim is filed In such case the lien filed shall be in the form hereinafter provided except that it shall set forth the amount of the claim as an undetermined amount the amount thereof to be determined by the appeal taken from the assessment upon which such municipal claim is based pending in a certain court (referring to the court and the proceeding where such appeal is pending) Upon the filing of such municipal claim the claim shall be indexed by the prothonotary upon the judgment index and upon the locality index of the court and the amount of the claim set forth therein as an undetermined amount

If the final judgment is not obtained upon such appeal within five years from the filing of such municipal claim the claimant in the lien shall within such period of five years file a suggestion of non-payment in the form hereinafter set forth which shall have the effect of continuing the lien thereof for a further period of five years from the date of filing such suggestion Such municipal claim shall be revived in a similar manner during each recurring period of five years thereafter until final judgment is entered upon said appeal and the undetermined amount of such municipal claim is fixed in the manner hereinafter provided

When the final judgment is obtained upon such appeal the court in which said municipal claim is pending shall upon the petition of any interested party make an order fixing the undetermined amount claimed in such claim at the amount determined by the final judgment upon said appeal which shall bear interest from the date of the verdict upon which final judgment was entered and thereafter the amount of said claim shall be the sum thus fixed Proceedings upon said municipal claim thereafter shall be as in other cases

Whereon final judgment upon said appeal it appears that no amount is due upon the assessment for the recovery of which such claim is filed the court in which such municipal claim is pending shall upon the petition of any interested party make an order striking such municipal claim from the record and charge the costs upon such claim to the plaintiff in the claim filed

Where such appeal is discontinued the court in which such municipal claim is pending shall upon the petition of any interested party make an order fixing the undetermined amount claimed at the amount of the original assessment which shall bear interest from the date that such assessment was originally payable and thereafter the amount of such claim shall be the sum thus fixed

Such tax municipal or other claim if filed within the period aforesaid shall remain a lien upon said properties until fully paid and satisfied Provided however That either a suggestion of non-payment and an averment of default in the form hereinafter provided be filed either before or after judgment on the scire facie or else a writ of scire facias in the form herein provided be issued to revive the same within each period of five years following (a) the date on which said claim was filed (b) the date on which a writ of scire facias was issued thereon (c) the date on which any judgment was entered thereon (d) the date on which a previous suggestion of non-payment and default was filed thereon or (e) the date on which a judgment of revival was obtained thereon

And now the claimant by his solicitor suggests of record that the above claim is still due and owning to the claimant and avers that the owner is still in default for non-payment thereof The prothonotary is hereby directed to enter this suggestion and averment on the municipal lien or the proper docket of the claim and also to index in upon the judgment index and on the locality index of the court for the purpose of continuing the lien of the claim

Such suggestion and averment must be signed by the solicitor or chief executive officer of the claimant The prothonotary shall docket and index the suggestion and averment as directed therein and for such services shall be entitled to a fee of one dollar to be taxed and collected as other costs in the claim The filing and indexing of such suggestion and averment within five years of filing the claim of the issuing of any writ of scire facias thereon or of any judgment thereon or of the filing of any prior suggestion and averment or default shall have the same force and effect for the purpose of continuing and preserving the lien of the claim as though a writ of scire facias had been issued or a judgment or judgment of revival had been obtained within such period Provided That no writ of levari facias shall be issued upon a claim for the purpose of exposing the property liened to sheriff's sale except after a judgment shall have been duly obtained upon the claim as provided in this section and such judgment must have been obtained within five years of the issuance of the levari facias Whenever the lien of a claim has been revived and continued by the filing and indexing of a suggestion and averment of default the claimant may at any time within five years therefrom issue a writ of scire facias thereon reciting all suggestion and averment of default filed since the filing of the claim and shall proceed thereon in the manner herein provided subject to the right of the owner to raise any defense arising since the last judgment

If a claim be not filed within the time aforesaid or if it be not prosecuted in the manner and at the time aforesaid it shall be wholly lost

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. NEELY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments:

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in committee of the whole being in this case dispensed with,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1082 (Senate Bill No. 157), entitled:

An Act to amend an act approved the third day of June one thousand nine hundred and eleven entitled "A further supplement to an act entitled 'An Act to provide for the classification of the townships of this Commonwealth with respect to their population into two classes and to prescribe the form of government for townships of each class" approved the twenty-eighth day of April Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and ninety-nine as to townships of the first class providing for certain duties of the secretary of the board of commissioners invalidating contracts hirings purchases or orders not provided for by or in excess of appropriations providing for inspection of the records and documents by taxpayers and the method of making contracts

The first section of the bill was read as follows:

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the fourth section of an act approved the third day of June one thousand nine hundred and eleven entitled "A further supplement to an act entitled 'An Act to provide for the classification of the townships of the Commonwealth with respect to their population into two classes and to prescribe the form of government for townships of each class' approved the twenty-eighth day of April Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and ninety-nine as to townships of the first class providing for certain duties of the secretary of the board of commissioners invalidating contracts hirings purchases or orders not provided for by or in excess of appropriations providing for inspection of the records and documents by taxpayers and the method of making contracts" which reads as follows

"Section 4 That from and after the passage of this act all contracts or purchases made by any township of the first class involving the expenditure of over one hundred dollars shall be in writing and shall not be made except with the lowest and best bidder after due notice by the secretary published once a week for three weeks in one or more newspapers of the county in which such township shall be situated" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 4 That from and after the passage of this act all contracts or purchases made by any township of the first class involving the expenditure of over three hundred dollars shall be in writing and shall not be made except with the lowest and best bidder after due notice by the secretary published once a week for three weeks in one or more newspapers of the county in which such township shall be situated

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. AMBLER. Mr. Speaker, I offer the following amendment.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Section 1, line 27, by striking out the word "three" and inserting the word "five."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

Mr. MORROW. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Section 1, after line 31, add the following: Provided that this section shall not apply to road contracts of any township of the first class owning at the time of the passage of this act its own tools, implementes and machinery necessary for repairing public highways.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

The section as amended was then agreed to.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, as I caught that last amendment, it would seem to me that it would nullify the whole bill as to townships of that class.

I move that the vote by which the first section was agreed to be reconsidered.

Mr. AMBLER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which the amendment offered by the gentleman from Lehigh, (Mr. Morrow) was adopted, be reconsidered.

Mr. AMBLER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, I would ask that the amendment offered by the gentleman from Lehigh be again read.

The amendment was again read by the Clerk as follows:

Section 1, after line 31, add the following: Provided that this section shall not apply to road contracts of any township of the first class owning at the time of the passage of this act its own tools, implements and machinery necessary for repairing public highways.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, it seems to me that that amendment if adopted, would absolutely cut out from the provisions of this bill any townships who own machinery at that time. I would ask the gentleman who introduced the amendment if that is the purpose?

Mr. MORROW. Mr. Speaker, the purpose was to allow townships of the first class to own their own machinery without giving out that work by contract.

Mr. ROCKWELL. I would further ask the gentleman if he is not of the opinion that if this amendment is adopted that it would make the bill so that it will not apply to townships of the first class in any shape? The point I make is this: that his amendment says "It shall not apply to any township which owns its own machinery."

Mr. MORROW. That is, the term "Contract" in the first section shall not apply to townships of the first class having their own machinery for road making purposes.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, it seems to me that we ought not to adopt this amendment as I understand it.

Mr. MORROW. Mr. Speaker, the reason why I presented that amendment is this. About a year ago we entered into a contract to have a piece of road built in Lehigh, in Whitehall township, giving it out by contract. After the contract was completed, or rather before it was completed we had to pay thirty-seven hundred dollars. Not being allowed by law to do this work ourselves, we had to accept their terms. After having accepted the terms, the road was completed, the terms accepted and paid for, the township commissioners united in saying that the work could be done for twenty-two hundred dollars provided they could have done it themselves, having their own machinery, their crushing machinery and their quarry to provide themselves with stones for that road. That is the reason I offered that amendment.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, this bill sets forth that a township cannot let a contract of over one hundred dollars without making certain provisions. The section as written, to be amended, says three hundred dollars, and the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Ambler changed the word three hundred to five hundred. This last amendment says that this act shall not apply to any township of the first class which owns its own machinery, if a township of the first class owns a road scraper and other machinery, then this bill is null and void.

Mr. MORROW. I would say that with only road scrapers we could not make many repairs so far as macadam roads are concerned. That is what we are trying to get after. If it were clay roads entirely, we certainly would not fall back on our machinery including a quarry, crushers and rollers. We all know very well that you cannot make very many repairs on a public road on one hundred dollars, or three hundred dollars or five hundred dollars. You would not be able to do very much in a year's time with that amount of money, and the idea of this act is to give us the privilege of expending that money without giving it out by contract, just in that particular line. This does not deprive or compel other purchases made by the Township Commissioners from being let by contract.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, I think the gentleman doesn't catch the force of my objection. If a township of the first class, we will say the township that I live in, wants to escape the entire provisions of this act, if this amendment is adopted, all it has to do is to buy machinery, and it takes that township absolutely out of the provisions of this act.

Mr. MORROW. If the member from Tioga will look it over he will find that this amendment pertains only to townships who own their own machinery at the passage of this act, not what it would buy in the future after the passage of this act.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

The section as amended was then agreed to.

The title was read and agreed to as follows:

An Act to amend an act approved the third day of June one thousand nine hundred and eleven entitled "A further supplement to an act entitled 'An Act to provide for the classification of the townships of the Commonwealth with respect to their population into two classes and to prescribe the form of government for townships of each class' approved the twenty-eighth day of April Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and ninety-nine as to townships of the first class providing for certain duties of the secretary of the board of commissioners invalidating contracts hirings purchases or orders not provided for by or in excess of appropriations providing for inspection of the records and documents by taxpayers and the method of making contracts"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill as amended?

It was agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to, as amended,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in committee of the whole being in this case dispensed with,

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. WALNUT. Mr. Speaker, I move that the further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. GIBSON. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON SECOND READING.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in committee of the whole being in this case dispensed with,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 607, as follows:

An Act making an appropriation to refund to the Standard Distilling Company of Mount Pleasant Westmoreland county Pennsylvania the sum of eight hundred and ninety-five and fifty one hundred dollars inadvertantly and erroneously paid by it under protest into the State Treasury for a distillers' license for a distillery heretofore and now known as the Standard Distilling Company

Whereas The Standard Distilling Company of Mount Pleasant Westmoreland county Pennsylvania a corporation duly incorporated under the laws of the State of Pennsylvania did on the fourteenth day of January Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and ten file its application for a distillers' license at the same place where a distillers' license had been granted for the preceding year of one thousand nine hundred and nine and for many years prior thereto and

Whereas Owing to extensive improvements and changes made on the building machinery and equipment of said distillery no whiskey was manufactured during the preceding year one thousand nine hundred and nine but during said year business was conducted at the place of business of the distillery in the borough of Mount Pleasant under the license for that year and

Whereas The court of quarter sessions of Westmoreland county in making the order for the license for one thousand nine hundred and ten erroneously ordered the payment of a license fee of one thousand dollars instead of the fee paid by an old applicant distilling less than fifty barrels to wit the sum one hundred dollars under the act of Assembly June thirtieth one thousand eight hundred and ninety-seven Pamphlet Laws four hundred and sixty-four which was decided by the Superior Court of Pennsylvania in the case of New Kensington Distilling Company forty-five Pennsylvania Superior Court page one hundred and ten and

Whereas The said Standard Distilling Company with the said erroneous order paid under protest on the sixteenth day of April one thousand nine hundred and ten to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania the sum of one thousand dollars whereby there went into the State Treasury the sum of eight hundred and ninety-five and fifty-one hundredth dollars more than should have been paid for the renewal of an old license where there were no spirituous liquors distilled during the previous year

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the sum of eight hundred and ninety-five and fifty one hundredth dollars or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby specifically appropriated for the purpose of refunding to said Standard Distilling Company of Mount Pleasant Pennsylvania the moneys erroneously or inadvertantly paid by it into the State Treasury through a misinterpretation of the law

Section 2 No payment shall be made under the provisions of this act until due proof shall be furnished to the Auditor General of the correctness of the payments mentioned herein to have been so erroneously and inadvertantly made by said Standard Distilling Company

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in committee of the whole being in this case dispensed with,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 223, as follows:

The first section of the bill was read as follows:

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That it shall be the duty of the State Highway Commissioners immediately after the sum of money is appropriated to the State Highway Department for the purpose of repairing improving or constructing the State Highways of the Commonwealth to apportion the same to each county of the Commonwealth in the proportion which the unimproved State Highways of each county bears to the total mileage of the State Highways of the Commonwealth and the State Highway Commissioner shall forthwith furnish to the Board of County Commissioners of each county a statement showing the amount apportioned to each county

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker I desire to offer the following amendment:

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Strike out the word "the" when it first appears in line 5 of section 1 and insert the word "any" in lieu thereof

On the question.

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

The section as amended was then agreed to.

The second section was then read and agreed to as follows:

Section two The State Highway Commissioner shall expend in each county in improving the State Highways therein the full proportionate share of said appropriation to which such county is entitled as ascertained in accordance with the first section of this act

The title was read as follows:

An Act requiring that all monies appropriated by the State to the State Highway Department for the improvement of State Highways shall be expended in each county of the State in proportion to the total mileage of State Highways therein

On the question,

Will the House agree to the title?

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker I desire to offer the following amendment:

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend the title by inserting after the word "of" in line 4 the word "unimproved."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

The title as amended was then agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to, as amended,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in committee of the whole being in this case dispensed with,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 888, entitled:

An Act designating the daisy as the floral emblem or State flower for this Commonwealth and fixing a day for the observance of the same

The first section of the bill was read and agreed to as follows:

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby eacted by the authority of the same That the blue violet shall be the State flower or floral emblem of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania

Mr. ROCKWELL: Mr. Speaker, I want to call the attention of the author of this bill to the fact that the first section does not correspond with the second section, and one or the other should be amended.

The second section of the bill was read and agreed to as follows:

Section 2 The fourteenth day of June in each year shall be known as Daisy Day and be celebrated accordingly

The preamble of the bill was read and agreed to as follows:

Whereas, The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is one among the eight states of the United States which have up to the present time failed or neglected to adopt some form of floral emblem or state flower and

The title of the bill was read as follows:

An Act designating the daisy as the floral emblem or State flower for this Commonwealth and fixing a day for the observance of the same

On the question,

Will the House agree to the title?

Mr. SAVACOOL. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend the title by striking out the word "daisy" and inserting in lieu thereof the words "blue violet".

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

The title as amended was then agreed to.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, the error still remains in section two. the words "Daisy Day," and the State Flower would be the violet. It seemes to me they are rather inapporpriate. In the second section it says the fourteenth day of June in each year shall be "Daisy Day" and yet the first section says the State Flower shall be the Blue violet.

Mr. JACKSON. Mr. Speaker, it was so amended in the Committee.

The SPEAKER. Under the circumstances perhaps it would be well to place this bill on the postponed Calendar.

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. SAVACOOL. Mr. Speaker, I move that further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. JACKSON. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The SPEAKER (George E. Alter) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. J. E. Wright, offered the following prayer:

O God, we thank Thee for the coming again of this beautiful Spring season, the season of resurrection, of leaf and bud, of foliage and flowers, when nature awakens from her long sleep and puts on her beautiful garments and the earth rejoices. It is an impressive reminder to us of the faithfulness of God, who has said that Summer and Winter, seed time and harvest shall never fail. May it stimulate us to the imitation of God. May we try to be faithful and true in every relation to life, to Thee our God, to ourselves, to the people who have chosen us to represent them, and the trusts committed to our care, to our sacred pledges and promises. So shall we help to bring again to our moral and social world brightness and beauty, gladness and cheer. We ask all this in the name of Him who has taught us to say: Our Father, who art in Heaven, hallowed be Thy name; Thy will be done on earth as it is in Heaven. Give us this day our daily bread and forgive us our debts as we forgive our debtors; and lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil; for Thine is the kingdom and the power and the glory forever. Amen.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of yesterday's proceedings, when, on motion of Mr. Barner, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal approved.

RESOLUTION.

Mr. WILTBANK. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up Resolution No. 33, file folio 2667.

The SPEAKER. The resolution will be read by the Clerk.

The resolution was read as follows:

Whereas, Charges have been published affecting the integrity of Willard R. Black while a clerk in the Game Commissioner's office, and who is now employed as Assistant clerk of the House of Representatives. Therefore

Be it Resolved, That the House of Representatives appoint a committee to investigate the said charges and report their findings to the House when it meets on Monday, March twenty-fourth, for such action as it may see fit to recommend.

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, it has been the practice when charges were made to refer the whole matter to a committee and I therefore move that this resolution be referred to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. FRANK GRAY. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

Mr. WILTBANK. Mr. Speaker, I hope the House will vote this down. The object of this motion is to smother this resolution and to smother this investigation. I waited for two days and went to Mr. Scott, the gentleman from Philadelphia, to do this thing and said if he wouldn't do it, that I would. There is nothing in this resolution, if this young man is not guilty of this charge, and I do not see anything that is wrong in having this special resolution. Mr. Scott could stop this resolution if he had a mind to. One of my colleagues has asked me to do this and it has not been done in any hurry. I hope you will vote this motion down and let the resolution go through. There is nothing wrong with it at all. I ask that this committee be appointed and I hope that you will vote the motion down.

Mr. SCHUCK. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman state his point of order.

Mr. SCHUCK. Mr. Speaker, to my mind it is a grave question whether this subject is in order at all, inasmuch as the incident alleged to have happened, occurred six years ago, under the Speakership of Mr. Frank McClain. I am not an interested party in this controversy, but I say that we are wasting time; we are idling away our time in taking up questions looking into the record of an employee of six years ago. Suppose we should go back to investigate the records of the conduct of the employees or even of the members of this House six years ago? We might go on indefinitely doing that. I have been informed by some one that this occurred six years ago. I think the resolution should be declared out of order or referred to a proper committee.

Mr. WILTBANK. Will the gentleman permit me to interrogate him?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Schuck, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SCHUCK. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

Mr. WILTBANK. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman whether he knows that it was six years ago or six hours ago when this happened or whether this resolution says whether it is for conduct of one year ago or one hour ago or one month ago?

Mr. SCHUCK. Mr. Speakere. no, sir. I do not and that is just what is the matter with your resolution. I understand that this occurred six years ago.

Mr. WILTBANK. Mr. Speaker, it looks to me as if you (Mr. Schuck) had been investigating this yourself.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion to refer the resolution to the Committee on Judiciary General?

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker. I would like to say a word on this matter. I agree with the gentleman from Philadelphia that this is a matter that deserves some consideration. The time is fixed by the resolution. If you will read the resolution you will see that the resolution sets the time for the report of the committee on the 24th day of March, which is next Monday. If this resolution should be referred to a committee, I would like to ask the question whether or not it will have the effect of killing it if the committee does not report at the time set for the reporting of it. I therefore ask the question for information: Whether or not, as the time for the report of this committee is fixed for next Monday, March 24th. in the event of the committee not meeting until after that time, if that would have the effect of killing the resolution?

The SPEAKER. The Chair has no information as to when the committee is going to meet. Manifestly if the meeting were not held until after that time. they could not make a report until later.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker. this resolution provides that a committee shall be appointed and shall report to this House on Monday the 24th. Now, a motion is made to refer this resolution to a committee which, judging by its action heretofore and its ordinary course of business, will not meet until at least the 25th. Now, I question very much whether or not the reference of the resolution under such a condition would not. as the gentleman from Philadelphia says, kill the resolution.

The SPEAKER. The Chair could not assume that the Chairman of the Judiciary Special Committee would not call a special meeting if this resolution were referred to it.

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I might say that the rules of the Judiciary Special Committee fix both Tuesday and Thursday at 1.30 P. M. for a meeting.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is informed that the committee will meet at 1.30 to-day.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, was the motion—this is not a point of order—that this be referred to the Judiciary Special or the Judiciary General Committee?

The SPEAKER. The Judiciary Special Committee.

The question is upon the motion to refer the resolution to the Committee on Judiciary Special. The Chair would state that this motion does not involve any action by the Judiciary Special Committee, except advising the House whether or not this resolution should be passed.

Mr. WILTBANK. Mr. Speaker, wouldn't it be better for the gentleman that made that resolution to make an amendment to have it put into the waste basket? Now, if there is anything here they want to cover up, let us know it. There is nothing in this resolution to call for the House's referring it to this committee and why, in the name of God. they want to do it is more than I can understand. While the resolution does call to make a report on Monday, gentlemen, you can come in here on Monday and ask for an extension of time. and if the House in its wisdom sees fit to give it to you, then they can give you an extension until Resurrection Day. Now, I am not much of a parliamentarian, but as I told my friend from Philadelphia, they all had their notice that I would do this if they did not. I spoke to him the day before yesterday or just before that and asked him to do something of this kind. This man I never spoke to in my life till I ordered him out of my seat last evening. That was the first time I spoke to him, but any man on God's footstool who will travel with a woman is not fit to breathe the free air of this country —

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point.

Mr. ALLEN. The question is whether or not the resolution shall be referred.

The SPEAKER. Correct.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

A division was called for, 90 voting in the affirmative and 15 in the negative,

And the motion was adopted.

Mr. WILTBANK. Mr. Speaker, I would like to make another motion: That Mr. Wiltbank deserves the censure of the House for offering such a resolution to have the audacity to go to work and offer such a resolution as that, he deserves the censure of this House.

Mr. McARDLE. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The SPEAKER. The motion is scarcely in order.

Mr. WILTBANK. Mr. Speaker. well, we will have it then later on.

I think I would like to rise for a personal explanation on this, with the permission of the Speaker.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman rise to a question of personal privilege?

Mr. WILTBANK. Mr. Speaker, that's right.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. WILTBANK. I am going to censure every mother's son of you. This here is the most disgraceful piece of legislation that was ever in any legislature in this country, that when these grave charges are made against one of your clerks that you will positively refuse to investigate him, and I think that it is a disgrace. I hope that we will have at some other time men who will stand up for the American liberty and the American woman's virtue.

FILLING VACANCY IN SOLDIERS' ORPHANS' SCHOOL COMMISSION.

The SPEAKER. The Chair desires to make an announcement to the House. The death of the Honorable John H. Riebel leaves a vacancy on the Commission of the Soldiers' Orphans' School for the term expiring the third Wednesday of January, 1915. Under the Act of Assembly, this appointment is vested in the Speaker of the House. The Chair appoints to this vacancy the gentleman from Philadelhia, Mr. Gray.

BILL ON SECOND READING.

Mr. JACKSON. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to call up, for the purpose of amendment, House Bill No. 888, entitled:

An Act designating the daisy as the floral emblem or State flower for this Commonwealth and fixing a day for the observance of the same.

bottom of page 2 of to-day's Calendar, Bills on Second Reading Postponed for the Present.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent for the consideration of this bill at this time? The Chair hears no objections, and consent it granted.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in committee of the whole being in this case dispensed with.

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 888, entitled:

An Act designating the daisy as the floral emblem or State flower for this Commonwealth and fixing a day for the observance of the same

The first section of the bill was read and agreed to as follows:

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the blue violet shall be the State flower or floral emblem of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania

The second section of the bill was read as follows:

Section 2 The fourteenth day of June in each year shall be known as Daisy Day and be celebrated accordingly

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SAVACOOL. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Section 2, line 2, by striking out the word "Daisy" and inserting in lieu thereof the words 'Blue Violet"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

The section as amended was then agreed to.

The preamble was then read and agreed to as follows:

Whereas, The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is one among the eight states of the United States which have up to the presnt time failed or neglected to adopt some form of floral emblem or state flower and

Whereas, The adoption of some emblem as aforesaid would inculcate patriotism in the school children of the State therefore

The title of the bill was read as follows:

An Act designating the daisy as the floral emblem or State flower for this Commonwealth and fixing a day for the observance of the same

On the question,

Will the House agree to the title?

Mr. SAVACOOL. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend the title by striking out the word 'Daisy" and inserting in lieu thereof the words "Blue Violet."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

The title as amended was then agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second tiem and agreed to, as amended,

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of H. R. Bill No. 794, as follows:

An Act making it unlawful for any person firm or corporation to use the word Consul or Consulate or the coat of arms of a foreign country for exhibition display or advertising purposes and providing a penalty therefor

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That from and after the passage of this act any person firm or corporation in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania who for exhibition display or advertisement purposes shall use the word Consul or Consulate or any derivative or equivalent thereof in any language or the coat of arms of any foreign nation or any simulation thereof for like purpose tending to convey the impression that the business so advertised has official relation to any foreign government shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars or by imprisonment for not more than one year either or both in the discretion of the court provided the provisoion of this act shall not apply to a consular official of a foreign nation or county duly accredited to any city in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. EHRHARDT. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed third reading be reconsidered, for the purpose of making an amendment to correct a typographical error.

Mr. WILTBANK. I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. EHRHARDT. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Section 1, line 14, strike out the letter "o" in the word which should be "provision."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to insert the amendment as read? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none and the amendment as read will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

The bill as amended was then agreed to.

The SPEAKER. The amendment consisting simply of striking out, the bill will now be put upon final passage.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The Private Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented the following communictions in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, which were read as follows, viz:

APPROVAL OF HOUSE BILL NO. 277.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, March 20, 1913.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen:—I have the honor to advise you that I have this day approved and signed House Bill No. 277, entitled "An Act to prohibit the making or dissemination of false or misleading statements or assertions concerning any merchandise securities or services and providing penalties for the violation thereof."

(Signed) JOHN K. TENER.

APPROVAL OF HOUSE BILL NO. 51.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, March 20, 1913.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen:—I have the honor to advise you that I have this day approved and signed House Bill No. 51, entitled "An Act to repeal sections eight, nine, ten, eleven, twelve, thirteen, fourteen, fifteen, sixteen and seventeen of an act approved the twenty-sixth day of February, one thousand eight hundred fifty-three, entitled 'An Act authorizing the laying out of a State road from Ayr township in Fulton county to Warren township in Franklin county, and relating to the collection of taxes in Franklin county."

(Signed) JOHN K. TENER.

APPROVAL OF CONCURRENT RESOLUTION.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, March 20, 1913.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen:—I have the honor to advise you that I have this day approved and signed Concurrent Resolution from the Senate and House of Representatives, recalling from the Governor, for the purpose of amendment, House Bill No. 11, entitled "An Act to provide for an additional law judge of the several courts of the forty-seventh judicial district.

(Signed) JOHN K. TENER.

Mr. BLELOCH. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to call up at this time from page 7 of to-days' Calendar, House Bill No. 1106.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the calling up of this bill out of order? Is there any objection?

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker there was a special reason for the calling up of the previous bill out of order, but in justice to the other members of the House, I do not think we should discriminate by calling up bills out of order. In justice to all the members, I think we should follow the Calendar.

The SPEAKER. It has been the observation of the Chair in this and previous sessions that the House can make more rapid and satisfactory progress in the work of the House by following the Calendar. The Chair hears objections, and the bill will not be taken up at this time.

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of H. R. bill No. 504, as follows:

An Act fixing the duties and liabilities of employers of aliens with respect to the assessment and collection of taxes against such aliens and providing penalties for the violation thereof

Whereas, Aliens residing within the State are liable to taxation equally with citizens, and

Whereas, The act of June seven one thousand eight hundred and ninety-seven prescribes a method of collecting taxes from aliens and the act of March thirty, one thousand nine hundred and eleven, makes an unnaturalized foreign born resident subject to taxation in the same manner as citizens of this Commonwealth, and

Whereas, Said act of June seven, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-seven, requiring employers of aliens to deduct from their wages when notified by the tax collector the taxes assessed against such alien employes is not practically effective for the reason that the collector is required to furnish the names of such taxables and often neither the collector nor the assessor is able to thus designate such alien or aliens, therefore

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That from and after the passage of this act all corporations associations companies firms or individuals employing persons who are not citizens of the United States shall immediately upon the employment of such persons obtain the name age and place of residence or intended residence of each of them and on or before the first day of October of each year furnish under oath to the assessor or assessars of the districts in which said aliens reside a full and complete list of the same

Section 2 The proper authorities of any county borough township or school district or other authority for the levying of any tax may upon the levy of any tax serve written notice upon any such employer of aliens such notice containing the names of such aliens and the tax assessed against each and such employer is hereby authorized to deduct such taxes from the wages of such employes In all cases where such notice shall be duly served the employer shall be liable to such tax levying authority for the taxes assessed against each and every of the employes mentioned in said notice who shall at the time of the service of said notice and for fiften (15) days thereafter be in the employ of such employer

Section 3 All such employers of aliens upon notice and certificate from the county treasurer or any collector or county State borough or township taxes are hereby required to deduct from the wages or earnings of each alien named in such notice the taxes thus certified and pay the same to such treasurer or collector within thirty (30) days after the service of such notice and certificate Provided however that at the time of the levy of such tax the tax-levying authority shall have mailed to each of said taxables a notice setting forth the fact of the levy of such tax the amount of same where payable and that the same is liable to be deducted from his wages

Section 4 Any corporation association company firm or individual failing to furnish the list of names or to deduct and pay over any tax as required by this act shall forfeit and pay double the amount of the tax for each and every taxable whose name is not returned as above required or whose taxes are not withheld and paid over as herein directed to be recovered by action of assumpsit as debts of like amount are now recoverable at the suit of the county borough township school district or other tax-levying authority to which such taxes are payable

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up from yesterday's Calendar, Bills Postponed on Third Reading, from page 30, Bill No. 949, file folio 1089, entitled:

An Act to give commissioners of public parks in cities of the first class the same powers and control over grounds committed to their care and management by the councils of said cities or by individuals as they have over public parks placed in their charge by law

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 949, entitled:

An Act to give commissioners of public parks in cities of the first class the same powers and control over grounds committed to their care and management by the councils of said cities or by individuals as they have over public parks placed in their charge by law

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, this bill is the bill that I was requested by the gentlemen composing the Park Commission of Philadelphia to present. It is drawn by their counsel, Mr. George Wharton Pepper, and merely gives their park guards the same as the police authority over that ground the same as over other grounds, which was given to the park from time to time for park purposes, and they feared that the park guards otherwise had no authority over that ground.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION REQUESTING THE REPRESENTATIVES IN CONGRESS FROM PENNSYLVANIA TO SECURE APPROPRIATION FOR MRS. ELIZABETH GLANCY AND MRS. ANNIE M'COLGAN ON ACCOUNT OF THE DEATH OF THEIR HUSBANDS WHILE EMPLOYED AT THE FRANKFORD ARSENAL.

Mr. NULTY offered resolution, which was twice read as follows:

Whereas, By an explosion at the Frankford Arsenal of the United States Government, at Philadelphia one Patrick Glancy and Peter McColgan lost their lives in the course of their employment in said Arsenal, and

Whereas, The widows of those men, namely Mrs. Elizabeth Glancy and Mrs. Annie McColgan, were left without adequate support for themselves and their small children, and

Whereas, These women have never been indemnified for the loss of their said husbands; therefore

Be it Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur) That the Representatives in Congress from Pennsylvania be respectfully requested to secure appropriate legislation to reimburse the said Mrs. Elizabeth Glancy and Mrs. Annie McColgan for the loss sustained by them through the death of their husbands while in the employ of the United States Government at the said Frankford Arsenal, at Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

Mr. NULTY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39 be suspended in order that the resolution may be considered at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the House of Representatives accordingly.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION URGING THE REPRESENTATIVES IN CONGRESS FROM PENNSYLVANIA TO SECURE APPROPRIATION FOR THE CONSTRUCTION OF BUILDINGS AT THE FRANKFORD ARSENAL.

Mr. NULTY offered the following resolution, which was twice read, as follows:

Whereas, The work for the United States Government in the Frankford Arsenal, at Philadelphia, requires the construction of a magazine and a high explosive shop, to cost approximately forty thousand dollars ($40,000), which would replace inadequate, unsanitary and unsafe buildings now used for the purpose, therefor

Be it Resolved (If the House of Representatives concur) That the attention of the Representatives in Congress from Pennsylvania is hereby invited to the need for said buildings and said Representatives are hereby respectfully urged to secure the appropriation of funds at the forthcoming session of Congress for the construction of said buildings as recommended by the Secretary of War.

Mr. NULTY. Mr. President. I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39 be suspended in order that the resolution may be considered at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the House of Representatives accordingly.

INVITATION TO ATTEND THE GRADUATING EXERCISES AT THE UNITED STATES INDIAN SCHOOL AT CARLISLE.

The Chair cleared his table and laid before the Senate communication, which was read as follows:

UNITED STATES INDIAN SCHOOL.
Carlisle, Pa.

March 20, 1913.

Mr. Daniel Gerberich,
Speaker, The Pennsylvania Senate,
Harrisburg, Pa.

My Dear Senator:

I desire to extend to you and through you to the Senate of Pennsylvania an earnest invitation to be present at our graduating exercises, which are held from March thirtieth to April fourth, inclusive. A formal invitation and card, which is sent to you herewith, will give an idea of the various events.

If I could be informed beforehand of your desires in this matter and of the probable number who will attend, I would gladly arrange to send you tickets.

The Carlisle Indian School is under great obligation to the State of Pennsylvania for a most helpful spirit of friendships, and I feel very confident that your Members will find the exercises of interest and value. If I can be informed in the matter or if there could be some way in which the announcement could be made, I shall send tickets and reserve seats.

Very sincerely yours,

M. FRIEDMAN.
Superintendent.

Mr. GERBERICH. Mr. President, I move that the invitation just read be accepted.

Mr. BEIDLEMAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 630, entitled:

An Act fixing the salary of the Second Assistant State Librarian.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HERBST. Mr. President, this bill increases the salary of the Second Assistant Librarian of the State from $1500 to $2000. The Librarian, if I understand correctly, gets $4,500, the First Assistant, $2,500, and the Second Assistant, $1,500 at present. Now, I should like to know whether the duties of this Second Assistant Librarian of the State of Pennsylvania have become so much more onerous, and the work of the office so much increased that we ought at this time increase the salary by $500. I am in the dark on the subject. I shall vote against the bill unless I am more enlightened as to whether the work has become more onerous in the State Library. If a second assistant librarian cannot be obtained that is capable of doing the work at $1,500, and if the work is so much harder, I might be convinced, but otherwise, I should like to know why the salary of this office ought to be increased by $500 before I am ready to vote on this bill.

Mr. BEIDLEMAN. Mr. President, the salary of the Second Assistant Librarian has not been changed in twenty-five years. Two years ago the Senate passed almost unanimously, and the House by a large majority, a bill providing for an increase in the salary of the Second Assistant Librarian to $2,400. It was sent to the Governor for his approval and he thought the amount contained in the bill was too high. I believe he indicated his willingness to approve a bill at that time providing it carried a salary not exceeding $2,200. Before I presented this bill I took the matter up with the State Librarian and was advised by him that the Second Assistant Librarian was properly entitled to a salary of two thousand dollars and because of this conversation which I had with him—going over the amount of work which the Second Assistant Librarian has to do—I introduced this bill.

The Second Assistant Librarian is one of the three men connected with the State Library under bond. The head of the Department of Public Records receives $2,000, the man who is in charge of another department receives $2,000, and the Second Assistant Librarian, who is in charge of both of them, is receiving but $1,500, and in light of the fact that two years ago this Senate agreed to a bill carrying with it a salary of $2,400, it seems to me in view of all the circumstances, $2,000 is not too much to pay to the Second Assistant Librarian, and I hope the Senate will pass this bill.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in committee of the whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 626, (House Bill No. 735), as follows:

An Act to amend an act entitled "An Act to authorize incorporated cemetery or burial associations to purchase other grounds and to sell and convey in fee simple such portions of their lands not used or conveyed by them for burial purposes or which may have been re-conveyed to them" approved the twenty-sixth day of May Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one with its amendments providing for and authorizing the several courts of quarter sessions of the several counties of this Commonwealth upon petition of the managers officers and other persons to make orders and decrees for the removal of all bodies interred in such burial grounds or cemeteries belonging to any incorporated or unincorporated church cemetery or burial association and to provide for the purchase of new lots the cost of the removal of such bodies and compensation to the owners of the lot or lots therein and the sale of the ground

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That section one of an act entitled "An Act to authorize incorporated cemetery or burial associations to purchase other grounds and to sell and convey in fee simple such portions of their lands not used or conveyed by them for burial purposes or which may have been re-conveyed to them" approved the twenty-sixth day of May Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one with its amendments which reads as follows

"That whenever any incorporated or unincorporated church cemetery or burial association owns ground located wholly or in part in any city township or borough in this Commonwealth and by reason of the growth thereof and the consequent increasing number of interments as well as for sanitary purposes it is deemed necessary or desirable in the opinion of the said church cemetery or burial association to change the location therof or if by reason of the opening of streets roads or public passages around or through the same a portion of their property has become angular and partially surrounded by improvements making it necessary or advisable to circumscribe the area and remove the dead to other parts thereof or if by reason of the proximity of adjacent property the further interment of the dead may in the interest of public health be prohibited in any part or parts of the grounds belonging to any church cemetery or burial association aforesaid it shall be lawful for such incorporated or unincorporated church cemetery or burial association and they are hereby authorized and empowered to purchase new and more suitable ground in the vicinity of such extent and area as they shall deem expedient for the burial of the dead and to purchase from the holders of lots in their own grounds the said lots whether interments have been made in them or not and to provide for the re-interment of bodies that may be buried in any of the lots so purchased by them And the board of managers trustees or other officials in whom is vested the management of the affairs of such church cemetery or burial association are also hereby authorized and empowered to contract and agree with the owners of the lots in which interments have been made to remove from the said lots the dead to such new locations or other part of the grounds appropriated or selected for their interment upon such terms as may or can be mutually agreed upon And in case any bodies have been interred in single graves and the relatives of the deceased or the holders of the lots in which the interments are made cannot after diligent search by the said board of managers trustees or other officials be found such bodies may be removed by the aforesaid managing officials to other places of interment in the grounds of the said church cemetery or burial association in which the bodies are interred if the expense of such removals enclosures and improvements be borne by the said church cemetery or burial association and upon the said removals being made the ground from which the bodies so removed shall revert to and become the property of the church cemetery or burial association making such removal and be taken and considered as if the same had never been sold by the said church cemetery or burial association for the purpose of interment or any other purpose whatsoever And in case the holders of lots in which no interments have been made cannot after diligent search by the managing officials above mentioned be found then the said managing officials may in their discretion assign to the said owners other parts of their grounds equal in value to the said lots the owners of which cannot be found or the said managing officials may set apart or hold in trust for the owners of said lots who cannot be found a sum not less than the original price paid for said lots by the said owners and shall hold and securely keep the said sum so set apart for the benefit of said owners to be paid to them whenever they shall call for the same thereupon as soon as lots equal in value have been set apart or marked on the books of the said church cemetery or burial association as having been assigned to the said owners who cannot be found or as soon as the said managing officials shall set apart the sum above mentioned for the benefit of said owners then and in that case the lots originally held by said owners shall revert to and become the property of the church cemetery or burial association in whose grounds the same are located as if the same had never been sold for the purpose of interment or any other purpose whatsoever And such incorporated or unincorporated church cemetery or burial association is hereby further authorized and empowered to sell and convey in fee simple and unrestricted as to use all such portions of their lands not used or conveyed by them for burial purposes or which shall have been reconveyed to them or shall have reverted or become acquired by them as hereinbefore authorized and from which all bodies shall have been removed and to make grant and deliver in the customary form a deed or deeds for the same to the purchaser or purchasers free clear and discharged of any use trust or limitation whatsoever" be and the same is hereby amended so as to read or burial association aforesaid or from other causes any burial ground belonging to or in charge of any incorporated or unincorporated church cemetery or burial association has ceased to be used for interments or has become so neglected as to become a public nuisance or that the remains of bodies interred in any such neglected or disused cemetery in any city township or borough interfere with and hinder the improvements extensions and general progressive interest of any city township or borough it shall be lawful for such incorporated or unincorporated church cemetery or burial association and they are hereby authorized and empowered to purchase new and more suitable grounds in the vicinity of such city township or borough of such extent and area as they shall deem expedient or to purchase lots or sections in other property regulated burial ground or cemetery in the vicinity of such city township or borough for the burial of the dead and to purchase from the holders of lots in their own grounds the said lots whether interments have been made in them or not and provide for the reinterment of bodies that may be buried in any of the lots so purchased by them And the board of managers trustees or other officials in whom is vested the management of the affairs of such incorporated or unincorporated church cemetery or burial association are also hereby authorized and empowered to contract and agree with the owners of the lots in which interments have been made to remove from said lots the dead to such new locations upon such terms as may or can be mutually agreed upon And in case any bodies have been interred in lots in such cemetery or cemeteries and the owners of the lots in which the interments are made cannot after diligent search by the board of managers trustees or other officials be found such bodies may be removed by the aforesaid managing officials to lots in such grounds so purchased by said Incorporated or unincorporated church cemetery or burial association or to lots or sections in other properly regulated burial grounds or cemetery in the vicinity of such city township or borough and interred therein the expense of such removal and interment enclosures and improvements to be borne by such incorporated or unincorporated church cemetery or burial association and upon such removal being made the ground from which the bodies are so removed shall be deemed and considered vacated for burial purposes and revert to and become the property of such incorporated or unincorporated church cemetery or burial association making such removal and be taken and considered the same as if said lot or lots had never been sold by the said church cemetery or burial association for the purpose of interment or any other purpose whatsoever And in case the holders of lots in which no interments have been made cannot after diligent search by the managing officials above mentioned be found then the managing officials may in their discretion assign to said owner parts of the ground so purchased equal in value to the said lots the owners of which cannot be found or assign to such owners lots of equal value in other properly regulated burial ground or cemetery in the vicinity of such city township or borough or the said managing officials may set apart or hold in trust for the owners of said lots who cannot be found a sum not less than the original price paid for said lots by the owner and shall hold and securely keep the said sum so set apart for the benefit of the said owners and pay to them whenever they may call for same and thereupon whenever lots of equal value shall have been set apart on the books of said incorporated or unincorporated church cemetery or burial association as having been assigned to said owners who cannot be found in the new and more suitable ground so purchased or in a properly regulated burial ground or cemetery in the vicinity of such city borough or township or as soon as the said managing officials shall set apart a sum equal to the price paid for said lots the owners of which cannot be found for the benefit of said owners then and in that case the lots heretofore held by said COMMUNICATIONS FROM THE GOVERNOR.

Section 1 That whenever any incorporated or unincorporated church cemetery or burial association owns ground wholly or in part in any city township or borough in this Commonwealth and by reason of the growth thereof as well as for sanitary purposes it is deemed necessary or desirable in the opinion of the said church cemetery or burial association to change the location thereof or if by reason of the opening of streets roads or public passages around or through the same a portion of the property has become angular and partly surrounded by improvements or if by reason of the proximity of adjacent property the interment of the dead may in the interest of public health be prohibited in any part or parts of the ground belonging to any incorporated or unincorporated church cemetery

APPROVAL OF SENATE BILL NO. 45.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.
Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, March 20, 1913.
To the Honorable the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen:—I have the honor to advise you that I have this day approved and signed Senate Bill No. 45, entitled "An Act for the better protection of the wild birds known as the Turtle or Mourning Dove the Kill-Deer Plover and the bird commonly called the Black-bird in Pennsylvania and prescribing penalties for violation of its provisions."

JOHN K. TENER.

APPROVAL OF SENATE BILL NO. 55.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.
Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, March 20, 1913.
To the Honorable the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen:—I have the honor to advise you that I have this day approved and signed Senate Bill No. 55 entitled "A Joint Resolution extending the time for the making of the report by the Commission appointed for the purpose of investigating and reporting upon a proper and safe construction of buildings within this Commonwealth."

JOHN K. TENER.

APPROVAL OF SENATE BILL NO. 123.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.
Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, March 20, 1913.
To the Honorable the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen:—I have the honor to advise you that I have this day approved and signed Senate Bill No. 123, entitled "An Act to repeal the second section of an act approved the eighth day of February one thousand eight hundred sixty-five entitled 'An Act relating to the pay of certain officers and of jurors and witnesses in the County of Bucks' and also to repeal an act approved the twenty-seventh day of February one thousand eight hundred seventy-three entitled 'An Act relative to the pay of jurors in the County of Bucks.'"

JOHN K. TENER.

VETO OF SENATE BILL NO. 106.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.
Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, March 20, 1913.
To the Honorable the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen:—I return herewith, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 106, entitled:

"An Act to amend an act approved the twenty-third day of May one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine entitled 'An Act providing for the incorporation and government of cities of the third class,' validating all acts and proceedings commenced under the section which is amended."

Section 2 of this bill validates all proceedings commenced under the section of the prior act amended by the bill, but the bill goes substantially farther than this in that, in the first section thereof, a method is prescribed for the chartering of cities of the third class, which is materially different from the method prescribed by the section of the prior act amended. In my judgment the title of the bill, containing as it does, reference only to the validating provisions of said section 2, to the exclusion of the subject of section 1, does not contain that clear expression of the subject of the bill which is required by the Constitution and is misleading. The provisions of section 2 of the bill may also so operate as to amount to special legislation, prohibited by the Constitution.

For those reasons the bill is not approved.

JOHN K. TENER.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass, the objection of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. MCNICHOL. Mr. President, I move that the question, together with the further consideration of this bill, be postponed for the present.

Mr. CROW. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM THE GOVERNOR.

He also laid before the Senate communications from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, filed with the Chief Clerk during the interim, which were read as follows:

MOTION FOR EXECUTIVE SESSION.

Mr. McNICHOL. Mr. President. I ask unanimous consent that Rule 38. which requires nominations made by the Governor to be referred to proper committees, be dispensed with, and that the Senate do now resolve itself into Executive Session for the purpose of acting upon the nominations just received.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objections?

Mr. HERBST. Mr. President, will the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. McNichol. permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McNICHOL. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. HERBST. Mr. President, are these nominations that were made during the interim, between the sessions of the Legislature

Mr. McNICHOL. Mr. President; yes, sir.

Mr. HERBST. Mr. President, I do not want to be captious or object, but I think we ought to have at least twenty-four hours to consider them. I do not think it would work any hardship on anybody and I think it would look a little more as though we were trying to look into all these nominations.

Mr. McNICHOL. Mr. President, I withdraw the motion.

The PRESIDENT. The nominations just received from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, with the exception of those for registration commissioners in the cities of Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Scranton, are referred to the Committee on Judiciary General. Those for registration commissioners in said cities are referred to the Committee on Elections.

BILL ON FIRST READING.

Mr. CATLIN. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 735. entitled:

An Act authorizing and empowering cities and boroughs in their corporate capacity to enact ordinances, prescribing such reasonable regulations for the mining of anthracite coal beneath said cities and boroughs as may tend to prevent the settling or caving in of the surface.

be read the first time.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the first reading and consideration of Senate bill No. 735, entitled:

An Act authorizing and empowering cities and boroughs, in their corporate capacity, to enact ordinances prescribing such reasonable regulations for the mining of anthracite coal beneath said cities and boroughs as may tend to prevent the settling or caving in of the surface.

And said bill having been read at length the first time.

Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES.

Mr. BEIDLEMAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. BEIDLEMAN. from the Committee on Banks and Building and Loan Associations, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 658, entitled:

The House met at 8:00 o'clock P. M.

The SPEAKER (George E. Alter) in the Chair.

The Chaplain, Rev. J. E. Wright, offered the following prayer:

O God, Thou art the hope of our hearts, the inspiration and strength of our lives. We humbly and reverntly bow before Thee, acknowldging Thy guardianship and guidance since last we sat in this Hall of the Assembly. Thou hast kept us by the way Thou hast brought us to our places; Thou hast set before us our dignified duties and our responsible work; Thou hast assured us of the help we so constantly need. May we take Thee into our counsels and defer to Thy will in all that we do. Bless this great Commonwealth with its diversified interests, with its cities and villages, with its hamlets and homes, its teeming population of earnest people, and its rushing, impetuous life.

Bless all departments of the government,—the executive department, bless Thy servant the Governor and all associated with him in the administration of the State affairs. And Thy servants the judges, may they be wise, and temperate, and restrained, and sober, and impartial, and just. And the legislative assemblies,—the Senate with its presiding officer, and the Assembly with its Speaker. And grant Lord that all these departments of the government may cooperate together and defer to Thy will and to the will of the people so that all that is done shall be wise and good and for the highest interest of the Commonwealth, and Thy name shall have the praise of it forever. Amen.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of proceedings of Thursday, March 20, 1913.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when on motion of Mr. Mannion the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The Private Secretary of the Governor being introduced, presented the following communication from the Governor, which was read as follows, viz:

VETO OF HOUSE BILL NO. 45.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.
Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, March 20, 1913.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Gentlemen:—I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 456, entitled:

"An Act directing the Legislative Reference Bureau to prepare a compilation or digest of the existing general laws of this Commonwealth fixing the powers and duties of the Bureau therein fixing the compensation of the assistant director and making an appropriation therefor."

This bill provides that an official compilation or digest of the laws of the Commonwealth be prepared by the Legislative Reference Bureau, in which compilation it is provided that such general laws 'shall be simplified, condensed, harmonized, clarified, etc." A so-called official digest of this character would not be a more authorative collection of the laws than that contained in the very excellent digests of the statutes of the State now existing, and might lead to misunderstanding and confusion, by reason of the attempt to give it a so-called official character. In my judgment, the value of such a digest would not justify the expenditure of the public money which its preparation would entail. Aside from these considerations, the declarations contained in the preamble of this bill are wholly unnecessary and most improper.

For these reasons the bill is not approved.

(Signed) JOHN K. TENER.

On the question,

Shall the bill become a law the objections of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I am very much surprised at the action of the Governor in regard to this bill. I talked to a great many lawyers of the highest standing before I introduced this bill, and after I introduced that bill, I talked to many lawyers of standing. I have talked to many members of the House and to citizens in general, and everywhere, without a dissenting voice, I have found a unanimity of opinion that this codification of the laws suggested in this bill is a matter of great necessity and of the highest moment to the State. No opposition appeared in the House; no opposition appeared in the Senate, and yet the Governor, for no reasons that appeared except those expressed in his message, saw fit to prevent this bill from becoming a law. Suppose we analyze the reasons which he has suggested. He suggests that the preamble to the bill is improper. If there had been a single suggestion from His Excellency that he objected to the preamble, of course there would have been introduced a resolution recalling the bill from the Governor and amendments would have been made to the preamble. He suggests that the excellent non-official digest which we have is sufficient. I hope you will digest that suggestion,—the excellent non-official digest which we have. Just for a moment I wish to explain actually what the bill was intended to do. I believe from the wording of the Governor's message that he has totally failed to understand the purposes and intent of the bill. Now all of you who are lawyers, and many of you who are not, realize that through the course of the centuries that the laws of the State of Pennsylvania have been piling up, amended and reamended until at present they are in a condition of almost inextricable confusion. The only paths that lead through this confusion are not the official acts of the State, but are simply non-official digests or compilations made by private interests to aid searchers to find out what the law really is. You all know that everybody in the State is bound to know the law. It is no excuse for him, no matter how complicated or hard it is for him to know what the law is. The State owes it to the people to make the law as easy to discover as it is possible. If that were all, that might perhaps be done by the non-official digest. But the need has been felt from time to time for a codification and a symplification of the various principles of law. We have had before us various propositions of this kind. For instance, just tonight the Speaker presented to the House the report of the committee to codify the anthracite mining laws. We have before us now a resolution for the codification of the criminal laws. We have another bill providing for the codification of the laws of the Orphans' Court. We have also one for the uniform codification of the divorce laws. Lately a large report was made to the House for the codification of the revenue and corporation laws, and last session we had a law which codified the school laws. These are just a few, and I have not taken the time to make a catalogue of them all. The need for this is apparent, but we never get it unless some special interest is enough interested in one branch of the law to force a bill through. Every time it goes through, the work is done twice, the work is done over. Why then not do the whole thing in a systematic way? We have a department of the State Library that is peculiarly qualified and equipped to do this work, and it is my belief that we could set that bureau at work tracing the law and find out everything about the laws, together with a search of the decisions of the Supreme Court to find out the decision regarding the different laws, and keep this information together, and then in future sessions of the Legislature, it would be possible for us to take up these suggestions one by one; and in the light of the careful work done by the bureau, we could gradually enact chapter after chapter into law. By such action we could have a codification, a single codification and have our statute books similar to those of the United States, a revised statute, or a revised statute similar to those of a progressive state. That would put that bureau in possession of all the facts regarding the law, and when any person wanted to find out what the law was, a complete understanding could be given upon such inquiry being made. There is nothing in this law that suggests anything that should be done. The purpose is simply to go over the whole body of the law with the idea of looking at it from a single point, in order that the laws may be made to harmonize. It cannot make any suggestions to be enacted into a law. It has not the power to change a single letter in any law, or a single word, but it is simply to find out what the present law is, and make that information available for the use of the Legislature and the people. I believe if this had been understood, the Governor would not have vetoed the bill, and I ask every member to vote to have this bill become a law notwithstanding the Governor's veto. Mr. Speaker, lest the members should misunderstand the question, everybody in favor of the bill will vote aye, and those opposed will vote no.

The question recurring,

Shall the bill become a law the objections of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

SENATE MESSAGE.

AMENDED HOUSE BILL RETURNED FOR CONCURRENCE.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, returned bill from the House of Representatives, numbered and entitled as follows:

House Bill No. 529,

An Act making an appropriation to cover the deficiency incurred in the care treatment and maintenance of the indigent insane of the Commonwealth during the period of five years beginning March first one thousand nine hundred and nine and ending May thirty-first one thousand nine hundred and thirteen with information that the Senate has passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the House of Representatives is requested:

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

In line three of the title, strike out the word "two" and insert the word "five" also strike out the word "June" and insert the word "March".

In section one, line four, strike out the word "four" and insert the word "seven." Also, strike out the word "seventy" and insert "twenty." In line five, strike out ("$470,000") and insert $720,000. In line eight, strike out the word "two" and insert the word "five." Also strike out the word "June" and insert the word "March." In line nine, strike ou the word "eleven" and insert the word "nine."

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Mr. NORTH. Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Jefferson, Mr. North.

Mr. NORTH. Mr. Speaker, I wish to offer a word of explanation in regard to this bill at this time, relative to the Senate amendment of $250,000, which was added after the bill had left the House and had gone into the Senate. Owing to the fact that the Supreme Court in rendering a decision as to the care of indigent insane making the State liable for their care instead of counties; owing to this decision being given, it was necessary then to increase this appropriation which was done in the Senate and they added this amount something like two hundred and fifty or seventy-five thousand dollars.

On the question, recurring

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

RESOLUTION STRICKEN FROM CALENDAR.

Mr. WILTBANK. Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Wiltbank.

Mr. WILTBANK. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to call up Resolution No. 23, from the last page of to-day's Calendar, as follows:

Resolved, That a committee be appointed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives to investigate the printing and keeping of the Legislative Journal and whether it is advisable to continue the same or not and the committee to report within ten days for the purpose of taking it off the Calendar.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the calling up of Resolution No. 23, on the last page of to-day's Calendar for the purpose of striking it off the Calendar? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none and consent is granted.

So ordered.

RESOLUTION RELATIVE TO APPOINTMENT.

Mr. HOBBS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following resolution:

The SPEAKER. The resolution will be ready by the Clerk.

The resolution was read as follows:

Whereas, There are a large number of bills pending in this General Assembly for consideration, and more than one half of the time of the average bi-ennial session having passed,

And Whereas, Frequent periods of the daily sessions have shown many of the chairs vacant, thereby making it difficult to proceed with business, and accomplish results,

Whereas, The Holiday season is now over, and the spring time is at hand,

Therefore Be It Resolved, That we, the members of this legislative body, endeavor to set the example, as suggested in a resolution offered by a member of the House to the members of the Senate, namely, that they be permitted to work five days per week,

Be It Further Resolved, That we, the members of the House, do work five days per week and as many periods of each day as shall be required to clear the calendars of all bills thereon, so that we may be able to complete the work and adjourn for the summer before the date of the next great holiday, occurring on May 30th, known as Memorial Day, in order that we may return to our respective homes to devote our time and energies to our business affairs, and enjoy the "Good Old Summer Time," among the hills and valleys of our Commonwealth.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the resolution be referred to the Committee on Rules.

Mr. AMBLER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

RESOLUTION STRICKEN FROM CALENDAR.

Mr. WILTBANK. Mr. Speaker, I call up Resolution No. 33, reported from the Committee on Judiciary Special tonight, and ask unanimous consent to have it stricken from the Calendar.

The SPEAKER. Is there any objection? The Chair hears none and it is so directed.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE.

Mr. J. H. YOUNG. Mr. Speaker, I wish to call up House Bill No. 276, File Folio 2641, which was defeated last Thursday on third reading, and move that we reconsider the vote by which this bill was defeated on third reading.

Mr. LETZKUS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

A division was called for, 71 voting in the affirmative and 31 in the negative.

The SPEAKER. Less than a quorum has voted. The Sergeant-at-arms will lock the doors. The Clerk will call the roll to ascertain the presence of a quorum.

The roll was called and the following gentlemen answered to their names:

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. NEWTON: Mr. Speaker, I move that further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. WHITMAN; Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE.

Mr. RUNK: Mr. SPEAKER, I move that the vote by which House Bill No. 31, entitled:

An Act to repeal an act approved the second day of May one thousand eight hundred and ninety-nine entitled "An Act to provide revenue by imposing a mercantile license tax on venders of or dealers in goods wares and merchandise and providing for the collection of said tax" together with the amendments thereof

Mr. ULERICH: Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I raise the point of order whether, there has not been five legislative days intervened since the bill was defeated.

The SPEAKER: The bill was defeated on the 17th inst., last Monday. The House was in session Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of last week. This will be the fourth day on which the House is in session.

The point of order is not sustained.

The question recurring,

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. R. J. BALDWIN and Mr. HEYBURN, and were as follows:

The question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. STEELE: Mr. Speaker, I move that further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. GEORGE C. IRWIN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN: Mr. Speaker, I object. This measure has been brought out to be tried again on the floor of the House after it was defeated. The claim was that a number of the members were not present at the time the vote was taken. They surely are here now, and I do not see why we cannot go ahead and vote on the bill now.

The question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. BALDWIN, R. J. and Mr. HEYBURN, were as follows:

Less than the majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the negative and the bill falls.

RESOLUTION RECALLING BILL FROM SENATE.

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer a resolution at this time.

The Speaker. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Roney, offers a resolution which will be read by the Clerk.

The resolution was read as follows:

Resolved, by the House of Representatives, (of the Senate concur), that House Bill No. 619, file folio No. 2619, passed on final passage Thursday, March 20th, and now in the Senate, be recalled for the purpose of amendment.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the resolution?

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to have the gentleman from Philadelphia inform us what amendment he desires to place in this bill.

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to strike out of this bill reference to cemeteries which is part of the substance of the bill of which no notice is given in the title.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, House Bill 619, you will find on file folio 2619. It refers to first class townships. The bill has been before the House for quite a time. The purpose of the bill is to extend to townships of the first class provisions that are now enjoyed by boroughs and cities. You recollect, I suppose, the other day in discussing this bill, I asked the gentleman from Philadelphia who was opposed to this bill, whether this particular language was not the same that was contained in our statutes relating to boroughs and cities? He didn't feel certain about the matter, although I was at the time. I didn't care to press it. I didn't have the statute at hand. I think the gentleman from Philadelphia has some neighbors or friends who are unduly alarmed about the provisions of this bill. We all realize that as communities become thickly populated it is absolutely necessary and essential that the authorities should have some control over cemeteries and burial grounds. That was observed very early in the history of our State and the principle has been observed as early as the year 1851 by the Legislature of Pennsylvania. The conditions that exist now in townships of the first class are similar and no doubt much more necessary in townships of the first class than they were at that time in boroughs of the State. By turning to page two of the bill, you will find in line eighteen this language, "cemeteries or places of burial" and further along in line nineteen, you will find this language, "to prohibit within the township, the burial or interment of deceased persons or within such partial limits within the same as they may from time to time prescribe and to regulate the depth of graves." Now, reading through the statute of 1851, I find that identical language. This act was known as 218 of the Pamphlet Laws of 1851. "to prohibit within the township of the burial of deceased persons or within such partial limits within the same as they may from time to time prescribe and to regulate the depth of graves." The gentleman who drew this bill, an attorney in my town, copied that exact language Now, in the first class townships, we considered that as one of the necessities of the time. It was found that thickly populated townships didn't have the necessary laws as were demanded by the conditions so our Legislature in its wisdom realized that where such conditions existed it would be necessary to either extend the laws applying to townships or ask for a division of the townships into two classes. The purpose of asking for two classes of townships was that in first class townships it could avoid the proposition of being divided up into boroughs. The Legislature in its wisdom thought that that was wise legislation and the townships of the first class when there were thickly populated districts and in other portions of the State where there are first class townships, made this necessary as the result of this thickly populated condition and amongst other things provided in this bill is that provision to have the identical power that the gentleman who represents that city of Philadelphia now enjoys; and what the gentleman from Philadelphia would not for one moment tolerate the repeal of nor do I believe that this House—I want to say, speaking for myself, I would not consider one moment taking away from the councils of the city of Philadelphia the powers controlled by them similar to those contained in this bill. I do not believe there is a member in this House who would consider for one moment taking away these powers from the boroughs of our State. Now the communities that have the conditions similar to those come to the legislature and in this act ask for like privileges, because they are living under like conditions. Now, there can be only one reason, there can be but one opposition to this bill, and that question is answered most conclusively by looking back over the history of our State; the reason for having an opposition to this bill is because certain cemetery companies feel that these commissioners might arbitrarily use their power and unnecessarily and without reason close the cemeteries. If the past history of our State demonstrated that that power had been used in that manner, then this Legislature should hestitate to pass a bill of that character, but I know of no place in the State, and I appeal to every member in this House, if he knows a borough in this State or a city in this State or a single individual who has ever found an abuse of that power; in other words, this power, has, in the past history of the State, been absolutely exercised with good judgment, considering always the conditions and the interests of the public in preference to the interests of an individual. Secondly, suppose this power be exercised and suppose some cemetery be closed. If there be loss, every member in this House knows that that cemetery company can go into any court in this State and ask to be recompensated for whatever loss so arising therefrom. You cannot do anything in this State for the public good that might effect an injury to any individual, that the laws of our State do not provide for the proper recompense to the injured individual. Now, that is all there is in this bill. My friend is unduly disturbed over the question of whether this power may be exercised wantonly and recklessly against cemetery corporations who are located in the city of Philadelphia. Now, I appeal to the House. Do not pass this resolution. Do not bring this bill back from the Senate. It passed the House without a single vote being registered against it. The bill passed the House unanimously, and those who were opposed to the bill were here. Nobody lobbied in the House for the bill. It passed without a single vote against it, in fact unanimously by this House, and now the gentleman, by this resolution, wants it brought back into the House and again be considered. I hope the House will not agree to the resolution, and if the Senate agree that the bill be a good one, which I think it will, it will then pass on to the Governor, and if signed by him when they become a law. It is a proper law. It is one of the powers which has been conferred upon our boroughs and cities, and in the history of our State, they have not a single instance of abuse. I hope the House will not agree to the resolution to call the bill back from the Senate.

Mr. SEMMENS. I do not think there is a gentleman in this House who could tell from reading the title of this bill what the contents are. I know I could not, and I voted for this bill. This bill provides for the regulation of cemeteries and things of that kind. I believe those rights are already conferred by an act approved May 14, 1909, and that the State Department of Health has charge of all burials throughout the State. The bill also goes on to say that the commissioners of any township can regulate burials. I think this bill should be amended and should be brought back.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to say to the gentleman that I will make every effort to have the title amended in the Senate if they agree to the bill, and I don't think it is necessary to have the bill brought back for the purpose of amendment and have the bill discussed again in this House.

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, this bill passed last Thursday just as the gentleman from Delaware says, without any dissenting vote. That was unquestionably because the title of the bill is no index to its contents or that would call the attention of the House to it. On the pink Calendar you will find that bill 141 is identical with this bill, except that it gives in the title notice of its contents, particularly as to regulating the depth of graves, et cetera, with certain townships. Now, that bill gave fair notice in the title of its contents and was considered by the Committee on Counties and Townships, the same Committee which considered this bill. That bill was reported to this House with a negative recommendation, and I think, therefore, it is only fair to assume that bill 141, considered by the Committee on Counties and Townships, giving full notice in its title of its contents, after due consideration was negatived by that Committee, and I think the reason the House voted unanimously for the bill on last Thursday—I was not here at the time—was because the title does not give any indication of what the contents of the bill were. I therefore say, gentleman, that this bill gives county commissioners higher legislative rights than are possessed by the city council of the city of Philadelphia, which has absolutely no power to prohibit burials within the city. It only provides that there shall be no cemetery established in Philadelphia. This bill, however, gives the township commissioners authority to prevent burials in cemeteries which are perhaps but one-twentieth filled, and then you cannot bury any person there. I think that the bill is bad, because if townships which are not so thickly populated as boroughs and cities, are to have this right, where are we going to give our deceased relatives Christian burial? Mr. Speaker, I say that bill 141, which was considered at length by the Committee on Counties and Townships, was reported negatively, and this bill, by reason of its title being defective, did not give adequate notice of the kind of a bill it was, therefore I ask that this bill come back to this House, in order that we may consider all its merits, and if you decide to pass it then, we can amend the bill here.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the resolution?

A division was called for, 86 voting in the affirmative and 41 in the negative.

And the resolution was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for its concurrence.

INVESTIGATION OF WESTERN PENITENTIARY.

Mr. GEORGE A. BALDWIN offered the following resolution, which was twice read and laid over under the rules:

In the House of Representatives, March 24, 1913.

Whereas, The General Assembly of Pennsylvania, by Act of Assembly approved the 30th day of March, 1911, appropriated the sum of three hundred thousand dollars for the purchase of a new site for the Western Penitentiary and work done toward the erection of new buildings; and,

Whereas, Various large sums of money have been appropriated and expended in the maintenance of the present Western Penitentiary at Pittsburgh; and,

Whereas, It is widely reported that the overhead expenses of said institution have been unnecessarily increased lately to the extent of thousands of dollars per annum, while the number of inmates there confined has decreased; and,

Whereas, In matters, other than financial, certain serious defects in the management of this institution have come to light, to wit:

It has become a matter of public record in the Courts of Allegheny County that unnatural crimes are frequently committed:

That it is the common practice of the Western Penitentiary to so distribute the prisoners received, that those convicted of unnatural crimes, and those who are afflicted with repulsive, infectious and contagious diseases are assigned places among the other inmates, the majority of whom are serving on their first conviction and are young men, thus giving opportunity for the continued commission of these unnatural crimes, and necessarily injuring many young men as a resultant of forced association with such demoralizing influences, giving occasion to frequent quarrels among the men and tending to the spread of diseases by reason of these men all being forced to eat at the same table, and drink out of the same vessels, etc.;

That prisoners are brutally, cruelly and inhumanly punished in some instances out of all proportion to the offense complained of;

That the parole act is not properly administered, and that injustice is often done in its partial administration, causing much complaint and unreast among the prisoners; and,

Whereas, It is alleged that, upon the published account of the report, that a resolution was to be introduced in the House of Representatives asking for an investigation of all State institutions, appearing in the Pittsburgh newspapers on January 10th, 1913, a department of accounts in the Western Peniteniary, known as he Invetnory Department, which prior to that date had been maintained showing all purchases and disbursements of supplies and materials in detail, was hastily discontinued and in the night-time all records were taken therefrom and destroyed; and,

Whereas, It is essential that this House should have full knowledge of the operations and expenditures of this institution, to know whether or not the reports circulated and statements made, that the financial conditions of the Western Penientiary are in a very serious state, and that a very considerable shortage exists, are true, in order that it may be enabled to consider intelligently legislative matters affecting said institution; and,

Whereas, As result of the statements which have been made and the reports circulated, public sentiment imperatively demands that all the transactions connected with the management, maintenance and conduct of said institution should be fully investigated,

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved, That the Speaker of House of Representatives be, and he hereby is authorized and directed to, at once, apppoint a committee of five, no more than two of whom shall be members of any one political party, to make a ful investigation of all the circumstances and transactions connected with the conduct and management of said institution. That said invesigation cover fully all matters pertaining to both the old institution in Pittsburgh and the new one located in Center County, including all contracts let and the manner of letting said contracts, all moneys expended and the manner of expending said moneys, and such other matters pertaining to the conduct, management, construction, erection and furnishing both institutions as may to said committee seem pertinent. That said committee is hereby direced to organize forthwith, to summon witnesses, and for the purpose of this inquiry they are hereby authorized and empowered to issue subpoenas, administer oaths and compel the attendance of witnesses and the production of all books, bills, cheques, cheque-books, papers, minutes, records, letters and contracts, and such other written and documentary evidence as may be pertinent to the inquiry. And the said committee shall make a full report in writing to the House of the result of their investigation, with full findings of facts and recommendations not later than April 14, 1913.

SUPPLEMENTAL REPORT FROM THE COMMITTEE UPON COMMITTEES.

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following supplemental report from the Committee Upon Committees:

The SPEAKER. The report will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk read the report as follows:

We, the undersigned Committee Upon Committees, hereby recommend the appointment of George Sommer, Jr., 1510 Fair-with the following resignation attached thereto:

Mr. Thos. H. Garvin,

Dear Sir:—I hereby send you my resignation as Assistant Sergeant-at-Arms, to take effect March 31, 1913.

Very truly yours,

(Signed,) CHARLES OURAM.

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I move the adoption of the report.

Mr. WILTBANK. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS INTRODUCED.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN asked and received unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time, which was ordered handed to the Clerk.

Mr. FAHEY asked and received unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time, which was ordered handed to the Clerk.

BILL PLACED ON CALENDAR.

Mr. CARTER. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 303, entitled:

An Act to promote the safety of the traveling public and employees on railroads by regualting the appointment of persons to the positions of conductor flagman and locomotive engineman by the railroad companies and fixing a penalty for violation thereof be placed upon the calendar, notwithstanding the negative report of the Committee on Railroads.

Mr. CLEARY. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The SPEAKER. The question is on the adoption of the motion to place the bill upon the calendar.

The yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

RESOLUTION NO. 31.

Mr. KITTS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time Resolution No. 31.

The SPEAKER. The resolution will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk then read the resolution as follows:

Whereas, Many resolutions of little import have taken a great deal of time of this Assembly, and,

Whereas, The House of Representatives seems to have been exposed to an epidemic for the introduction of resolutions and the exploiting of investigations, and,

Whereas, It will become necesary in the near future for this Assembly to get down to business and pass a few laws, therefore be it

Resolved, That Monday, March twenty-fourth, be and is hereby designated as the last day for the introduction of fool resolutions and for the introduction of such other resolutions caling for investigations into the several offices and departments of this Commonwealth.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the adoption of the resolution?

Mr. KITTS. Mr. Speaker, I move that this resolution be referred to the Committee on Rules.

Mr. GOOD. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL PLACED ON CALENDAR.

Mr. GEORGE K. YOUNG. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 899, entitled:

An Act to amend an act entitled "An Act to regulate and improve the civil service of the cities of the first class in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania making violations of its provisions to be a misdemeanor and providing penalties for violations thereof" approved the fifth day of March one thousand nine hundred and six be placed upon the calendar notwithstanding the negative recommendation of the Committee on Municipal Corporations.

Mr. SPILLINGER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question.

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. GRAMLEY. Mr. Speaker, I do not see how we can vote intelligently on this question unless some one tells just what the bill before the House is.

Mr. GEORGE K. YOUNG. Mr. Speaker, I wish to state for the benefit of the Members of the House that I would like to have this bill placed on the calendar. This bill is known as the Civil Service Bill of First Class Cities. It is to amend the present act. There is a great deal of dissatisfaction in the manner in which the Civil Service Examinations are conducted in the City of Philadelphia. I therefore ask to have it placed on the calendar.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

RESOLUTION RELATIVE TO RULES.

Mr. FORSTER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer a resolution at this time.

The SPEAKER. The resolution will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk then read the resolution as follows:

Resolved, That the following be a rule of this House, that no bill negatived by a committee shall be placed on the calendar of this House unless the motion to place such bill on the calendar be made within five days after such bill is reported from the committee.

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I ask the unanimous consent of the House to consider this resolution at this time.

The SPEAKER. Does the House give unanimous consent to consider this resolution at this time Is there any objection

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. I would like to know how this resolution would affect bills that have already been negatived more than five days. What effect would that have on those bil's under this resolution?

Mr. FORSTER. Mr. Speaker, this resolution cannot apply to bills that have already been negatived more than five days. It can only apply to bills negatived after this resolution is adopted.

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I move that this resolution be referred to the Committee on Rules.

Mr. SHERN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The SPEAKER. It would require the unanimous consent of the House to consider the motion at the present time. The resolution will lie over for printing.

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I think the motion of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. S. B. Scott, is in order. I seconded that motion. My first request was for the unanimous consent of the House for the present consideration of this resolution. This was objected to. I think the question now is on the motion to refer it to the Committee on Rules.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, would it be in order to amend that resolution?

The SPEAKER. The resolution must lie over for printing, and no action can be taken regarding it until it is printed, at which time it may be amended or referred to a committee or otherwise disposed of.

BILL RECOMMITTED.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker. I move that House Bill No. 531, File Folio 609, entitled:

An Act fixing the time of organization of the commissioners of first class townships on page 42 of to-day's calendar, Bills on Third Reading Postponed for the Present, be recommitted to the Committee on Counties and Townships for the purpose of amendment.

Mr. RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

A MOTION TO RECOMMIT BILL.

Mr. HEIDINGER. Mr. Speaker, I move to recommit House Bill No. 176, file folio 2241, entitled:

An Act to amend section one of an act entitled "An Act to provide for the appointment of county and city inspectors of weights and measures providing for the compensation and expenses prescribing their duties prohibitng vendors from giving false or insufficient weight and fixing the penalties for the violation of the provisions hereof" approved the eleventh day of May Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and eleven by vesting the appointment of inspectors of weights and measures in cities of the first class in the county commissioners on page 45 of to-day's Calendar for the purpose of rehearing.

Mr. BLELOCH. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

Mr. HEIDINGER. Mr. Speaker, the purpose of this bill is to take away from the Mayor of the City of Philadelphia the appointment of the Sealers of Weights and Measures and to give the appointment of these officials to will be here on other legislative matters to-morrow and the County Commissioner. The Mayor of Philadelphia I think it is only fair that he be given an opportunity to appear before the Committee and present his side of this matter to your Committee which will meet at half past one to-morrow and action can then be taken and the bill be brought back to the House without a loss of time. The bill was brought into the House contrary to his wishes and not in accordance with his wishes as the bill was first drawn. I saw the Mayor to-day and he thinks that the legislation as proposed by this bill is unwise and I think that he ought to have a chance to say what he has to say on the subject and I ask that this bill be recommitted.

Mr. PIPER. Mr. Speaker, as the sponser of this bill, I believe that the motion introduced here to-night is very unfair. The four or five weeks I have given the Mayor of the City of Philadelphia all the opportunity that was necessary to appear here before the Committee on Judiciary Special, where this bill was reported from. We have even gone so far as to appoint a sub-committee from the Committee to take up this question. The first Committee was a sub-committee to interview the Mayor of the City of Philadelphia and two members of the sub-committee took action and re-reported back that they were in favor of the bill being introduced in its present form, Then they held me up again for another week and I submitted that to the Judiciary Special Committee and it was referred to another sub-committee which was appointed and the sub-committee desired to insert into this bill an amendment whereby it would make it mandatory on the Mayor of Philadelphia. The sub-committee then after much consideration and having a conversation with nearly all the Representatives from Philadelphia members in this House, and they came to the conclusion that it would be best to request the Committee on Judiciary Special to report this bill out in its present form, with the result that after three or four weeks of holding back and hard struggle that we have had with it and after we have had a talk with the Mayor and after having talked with everyone almost here, nearly every member of this House from Philadelphia, now they come along and ask again that it be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary Special for the purpose of a rehearing. I want to know what benefit a hearing is going to do if the Committee is going to amend my bill then? The work that I have been over, that I have gone through for the last four or five weeks seems fruitless. If they want to amend this bill why don't they take the same chance that I would and take it on the floor of the House and offer an amendment here. Therefore, it is unfair after the bill has been reported out from the Committee on Judiciary Special and after we have had a struggle to do it, to get it reported back to the Committee on Judiciary Special again. It is a mere bluff and the purpose is to amend this bill. I ask the members of this House to stand by me and vote down this motion to recommit this bill to the Committee on Judiciary Special.

Mr. BLELOCH. Mr. Speaker, it is true as the gentleman from Philadelphia has stated to this House, that when this measure was first before the Committee on Judiciary Special, it was referred to a Sub-Committee and the Sub-Committee was divided in its opinion. That was one of the first meetings of that Committee on Judiciary Special and inadvertently I take it the Chairman of that Committee appointed the sponsor of this bill on that Sub-Committee without thinking or believing that he was a member of that Committee. Therefore, that sub-committee to which this bill was referred in the first instance was passed on by one or two members of the second Committee on Judiciary Special and a gentleman who is not a member of that sub-committee. That sub-committee was divided in its opinion and two members of the Committee were appointed by the Judiciary Special; one then took one side and one took the other and of course, the third, though not a member of the Committee on Judiciary Special, sided with this measure. When that report was finally considered in the Committe on Judiciary Special, the communication was read from the Mayor of the City of Philadelphia asking that this bill be amended in certain particulars. One was the appointment of the Inspectors of Weights and Measures, as the grounds that the appointment of Inspectors of Weights and Measures, is mandatory upon the Mayors of cities of the first class just as the bill proposed to leave it with the Mayors of cities of the second or third class. Another was that the number to be appointed be defined. Under the proposed legislation as it now is and as it is proposed to be left by this present bill, the county commissioners can appoint one or five or one hundred inspectors as Inspectors and Sealers of Weights and Measures of cities of the first class. There is nothing in this bill to define the salaries and it is suggested by the Mayor that the salaries be defined and. therefore, when the Mayor's suggestions were submitted they were considered by the Committee as has been stated by the sponsor of this bill and then the sub-committee was appointed, not to consider the merits of the bill but to amend the bill in accordance with the suggestions of the Mayor of Philadelphia. At a subsequent meeting of the Committee on Judiciary Special, that Committee reported back the bill in its original shape, disregarding the instructions of that Committee and by a vote of three to nine that Committee's report was sustained and I was subsequently informed by a member of the Committee on Judiciary Special that he voted to sustain the report of that sub-committee and that he voted under a misapprehension. Therefore, if he had an opportunity to reconsider his vote that bill would have gone out as it was under the original idea of the Mayor and as has been suggested by the Mayor of Philadelphia. Therefore, I consider that it is only a matter of courtesy to the Mayor of the great metropolis of Philadelphia that this bill should be referred back to the Committee on Judiciary Special to give him a hearing to-morrow.

Mr. RICHARD J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Bleloch. permit himself to be interrogated

Mr. BLELOCH. Mr. Speaker. Yes, sir.

Mr. RICHARD J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I desire the gentleman to state whether he desires to have the bill recommitted so as to make it mandatory on the Mayor of the City of Philadelphia to appoint the inspectors of Weights and Meausures.

Mr. BLELOCH. Mr. Speaker, all that I ask for is that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary Special that the Mayor of Philadelphia may be given the courtesy of a hearing on this measure to-morrow.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I understand the gentleman to say that one of the purposes of asking for the recommitting of this bill was to make it mandatory upon the Mayor to appoint Sealers of Weights and Measures. Is that correct?

Mr. BLELOCH. Mr. Speaker, that was the instruction given by the Committee on Judiciary Special sub-committe to amend it to make it mandatory.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I cannot put my hands exactly on the Constitution, or the law, but the Constitution prohibits any such law and it cannot be made mandatory.

Mr. BLELOCH. Mr. Speaker, I don't see where the suggestion or the criticism or the remarks of the gentleman from Delaware have any direct bearing on the question as to whether this House shall extend this courtesy to the Mayor of Philadelphia to be heard on this measure tomorrow when he is here.

Mr. PIPER. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Bleloch, contended that in the Committee the vote on the report of the sub-committee was eight to nine which is practically true. He then states that one of the men voted under a misapprehension. I desire to ask him, Mr. Speaker, if he will admit that when the vote was taken to report the bill out with an affirmative recommendation whether or not it is not true that the vote was ten to six to report the bill out with an affirmative recommendation? Surely there was no misapprehension on that proposition.

The SPEAKER. The House cannot go into the misapprehension of votes of members in Committee. The question is shall the bill be recommitted?

The motion was lost.

bills on final passage postponed, page 20 of to-day's calendar.

Agreeably to order,

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 234, as follows:

An Act to provide for the safety of persons employed in and about bituminous coal mines and to provide for the examination of persons seeking employment as coal miners and to prohibit the employment of incompetent persons as miners and providing penalties for the violation of the same

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That No person shall be employed as a miner in any bituminous coal mine in the State of Pennsylvania until he shall have first obtained a certificate of competency and qualification from a "Miners' Examining Board" of some county of the State Provided that any miner actually employed in this State when this act becomes effective who has been employed as a miner at least two years in coal mines shall be entitled to a certificate permitting him to work in the bituminous mines of this State as a practical miner and Provided further that any certified miner may have one uncertified person working with him and under his direction for the purpose of learning said business of mining and becoming qualified to obtain a certificate in conformity with the provisions of this act and Provided further however that in cases where a miner holds a certificate and has two or more sons who do not hold certificates they shall have the right to work with him if he so desires

Section 2 In each county of this State where the business of bituminous mining is carried on there shall be created a board to be styled "The Miners' Examining Board" to consist of three practical experienced and skillful miners of at least five years continuous experience who are then a resident for at least one full year in the county for which they are appointed Such appointments shall be made by the Court of Common Pleas in their respective counties immediately after the approval of this act and on or before the tenth day of January in each year thereafter All vacancies in said board shall be at once filled by the Court of Common Pleas of the county in which such vacancy occurs

Each of said Boards shall organize by electing one of the members president and one member secretary and every member of said Board shall within ten days after his appointment take and subscribe an oath or affirmation before a properly qualified officer of the county in which he resides that he will honestly and impartially discharge his official duties each of said Boards shall provide itself with an impression seal having engraved thereon the name of said Board and the county for which they are appointed

Each member of said Board shall receive a compensation for his services of three and fifty hundredth dollars ($3.50) per day for each day actually engaged in his official duties and all legitimate and necessary expenses incurred in attending the meetings of said Board under the provisions of this act No part of the salary of the members of said Board or the expenses thereof shall be paid out of the State Treasury except as hereinafter provided

Section 3 Each of said Examing Boards shall designate some convenient meeting place in their respective counties of which due notice shall be given by advertisement in two or more newspapers of the proper county At such meetings a book of registration shall be kept in which shall be registered the name and address of each person to whom said Board shall issue a certificate of competency under this act

Section 4 Each applicant for examination for the certificate herein provided shall pay a fee of one dollar and the amount derived from this source shall be held by said boards respectively and applied to the expenses and salaries provided and such as may arise under the provisions of this act The said boards shall report in writing quarterly to the court appointing them all moneys received and disbursed under the provisions of this act together with the number of miners examined under this act and the number failing to pass the required examination

All monies over and above the amount required to pay the salaries of the members of said board in their respective counties and the necessary actual expenses while in the performance of their duty as such board shall be paid to the State Treasurer on the second Wednesday of each and every month All said moneys so paid into the State Treasury shall constitute a special fund for the purposes of this act and all moneys in said fund are hereby specifically appropriated to carry out the intent of this act and the same shall be paid out by said State Treasurer only upon warrants issued by the president judge of the Court of Common Pleas of the county for which the said board was appointed Said warrants shall show on their face that they are for the payment of the salary and necessary actual expenses of the members of said board in such county

Section 5 It shall be the duty of said boards to meet on the first Tuesday of each month and to remain in session for a period of four days and no longer and said meeting shall be public The said board shall examine under oath all persons residing in the county in which said board resides who apply for certificates as provided in this act The said board shall grant such certificates of competency or qualification to such applicants as are qualified which certificates shall entitled the holders thereof to be employed as and to do the work of bituminous miners in any county in this State without other or further examination

No certificate of competency shall issue or be given to any person under this act unless he shall produce evidence of having had not less than two years of practical experience as a miner or with a miner and in no case shall an applicant be deemed competent unless he appears in person before the said board and orally answer intelligently and correctly at least twelve practical questions propounded to him by the board pertaining to the requirements and qualifications of a practical miner

The said board shall keep an accurate record of the proceedings of their meetings and in such record shall show a correct detailed account of the examination of each applicant with questions asked and their answers and at each of these meetings the board shall keep said record open for public inspection Any miner's certificate granted under the provisions of this act shall not be transferable and any transfer of the same shall be deemed a violation of this act Such certificates shall be issued only at meetings of said boards and said certificates shall not be legal unless then and there signed by at least two members of said board and sealed with the seal of the board issuing the certificates

RESOLUTION OF TUG-BOAT PROTECTIVE ASSOCIATION OF THE PORT OF PHILADELPHIA FAVORING FINANCIAL SUPPORT FOR PENNSYLVNIA NAUTICAL SCHOOL.

The Chair laid before the Senate communication which was read as follows and referred to the Committee on Appropriations:

TUG BOAT PROTECTIVE ASSOCIATION. of the
PORT OF PHILADELPHIA
110 Walnut Street

Philadelphia ————

At a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Tug Boat Protective Association of Philadelphia held this date the following preamble and resolution was unanimously adopted:

Whereas, The Tug Boat Protective Association of Philadelphia appreciates the great need of special, practical training required for seafaring careers, and

Whereas, The said Association is desirious of promoting and increasing the American Merchant Marine, and

Whereas, The said Tug Boat Protective Association of Philadelphia recognizes and appreciates the good work accomplished by the Pennsylvania Nautical School in furnishing special training for seafaring careers, as well as its aid in the promotion of the American Merchant Marine.

Be it Resolved, That the Tug Boat Protective Association of Philadelphia, hereby endorses the past work of the Pennsylvania Nautical School and urges and requests the Honorable Rudolph Blankenburg, Mayor of the city of Philadelphia, the Select and Common Councils of the City of Philadelphia, the Honorabe John K. Tener, Governor of the State of Pennsylvania, and the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Pennsylvania, to continue the financial support of said Pennsylvania Natuical School so that the said School may by the continuance of its operations, proceed in the future with its good work in the promotion of the American Merchant Marine.

Be it Further Resolved, That copies of this Resolution be forwarded and presented to the Honorable Rudolph Blankenburg, Mayor of the City of Philadelphia; to the Select and Common Councils of the City of Philadelphia, to the Honorable John K. Tener, Governor of the State of Pennsylvania, and to the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Pennsylvania.

C. E. DAVIS, Jr.
President.

Attest: HARRY M. WALL,
Secretary.
Philadelphia, Pa., March 20th, 1913.

RESOLUTION FAVORING THE ADOPTION OF THE TRAILING ARBUTUS OR "GROUND LAUREL" AS PENNSYLVANIA'S STATE FLOWER.

He also laid before the Senate communication which was read as follows and referred to the Committee an Agriculture:

Hon. John M. Reynolds, Lieutenant-Governor,
Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, Harrisburg, Pa.

Honored and Respected Sir:—The Legislature of Pennsylvania having under consideration the adoption of a law naming a flower as a State Flower, We, recognizing the importance of having one selected which will truly represent a sentiment worthy of the idea, beg leave to recommend to your favorable consideration the Trailing Arbitus or "Ground Laurel" as Pennsylvania's State Flower, as it most fittingly represents that dignity which should accord with the action of the Commonwealth in the selection of a floral emblem—and present the following reasons why the Trailing Arbutus should be chosen:—(as appended)

5250 Parkside Ave.,
West Park P. O., Phila. Pa.

Yours sincerely,
DORA HARVEY DEVELIN (Mrs. Jno. F.)
Regent Merion Chapter, D. A. R.

THE NATIONAL FLOWER or
VALLEY FORGE ARBUTUS.

(The Original "State Flower Poem," Copyrighted March, 1887, by Margaret B. Harvey)

Grand hills! rear your heavenward claim,
Like patriots' noble desire!
Like altars colossal, aflame,
With blue, waving pines for your fire!
Like Liberty's torches, they live
While earth seems one winter-bound tomb,
And shelter, the soonest to give,
Defiance to death, sparks of bloom!

The chief trod these hills—did he think
The sky not above but below
When first he saw planets of pink
With scarce-cleared away clouds of snow?
Or start, dark forebodings forgot
The drooping or uplifted eye
Can each meet a heaven, for not
Up, down, but to God, is the sky!

Toy trumpets whose mimicry shamed
The almond's and vale-lily's hue,
With star mouths whose breath not the famed Sweet Arabic scents ever knew;
Trailed leaves like the hero's own bays,
Undying and green evermore,
A message amid his dark days
You brought, as to Pilgrims before.

"If buds 'mid dead leaves can survive,
If green can be fresh 'mid the snow,
The Freedom is ever alive,
And still it must blossom and grow."
What else could your perfume-notes say?
God wills that a flower brave the blast;
Can He, then, from man turn away,
Mock hopes the sublimest at last?

The chief from the hills, which his fame
Uphold to the stars and the sun,
Descended and down the vale came
To where dwelt of women the one;
Why seemed he no longer deprest—
Why scarcely for joy could he speak?
He pinned in the mull o'er her breast
A spray like the tints in her cheek!

How simple the act, but it meant
A gift from Omnipotent hands!
Who doubts the prophetic event,
Or, reading it, misunderstands?
The hero saw Liberty's bloom
Adorning her altars above,
And brought it to earth's valley bloom
To place on the shrine of his love!

The altars of old were enwreathed
With vervain, most sacred of flowers;
What altars such incense e'er breathed?
And have we no garlands for ours?
These hills speak their choice—we must take—
To give they have best right and power
The Trailing Arbutus must make America's National Flower!

MARGARET B. HARVEY.

The Trailing Arbutus for the State Flower.

Whereas It is right, fitting and proper that a flower whose history is merged with a history of our Nation's Independence should be adopted as an emblem of our State by the Legislature of Pennsylvania therefore be it

Resolved, That we, the members of Merion Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, petition the members of the Legislature of Pennsylvania, the birthplace of Independence, to present and urge the passage of a bill naming the Trailing Arbutus as the flower best suited for the emblem hereinbefore mentioned; and in support of this petition we present the following reasons therefor:

1. The Trailing Arbutus, also called "Ground Laurel," "May flower" and Epigoea Repens was the first flower seen by the patriots at Valley Forge after their terrible martyrdom—a martyrdom to which we owe the present glory of our National life.
2. It was the first American flower seen by the Pilgrims of New England, who called it the Mayflower" after their vessel.
3. It was probably known to the early Virginians and used by them in decorating their altar at the first Easter celebrated at Jamestown.
4. Its flowers are shaped like five-pointed American Stars, and its leaves are evergreen like laurels.
5. It is one member of the great family of American laurels.
6. Its flowers are already represented in the American flag, only slightly conventionalized.
7. Its habitat is the Thirteen Original States.
8. It is peculiarly American.
9. There is but one species.
10. The finest specimens occur in neighborhoods consecrated to Revolutionary history.
11. It is beautiful in itself.
12. It loves liberty, resisting cultivation.
13. The original flower poem (copyright) "Valley Forge Arbutus," by Margaret B. Harvey—was brought to public attention in connection with the freeing of Washington's headquarters from debt, June 19, 1887.
14. The Trailing Arbutus, as the proposed "State Flower" has been recognized by members of the Patriotic Order Sons of America, by members of the Valley Forge Centennial and Memorial Association, and by several Chapters of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Resolved, That the Regent be directed to send a printed copy of these resolutions to the Governor of Pennsylvania, the Lieutenant-Governor, the President of the Senate, the Speaker of the House, the Chairman of the Senate Education Committee, the Chairman of the Education Committee of the House of Representatives, the members of both branches of the Legislature, and to each of our sister Chapters throughout the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

MRS. JOHN F. DEVELIN,
Regent Merion Chapter.

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE.

Agreeably to order.

The Senate resumed the consideration of Senate Bill No. 504, as follows:

An Act providing that a bronze medal be given to each honorably discharged soldier sailor or marine of the Civil War who enlisted in a Pennsylvania organization and who resides in said Commonwealth and making an appropriation therefor

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That each honorably discharged soldier sailor or marine of the Civil War who enlisted in a Pennsylvania organization and who resides in said Commonwealth shall receive from this Commonwealth a bronze medal commemorative of his participation in such war A commission is hereby created which shall consist of the Governor one member of the Senate one member of the House of Representatives and two members of the Grand Army of the Republic Department of Pennsylvania to be appointed by the Governor The commission shall serve without compensation but shall be allowed expenses actually and necessarily incurred in the performance of its duties It shall be the duty of the commission to cause a suitable bronze medal to be designed and made of a sufficient number to be distributed to and among said soldiers sailors or marines one medal to each soldier sailor or marine

Section 2 To carry out the purposes of this act the sum of fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) or so much thereof as may be necesary is hereby specifically appropriated for the purchase of the medals and for the use of the commission to be paid on the order of the Governor upon warrant of the Auditor General

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question.

Shall the bill pass finally?

ARTICLE XXI

Definition and Repeal

Section 1 The term "cities of the third class" shall include only

First All cities of the proper population which have been incorporated under the provisons of an act of Assembly entitled "An act dividing cities of this State into three classes regulating the passage of ordinances providing for contracts for supplies and work for said cities authorizing the increase of indebtedness and the creation of a sinking fund to redeem the same defining and punishing certain offenses in all of said cities and providing for the incorporation and government of the cities of the third class" approved the twenty-third day of May one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four which may hereafter be incorporated under the provisions of this act

Second All cities of the proper population which have accepted the provisions of said act of the twenty-third day of May one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four in the manner prescribed in the fifty-seventh section thereof

Third All other cities of the proper population or any city of less population than ten thousand inhabitants incorporated prior to May 23rd one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four by a special act of Assembly only from and after the date of their acceptance of the provisions of the said act of twenty-third day of May one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four in the manner prescribed in the fifty-seventh section thereof and any city which has been incorporated under the provisions of the act of May thirty-third one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine

Section 2 No right or interest which has become vested under acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith or supplied by the provisions hereof shall be destroyed or impaired by the operation of this act or by the exercise of any power granted therein All officers of each of said cities of the third class in office at the date of approval shall except where otherwise herein provided continue to hold their offices for the term for which they were respectively elected but all ordinances of any of said cities heretofore legally passed not inconsistent with such provisions are hereby made valid and shall be and remain in full force and virtue until altered or repealed

Section 3 It shall be the duty of the council of every city of the third class forthwith to pass such ordinances in accordance with the provisions of this act as may be necessary to carry into effect the requirements thereof

Section 4 All acts of Assembly or parts of acts relating to cities of the third class not inconsistent with the provisions of this act shall be and remain in full force and all acts and parts of acts general special or local appertaining to the subject matter covered by this act so far as they are inconsistent with the provisions thereof be and the same are hereby repealed except that nothing in this act shall be interpreted to repeal abridge or in any way effect the provisions of an act approved the twenty-second day of April Anno Domini nineteen hundred and five entitled "An act to preserve the purity of the waters of the State for the protection of the public health"

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. BEIDLEMAN: Mr. President, I move that the Senate resolve itself into committee of the whole for the purpose of general amendment.

Mr. KLINE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. CLARK. Mr. President, I do not know that I may be in order, but I think that I am. I wish to make a statement to this Senate opposing the further amendment of this bill at this time. My statement will be brief. This bill was introduced on the first day that any bill was introduced in this session of the Senate, namely on the twenty-first day of January. It was referred to the proper committee and it laid in cold storage until February twenty-sixth a period of thirty-seven days, during which time there was ample opportunity for any party interested in this legislation to investigate it fully and in detail. It was reported out and it was read for the first time on March 10th and the second time on March 11th and by understanding it was referred back to the committee for further consideration and discussion and amendment if necessary. The bill went back into committee. We held two meetings, one meeting quite fully attended. The Senator from Dauphin County was not present and it was the concensus of opinion of the committee that the matter should be deferred until the Senator might appear and make amendments or offer them. I personally informed the Senator that there would be such a meeting. The Senator was not present. He had an opportunity to be present and the committee considered the matter and voted to have it reported and placed upon the Calendar on third reading. The bill was placed upon the Calendar on third reading March 20th and was continued by request once or twice. It was continued last night by request until this morning because there was such a threatened avalanche of amendments that it was said it would take until three o'clock in the morning to get through with them. It seemed to me proper that the members of this Senate should not be kept in their seats until three o'clock in the morning, and therefore it went over. The bill has been introduced in this Senate for a period of sixty-three days and ample opportunity has been given for investigation. I want to say now that this bill is the result of the deliberations of the members of the civic allied bodies of municipalities of the third class of this Commonwealth and is the outgrowth of four years' investigation and patient deliberation, and that it is almost impossible to get a bill that will suit the varied interests of all these municipalities, but the deliberations of this body of these men are placed here and there is something due to that intelligent, that law-abiding and that large part of the electorate of the municipalities of the third class of this Commonwealth that are behind this movement and responsible for this bill. If there had been any way in which we could have harmonized or settled the structural features of this bill with those who oppose it we would have gladly done it. I am speaking now for the allied civic bodies of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and I wish it understood that because I happen to be per chance the person selected to introduce this bill that I ought not to have any greater interest than any other Senator who represents a municipality of the third class in this Commonwealth, and I ought not to have a greater interest in it than any Senator representing a borough or a city that is to-day performing its functions under a special charter and that has not availed itself of the privilege of coming into the cities of the third class. It is a good piece of legislation and I was in hope that these cyclonic conditions that have prevailed outside the last few days would not be transferred into this Senate Chamber, but if the avalanche must come we must meet it. I for one, under all circumstances, have endeavored to be fair in the treatment of this measure, but am desirous of getting something accomplished at this session of the Legislature, and oppose the amendments because I think they come at this time with very poor grace after having had ample opportunity. I am not speaking upon the merits of the bill but only on this question of going into committee of the whole for purpose of amendments. I did not understand the Senator whether it was general or specfic.

Mr. BEIDLEMAN. Mr. President, general.

Mr. CLARK. Mr. President. I believe there is a distinction between the two. The treatment that has been accorded all the bills during this session and the treatment that has been accorded nearly all the bills in the last session has been that when they are on third reading they go along. The truth is that I have sat up with this bill for a period of about four years, and I personally feel that it is about time for a change of nurses, and I wish to see it become a law.

Mr. BEIDLEMAN. Mr. President. It is true that the Senator from Erie introduced this bill during the early days of the session. It is also true that at about the same time I introduced Senate Bill No. 39, providing for the government of third class cities. It is also true that in accordance with an agreement I had with the Senator from Erie, in order that he might return to his constituency and say that he had been able to accomplish something, I agreed that this bill should come out of committee and be read for the first time with the understanding that it should go back to committee for the purpose of amendment. I had no further notice of a hearing upon this bill until I was advised that it had been up for consideration at a meeting of the Committee on Municipal Affairs at which I was not present. And one day last week, when I was appearing in court and before the Board of Pardons and had matters outside of the Senate. I was asked by the chairman of the Committee on Municipal Affairs whether I would agree that the bill should be reported out with the understanding that it should go upon the postponed Calendar. When I agreed to that proposition I thought of course that the bill would come out and be placed upon the Senate Calendar on second reading, in order that I might introduce amendments which I now proposed to offer to this bill. This bill is one of considerable importance to every city of the third class in this Commonwealth. It is an innovation in the line of municipal government, and while the Senator from Erie represents in his bill the thought of the allied civic bodies what is embodied in the amendments which I now propose, if the Senate will go into committee of the whole, is the result of the thought during many years, of the member of the League of Third Class Cities of the Commonwealth made up of mayors, city solicitors and city clerks, who all of their lives have considered the question of proper municipal government. This, Mr. President, strikes at the very foundation of municipal affairs. We do not have in cities of the first and second class any commission form of government. We have limited councils and the thought of the League of Third Class Cities is that the cities of the third class should have councils limited in number and not a commission form of government. What this bill proposes is that there should be elected at large a council of five in every city of the third class and provides that that council shall divide itself into five separate parts, making one member of it the head of the Department of Public Affairs, another of Accounts and Finance, another the head of the Department of Public Safety, another the head of Streets and Public Improvements, and another the head of Parks and Public Property, and it provides that those five men shall legislate, shall pass every ordinance, and shall execute every ordinance. It further provides that instead of a city treasurer being elected by the people that the council of five members shall elect the city treasurer. It provides that instead of the people electing the city assessors the council shall elect the city assessors, and it provides that instead of having an impartial board of revision of taxes and appeals the members of that council shall compose that body. So that you are placing the affairs of every third class city in this Commonwealth in the hands of five men who may be elected at large. I want to ask, Mr. President, and members of this Senate, whether there is a banking corporation, for instance, that commits its entire affairs to a committee of five men. Furthermore, when you elect members of a banking corporation you are dealing with men who spend their own money, but when you are striking at the foundation of third class cities government you are electing five men at large with full power to legislate and execute their ordinances without any regard except what public spirit they may have to collect and spend the people's money. And furthermore, this goes to the point of the initiative and referendum. It provides that upon the petition of fifteen per cent. of the people of a municipality every ordinance must be submitted to the people as to whether or not they want it, and what would be the result? There is not a single municipality in the Commonwealth excepted but that when every ordinance would be passed it would have the expense of an election to determine whether or not the people wanted the ordinance. And furthermore, you strike at the political parties. It provides for a non-partisan ballot so that any man who wants to be a candidate for member of council can go on one ticket and cannot have party affiliation of any kind whatsoever. I submit that this Senate should consider, and properly consider, whether or not you are going to institute these innovations; whether or not you are going to strike down in every city of the third class in this Commonwealth and say whether or not they must abolish the form of government they now have and take a commission form of government without regard to whether it is proper or not. In the city which I represent—and the members of the Senate know full well how the city of Harrisburg has grown during the last fifteen years—it has grown with two councilmanic bodies and without any regard to commission or any other kind of government. We have spent millions of dollars in the way of public improvement and I submit that at the institution of the municipal improvements in Harrisburg if you would have submitted to the people the question of whether they wanted them, Harrisburg would be in the rut and would not have a single piece of public improvement. I recall in 1901 when the improvements were started, when the ordinances were passed by councils and the matter came up of paving the streets, it was simply a matter that councils had to force on property owners, the matter of paving the city streets, and if it had been submitted then to the people today we would not have a mile of paved streets, whereas now we have in the neighborhood of seventy-five miles of paved streets in Harrisburg, and the people clamoring day in and day out for councils to pave more, and the only reason that stands in the way is that councils cannot find the money with which to pay for paving intersections.

I think, Mr. President, and members of the Senate, that this is a question that deserves your careful consideration. I endeavored to procure the Senator from Erie to allow this matter to go back to the Committee on Municipal Affairs in order that we might discuss it there. But when he is unwilling to do that, Mr. President, the only thing left for me to do is to endeavor to have this Senate go into committee of the whole for the purpose of general amendment. I ask it in good faith. I ask it in the interest of every third class city of the Commonwealth, and I hope the Senate will resolve itself into a committee of the whole for the purpose of considering the amendments which I desire to offer.

Mr. POWELL. Mr. President, it seems to me that the difficulty in this matter is the failure to understand that there are two separate bills and two separate schemes of municipal government, upon the two sides of which question there are different groups of third class cities within this Commonwealth. The bill of the Senator from Erie, Mr. Clark, provides for a commission form of government, and if it should be attempted to amend it so as to provide for a small council you are going into the proposition of attempting to amend a system of government here upon the floor of this Senate without due opportunity for careful consideration of the question at issue. If the Senate of Pennsylvania is in favor of a commission form of government for third class cities it should then vote for the bill of Senator Clark, for the reason that it has been prepared by a commission that has considered this matter for six or eight years. Every member of this Senate is well enough informed to know that this matter has been before the people of Pennsylvania for the past six or eight years, the question of commission form of government, or of a single council of small membership and the mayor. Senator Clark's bill is a bill which in proper form provides for a commission form of government, one scheme; as I understand Senator Beidleman's bill, it is drawn along the other theory, and you can no more mix oil and water than you can amend one of these bills to comply with the wishes of the other gentleman. It is purely a question as to whether the Senators in this body desire to vote for a commission form of government or for a form of government similar to that which we have now in second class cities, and it seems to me that it is useless to endeavor to amend this bill because if we amend it and if we vote upon these amendments here, we will do it with less consideration, with less knowledge, of what the whole bill provides than we should consider any question. It is entirely too important a question to consider here upon the floor of this Senate in this shape. As I understand the position of the Senator from Erie, it was that this bill was reported out of committee, was sent back for the purpose of amendment, and no amendment was made or proposed in the committee. There are two propositions, the question of commission form of government and the question of the initiative and referendum. I would be opposed to a commission form of government if I did not have the safeguard of the initiative and referendum. I would be opposed to a small council if I did not have the safeguard of the initiative and referendum. The gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Beidleman, takes the position that this bill takes some power out of the hands of the people; it does not, it is putting the power directly in the hands of the people. The people of Harrisburg or any other third class city in this Commonwealth elect this commission. More than that, they have behind them the gun which makes that commission do the right thing. He thinks every ordinance must be submitted to the people at a special election. The bill does not so provide. It provides that on a petition of 15 per cent. of the electors an ordinance may be submitted. Now everybody knows that as long as the commission is doing what any reasonably majority of the people of the city want done there will be no objection. Everybody knows how difficult it is to get a petition of fifteen per cent. of the qualified electors. So long as the ordinance is reasonable, fairly reasonable and right, the people will endure the ordinance instead of submitting the question to the whole people at a general election. And it seems to me there is but one thing to do—vote either for or against the bill proposed by the gentleman from Erie, and if the Senator from Dauphin will introduce his bill, vote either for or against it, as your convictions are, and whichever one prevails we will all submit to the will of the majority of the Senate. But to attempt to amend either Senator Beidleman's bill to correspond with Senator Clark's scheme, or Senator Clark's bill to correspond with Senator Beidleman's scheme would be a useless effort and foolish waste of time of this Senate.

Mr. BEIDLEMAN. Mr. President, will the Senator from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. POWELL. Mr. President, with pleasure.

Mr. BEIDLEMAN. Mr. President, I desire to ask whether the Senator from Allegheny means that the City of Pittsburgh is now under a commission form of government, without the power on the part of the Mayor to veto ordinances.

Mr. POWELL. Mr. President, I did not so state. I said that the City of Pittsburgh is under substantially the same form as proposed by Mr. Beidleman in his bill, and not under the form proposed by Senator Clark in his bill.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair wishes to remind the Senators that the motion is not a matter for debate. The question is on the motion that the Senate resolve itself into committee of the whole for the purpose of general amendment.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. HERBST and Mr. POWELL and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—13.

Beidleman,	DeWitt,	Hunter,	McNichol,
Cooper,	Hall,	Jones,	Salus,
Crow,	Homsher,	Magee,	Snyder,
			Sones,

NAYS—29.

Alexander,	Gyger,	Knapp,	Moore,
Buckman,	Heacock,	Kurtz,	Nulty,
Catlin,	Herbst,	Martin,	Powell,
Clark,	Hoke,	McIlhenny,	Sensenich,
Endsley,	Huffman,	McNichols,	Sheatz,
Farley,	Jarrett,	Miller,	Stineman,
Graff,	Judson,	Mills,	Thompson,
			Wasbers,

So the question was determined in the negative.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. BEIDLEMAN. Mr. President, I now move that the bill be recommitted to the Committee on Municipal Affairs for the purpose of amendment.

Mr. COOPER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. CLARK. Mr. President, the gentleman from Dauphin said that last night he held a conference with me for the purpose of having this bill recommitted to the Municipal Affairs Committee. I asked the Senator if it went back to committee and we fought it out on the question of amendment and harmonizing on the two bills were possible, if he would abide by the determination of the committee, and he promptly said "no", that he would bring it out on the floor of the Senate and contest it there. I inquired how about the other fellow, if it was not decided in committee in his favor, and therefore I see no necessity for having this bill go back to committee.

Mr. BEIDLEMAN. Mr. President, I very naturally expected, knowing, or being charged with knowing, some little legislative practice, that when I agreed that this bill should come out of committee last week with the chairman of the Committee on Municipal Affairs, who I know acted in good faith, and I know now if he were here he would agree with what I say, that that bill would naturally go on the second reading Calendar, where, without the necessity of a motion to go into committee of the whole, I would, as a matter of right, be entitled to offer the amendments which I propose and have this Senate properly and carefully consider them, and I think, Mr. President, when I am asking that this bill shall be recommitted, I am only asking for the keeping of good faith in the thought that when it was reported out of committee it would appear on the second reading Calendar where I would have an opportunity to offer these amendments.

Mr. CLARK. Mr. President, I have that written request presented by the gentleman who has just spoken directed to the chairman of the Committee on Municipal Affairs in my pocket, and in accordance with that request this bill did go over, and what agreement the gentleman from Dauphin had with the chairman outside of the deliberations of the Committee itself I do not know. I do know this, that there are a great many members of that committee and that they have given this matter great consideration, and I do know that at none of the meetings was the Senator from Dauphin present. If his numerous duties in court and elsewhere are such that he cannot attend the meetings of the Municipal Affiairs Committee that then is not the fault of the committee and it should be charged where it properly belongs. The Senator spoke of the merit of the bill in controversy. I have much to say. I do not see that it is either the time or the occasion now to say it. I limited the remarks which I made to the motion to endeavor to show how the bill was deliberated upon and brought here. I did not care to go into the merits of the bill at all, so now I hope this bill will not be referred back to committee. It is getting toward the centre of the session. One hundred and four bills of the House came over here yesterday. The Calendar is getting large and if we are going to do anything for the cities of the third class it is high time we take action and prompt action.

Mr. KLINE. Mr. President, I think the embarrassment of the Senate could be relieved very much by amendment to that present motion. None of us could vote intelligently upon either matter here today and as both men agree, it is a matter of too vital importance to discuss here upon the floor and should be done in the committee. I desire to amend that motion as follows, that this bill be recommitted to the committee and be returned to the Senate next Monday night.

Mr. BEIDLEMAN. Mr. President, I accept the amendment.

Mr. POWELL. Mr. President, I would be the last one to endeavor to keep this bill out or endeavor to have a final vote on it if I thought there was any possibility of agreement on these amendments, but it seems to me that there are, as I said before, two separate and distinct forms of government and the attempt to harmonize one with the other is useless, and the Senate should vote upon this bill and then upon Senator Beidleman's bill. I believe that both the bills have a scheme they intend to introduce, are practically perfect bills, and there is no difficulty. If Senator Beidleman's bill were passed the third class cities of the Commonwealth could live under it, and we would have a system of government substantially the same as we have now in second class cities. If Senator Clark's bill would pass we would have a commission form of government. So far as I am personally concerned I favor a commission form of government for third class cities because we are now in the experimental stage in municipal government in Pennsylvania. We have in the city of Philadelphia two councils, a mayor, the old style system of municipal government. We have in second class cities a one-body council, a mayor and a system of government which we began to try in 1911. Now why should not the State of Pennsylvania provide that third class cities should have the other form of government and then in a few years we will known which form of government is the best as a practical business proposition and which will work out best for the people of this State, and I have no hesitancy in saying that after that trial the people in this State will have made up their minds which is the best form of government for cities in Pennsylvania. So far as I am personally concerned I am in favor of the city having the right to adopt either one of the three charters which it sees fit. I am in favor of local self government for these cities, and I believe the laws of Pennsylvania ought to provide these three schemes of government and the people ought to be left to decide under what one of these schemes they should operate, and I think we ought to have the whole three tried out before. And I believe the bill which will finally come will be the bill which gives local self government to cities and submits three forms of charters and gives them the right to say under which form of charter they will operate.

Mr. CLARK. Mr. President, I do not want to appear too numerous in this matter. I am entrusted with this bill, and I do not want to be charged with having violated that trust. This bill has been before the Senate sixty-three or sixty-four days and when the Senator from Dauphin speaks about not having time to examine it, he introduced a bill that is materially different from this one. When that bill was introduced by the Senator I read that bill that night by going to the reporter's room, so that I might be posted on it, and I therefore respectfully request the members of this Senate to vote upon this measure at the present time.

Mr. McNICHOL. Mr. President, I confess that I am favorable to the bill as presented by the Senator from Erie, Mr. Clark, but there has been enough discussion in this chamber today to leave a doubt in my mind as to whether it would not be possible to take both bills and have the meritorious matter boiled into one bill which would give the people of third class cities the right to select which of these two forms of government they desire to be governed under, and, therefore, I think in justice to the Senator from Dauphin that it is an act of courtesy to each member of this Senate that if there is any doubt in the minds of the gentlemen representing both sides of this question that it is only one week's delay, that we are entitled to give a fair and due consideration in the Committee to the subject. We will meet again next Monday night and there can be no harm done in the interval, and we can agree to vote upon this bill as to which one is the proper one, and I think when Monday night comes along they can have some concise deductions from each bill that possibly will be entirely friendly and they can both vote upon it.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. POWELL and Mr. JARRETT, and were as follows:

YEAS—27.

Beidleman,	Fisher,	Jones,	Morgan,
Buckman,	Graff,	Kline,	Salus,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 644, entitled:

An Act to amend the second section of an act approved the eighteenth day of April Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and ninety-nine entitled "An act authorizing the county commissioners of the several counties in this Commonwealth to appoint a clerk fix his compensation and prescribe the term and duties of the clerk except in counties where the clerk to the county commissioners is elected by the people

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. POWELL. Mr. President, I would like the privilege of interrogating the Senator from Berks, Mr. Herbst, in regard to the purpose of this bill.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Berks, Mr. Herbst, allow himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HERBST. Mr. President, certainly.

Mr. POWELL. Mr. President, I see the bill provides that county commissioners may appoint a clerk and fix his compensation. Now it being introduced by the Senator from Berks, Mr. Herbst, I suppose it is not a salary raiser. But I would like to ask him as to whether or not it is a salary raiser.

Mr. HERBST. Mr. President, I will answer that in the negative. It is not a salary raiser. It merely gives the clerk a term of four years instead of three, the same as the term of the County Commissioners, and, by the way, it was at the request of the Republican County Commissioner that the bill was introduced.

Mr. POWELL. Mr. President, with that understanding I will vote for it.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitutions, and were as follows, viz:

An Act regulating appeals from tax and other public accounts settlements of the fiscal officers of the Commonwealth.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. POWELL. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to amend section 2, line 8, by striking out the preposition "to". It is in twice and is only a clerical error.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The amendment was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

TUESDAY, March 25, 1913.

The House met at 10.00 o'clock A. M.

The SPEAKER (George E. Alter) in the Chair.

The Chaplain, Rev. J. E. Wright, offered the following prayer:

O God, our hearts are moved to profound pity as we come before Thee this morning. There are people who are suffering, who are facing disaster and wreckage and immeasurable loss. The Storm King has been abroad in the land, leaving desolated homes and devastated cities, and great loss of property and sacrifice of life. We would not be indifferent to this distress, because it is remote from our borders, or because we are exempt. We remember experiences of our own, as a Commonwealth, when the sympathy and commiseration of the people were highly appreciated. We would think very tenderly of these suffering people. We would lift them up in our prayers and commend them to Thee. There are compensations for all calamities. It must be so, because Thou are an infinitely merciful God. May this thought come into the hearts of the people who are suffering, and may they gather courage and confidence and face again the life that is before them. May the cities be rebuilded and the homes re-established and the hearts of the people be sustained and comforted.

We ask all this in the name of that infinitely loving, pitiful God whose we are and whom we are trying to serve. Amen.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of yesterday's proceedings.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of yesterday's proceedings, when, on motion of Mr. Savacool, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal approved.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES.

Mr. GEORGE A. BALDWIN, from the Committee on Law and Order, reported as committed, House Bill No. 1092, entitled:

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, I move that the further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. KENNEDY. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 791, entitled:

An Act providing or and regulating appeals when county auditors have surcharged a county officer and such surcharge has not been allowed by the court

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. CHEESEMAN. Mr. Speaker, the title of this bill very plainly and explicitly explains the purpose of the bill, and I will only say in addition a few words to call your attention to the merits of the bill. It provides that where a board of auditors has surcharged a man that an appeal may be taken when their finding is set aside by the Court. As it is now, the Court may set aside without cause and for political purposes the findings of the Board of Auditors. It is the intent of this bill that they shall have the right of appeal. The bill is a fair one and I hope it will receive the support of the members of this House.

The Question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 753, entitled:

An Act prescribing what elective or appointive offices positions or employments of profit shall be incompatible with the office of a member of either branch of councils in cities of the first class of this Commonwealth and providing a method for its enforcement

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. WALNUT. Mr. Speaker, this bill was recently put on the calendar notwithstanding the negative recommendation of the committee. It provides that councilmen in cities of the first class cannot hold office either under the city or under the county. When this bill first came up I think I explained the situation in Philadelphia at that time, and probably there is no necessity now to repeat it. Councilmen in Philadelphia occupy a position similar to us here in Harrisburg, and also occupy positions under the county and city. The inconsistency of that situation is manifest. When we enacted our Constitution of Pennsylvania we provided therein that a legislator should not be a member of the working force and draw a salary from a State or county office at the same time he was a legislator. It is my conclusion and feeling that the same rule should apply to the councilmen in Philadelphia. A councilman passes upon questions of appropriation and policy affecting the department in which he is employed. He is also naturally restricted in his political activity and in his vote by the influence of the officials at the head of that particular department and under whom he holds office. I, therefore, ask the Gentlemen of the House to pass this bill.

Mr. JAMES A. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, I appeal to you Gentlemen of the House as members of this body to consider the seriousness of this bill at this time. You are all aware that in the City of Philadelphia. the Councilmen are elected to the various offices without receiving compensation for whatever services they render and an attorney, like my friend from Philadelphia, might be elected to that particular office in Philadelphia and as he is an attorney he can perform his duties and attend to the duty of a councilman just the same and not neglect his own work. A doctor can do the same thing and a business man can do the same thing, but there is another class in the City of Philadelphia that is just as able to legislate for the City of Philadelphia as the doctor or the lawyer or the business man and that is the class I represent—the middle class and I want to say to my friends, that what few councilmen to-day are holding what we may call dual positions in the City of Philadelphia, they are only trying to be compensated for some service that they render to the City of Philadelphia where the City of Philadelphia will not compensate them for it. It is only for people like myself. If the people in my ward would like to place my name on the ticket in my ward and elect me. I would be compelled to sacrifice my duty in which I earn my living, to perform the duties as councilman for the City of Philadelphia and without pay and then, it is only honorable for me if I am able to represent my ward in the City, if I am capable of doing work for my constituents of that ward, if there is a possible chance in some way of being reimbursed for what sacrifices I am making in the interests of the city, as against my business and my regular work. If I give up my work and give my time to the interests of the City, it is no more than right that some poor man like myself who is just as capable of filling the duties of the office of councilman, for instance, as any other members of that body, that we shall be compensated for that work. If you draw the line on that particular question; if you draw the line that you are going to place in positions professional men and draw the line on the man who works in the mills or any ordinary daily labor, why this is a question that must be considered. In my particular ward, only two years ago we elected two reform councilmen; one was a personal friend of mine and I know that only before the previous November election, if that man had the opportunity to resign from that position, he would have done so. He came to me and said, "Jim, I would resign in order to fill my position in the coming election and retire in order to serve the City. I would resign as it is impossible for me to serve the City and carry on the position which I occupy." He told me this—that every councilman in the City of Philadelphia, and this was a reform councilman. ought to receive at least four thousand dollars a year and he ought to have an automobile in order to go along over his whole district and take care of the duties that belong to the office, and he should have free telephone service and do everything or have everything so that he could at a moment's notice be prepared to answer any call whatever within the radius of his ward. A reform councilman told me all this and I will repeat again that a professional man is in a better position to do this than I would have been or anybody who is in my class. So I say then as to this class give them an opportunity to be elected and give some way in which they can receive a few dollars for their work and I will ask you to knock out this bill as it now stands and ask you to vote for the common people.

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, the remarks of the gentleman from Philadelphia who has just taken his seat are a cogent argument for the payment of members of council, and in that I really agree with him. So much do I agree with him, that I have introduced a bill and am urging it to a passage for the reduction of the number of councilmen and the providing of them with an adequate salary. But what a ridiculous way it would be to compensate members of council to appoint them to other public offices. Now unless they are not paid too much by that other public office, it is no compensation to that councilman. Don't you see that after they do their duty in their other public office and earn all that they are entitled to in that public office, there is nothing left of the salary to compensate them for their work as a councilman; also if they put in their full time they have no time left to be councilman, that is—if they put in their whole time in the other position, they cannot very well serve in both capacities and do it well. But the gentleman evidently thinks this other office is given to them for their compensation for the work they do as councilmen. If that is true, it means that they are not giving adequate time to either the office from which they are drawing their salary or the other office in which they are serving as councilmen. This is the ridiculous feature of it. What does it do? It takes out for compensation only a small group of councilmen. In other words, it takes out for compensation these councilmen who have sufficient political pull to be provided with some other public office. See what an unfair advantage it gives to those men? The poor man of whom the gentleman speaks, is not able to give enough time to the study of city problems to do his councilmanic work unless he gets one of these other positions. That is the proposition that he presents you and that means that the people who have authority are the people who have the services of the council at their disposal; who can give a large amount of their time to their duties, while the poor humble councilman who is striving to earn his living and has no kind of political pull he is at a tremendous disadvantage, in serving the people, because he has no officer or no position which commands a salary. It is an outrageous unfairness. that some should be provided with a job while the greatest number of councilmen not having any authority or any political influence are without any jobs or have no compensation. You could not inaugurate a worse policy. I suggest that this bill ought to be passed and then after that is passed, a proper bill be presented for the compensation of the councilmen who are elected after the number of councilmen to be elected has been reduced.

Mr. SPEISER. Mr. Speaker, ever since this measure has been introduced in the House, I have endeavored to discover just what the grievance was that the sponsor of this bill complained. There has been no denial of the fact that in our councils of Philadelphia consisting of over one hundred and forty members, there are but fourteen men who come within the purview of this act. In other words, only about ten per cent. of these have been members of council for a great number of years. It is also a fact that they are in the employment of certain county offices; that is they hold positions in offices outside of their positions as councilmen. You know our city councils are not concerned in the affairs of the County offices, except in so far as providing for appropriations which we men pass here. That is a requirement of the providing for them and outside of that they have no other duties to perform with regard to county offices. I interrogated the sponsor of this bill both on this floor and in committee and asked for some specific case of wrong-doing or one instance of a questionable act on the part of any of these men complained of. Of course, there could be but one reply. There was no such instance and there is no single allegation against one single man complained about. It is one of the pieces of theoretical administration laws which have been endeavored to be passed at this session. It is too specific and local but it might have been made general and applicable to the entire State but the sponsor didn't see fit to do that, so I don't believe it is going to do anyone one iota of good, or that it is going to be the cause of good to the government in any way. It will not help the conditions in Philadelphia. There is no charge against the conditions as they exist in the Councils of Philadelphia to-day. You dont' want to deprive us of our representation in councils of men who have long experience there and who are required in their districts and whose assistance is required in their respective districts and especially there is not against a single one of them one single allegation of wrongdoing. If you have any complaint and you have no remedy. I say to you, Gentlemen of the House, that the great majority of the Philadelphia delegation on this floor are opposed to this bill and ask your co-operation in defeating it.

Mr. NORTH. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman who is the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Walnut, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WALNUT. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

Mr. NORTH. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman what effect does it have on the directors of national banks?

Mr. WALNUT. Mr. Speaker, your proposition I suppose is that a National Bank is a governmental agency.

Mr. NORTH. Mr. Speaker, that is what I had in mind.

Mr. WALNUT. Mr. Speaker, I think a bank is not a governmental agency. It is a purely private institution. It may have a charter by the federal government or by the State government but it is not a governmental agency. It never has been and it has never been considered in Pennsylvania as a governmental agency.

Mr. NORTH. Mr. Speaker, in reading from the bill, I note, "that no person who holds any elective or appointive office, position or employment of profit under the United States or under the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, or any county, city, borough, etc." Now, Mr. Speaker, I claim that a bank director is under the supervision of the United States government and if this measure becomes a law, he would simply have to resign his position as a director.

Mr. WALNUT. Mr. Speaker, I most emphatically differ with the gentleman from Jefferson. There is a provision here that a councilman cannot hold any position of profit. Now, in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, or under any county, city, borough or township, school district, court district or other government agency, thereof or under any institution, board, trust or commission connected therewith there is absolutely nothing in this act that would cover the provision of a man holding a directorship in a National or State Bank. None of these institutions, as a matter of fact, are connected with the State government or the United States government. They are chartered by their State or by the Federal government and they are no closer connected with either of these governments than other corporations that are chartered or licensed by the government. I emphatically disagree with the gentleman from Jefferson. It has been pointed out to you that you are voting against a poor man and in favor of professional men if you vote for this bill. I could point out to the gentleman from Philadelphia that he is not altogether correct in that statement. In Philadelphia a number of professional men appear to hold their fair share of positions. The best of one of the positions is held by an attorney-at-law in Philadelphia. Another one of the best paid positions is held by a physician. The whole proposition is not one of personality. It has been pointed out that this is the case, but we have not attacked anybody personally. I don't want to do it. I don't wont to do it and I wouldn't do it. It is a question of whether or not it is a proper procedure to permit a member of the Legislature to hold a position of profit in any administration or executive department that is connected with that particular legislative body or, in fact, to hold any position of profit under any State or County government.

I think the exposition is analagous with one which has been adopted in connection with other opposition here. We have established as a general rule of order and policy that no member of either legislative body shall hold a position under the State or the County government. It appears in Article 2, Section 6,

"No Senator or Representative shall, during the time for which he shall have been elected, be appointed to any civil office under this Commonwealth, and no member of Congress or other person holding any office (except of attorney-at-law or in the militia) under the United States or this Commonwealth shall be a member of either House during his continuance in office."

I think the policy indicated by that section has been very clearly fixed by the very fact that it has never been questioned. It has been in our Constitution since 1837. If the proposition that we advance here from Philadelphia should be so clearly established as proper policy, I think that every member of the House should endorse it. The opposition naturally would come from a certain portion of our Philadelphia delegation. We naturally would have it from those gentlemen that hold office or other positions that we are referring to, who are gentlemen of no mean influence with a certain political party in the City of Philadelphia. They naturally would make an appeal to their friends, and their supporters to come here and support this bill. Somebody is going to get hurt; somebody usually does get hurt when any proposition is advanced that stands for a change, even though that change may be along the proper lines of Government, and therefore you gentlemen, notwithstanding the opposition of some of the gentlemen from Philadelphia, ought to pass this bill.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

On the question,

Shall the bill pass?

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, I have an amendment that is acceptable to the sponsor of the bill, which I would like to ask unanimous consent to have inserted in the bill. I therefore move that the vote by which this bill passed third reading be reconsidered.

Mr. SAVACOOL. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows;

Amend H. B. No. 409 File Folio No.1459, Section 12 by adding after the last word of the section the following "Provided, however, that upon the trial of any such action of assumpsit the reasonableness of the expenditures made by the Commissioner of Health shall be submitted to the jury for its determination."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to insert the amendment as read?

Is there any objection?

The Chair hears none and the amendment as read will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

The bill as amended was then agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

AMENDMENTS IN TRIPLICATE

The SPEAKER. The Clerks desire that a request be made of the members, in connection with the introduction of amendments to bills, that the amendments be submitted in triplicate. When they are submitted otherwise it is necessary for the amendments to be copied in the transcribing room, and that is one of the main reasons which causes the delay in the preparation of bills and in the preparation of the Calendar. The gentlemen will kindly comply with this request whenever it is practicable to do so.

SPECIAL ORDER.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE.

The SPEAKER. The hour of eleven o'clock having arrived, the Chair lays before the House as a special order for this hour, House Bill No. 399, File Folio 2871, on page 1 of yesterday's Calendar, Bill on Final Passage.

Agreeably to order.

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 399, as follows:

An Act defining the liability of an employer to pay damages for injuries received by an employee in the course of employment establishing an elective schedule of compensation and regulating procedure for the determination of liability and compensation thereunder

Damages by Action at Law

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That in any action brought to recover damages for personal injury to an employee in the course of his employment or for death resulting from such injury it shall not be a defense

(a) That the injury was caused in whole or in part by the negligence of a fellow employee or

(b) That the employee had assumed the risk of the injury or

(c) That the injury was caused in any degree by the negligence of such employee unless it be established that the injury was caused by such employee's intoxication or by his reckless indifference to danger The burden of proving such intoxication or reckless indifference to danger shall be upon the defendant and the question shall be one of fact to be determined by the jury

Section 2 The employer shall be liable for the negligence of all employees while acting within the scope of their employment including engineers chauffeurs miners mine-foremen fire-bosses mine superintendents plumbers officers of vessels and all other employees licensed by the State or other governmental authority if the employer be allowed by law the right of free selection of such employees from the class of persons thus licensed

Section 3 An employer who permits the entry upon premises occupied by him or under his control of a laborer or of an assistant hired by an employee or contractor for the performance upon such premises of a part of the employer's regular business entrusted to such employee or contractor shall be liable to such laborer or assistant in the same manner and to the same extent as to his own employee

Section 4 No agreement composition or release of damages made before the happening of any accident except the agreement defined in Article two of this act shall be valid or shall bar a claim for damages for the injury resulting therefrom and any such agreement other than that defined in Article two herein is declared to be against the public policy of this Commonwealth The receipt of benefits from any association society or fund to which the employee shall have been a contributor shall not bar the recovery of damages by action at law nor the recovery of compensation under article two hereof and any release executed in consideration of such benefits shall be void

Elective Compensation

Section 1 When employer and employee shall by agreement either expres or implied as hereinafter provided accept the provisions of Article two of this act compensation for personal injury to or for the death of such employee by an accident in the course of his employment shall be made in all cases by the employer without regard to negligence according to the schedule contained in sections five and six of this Article provided that no compensation shall be made when the injury or death be intentionally self-inflicted but the burden of proof of such fact shall be upon the employer

The terms "injury" and "personal injury" as used in this Article shall be construed to mean only violence to the physical structure of the body and such disease or infection as naturally results therefrom and wherever death is mentioned as a cause for compensation under this article it shall mean only death resulting from such violence and its resultant effects and occurring within three hundred weeks after the accident The term "injury" by an accident in the course of his employment" as used in this article not nclude an injury caused by an act of a third person intended to injure the employee because of reasons personal to him and not directed against him as an employee or because of his employment but shall include all other injuries sustained while the employee is actually engaged in the furtherance of the business or affairs of the employer whether upon the employer's premises or elsewhere and shall include all injuries caused by the condition of the premises or by the operation of the employer's business or affairs thereon sustained by the employee who though not so engaged is injured upon the premises occupied by or under the control of the employer or upon which the employer's business or affairs are being carried on the employee's presence thereon being required by the nature of his employment

Section 2 Such agreement shall be an acceptance of all the provisions of article two of this act and shall operate as a surrender by the parties thereto of their rights to any form or amount of compensation or damages for any injury or death occurring in the course of the employment or to any method of determination thereof other than as provided in article two of this act Such agreement shall bind the employer and his personal representatives and the employee his or her wife or husband widow or widower next of kin and other dependents

Section 3 (a) In every contract of hiring made after June thirty one thousand nine hundred and thirteen and in every contract of hiring renewed or extended by mutual assent expressed or implied after said date it shall be conclusively presumed that the parties have accepted the provisions of article two of this act and have agreed to be bound thereby unless there be at the time of the making renewal or extension of such contract an express statement in writing from either party to the other that the provisions of article two of this act are not intended to apply and unless a true copy of such written statement accompanied by proof of service theerof upon the other party setting forth under oath or affirmation the time place and manner of such service be filed within ten days after service in the Bureau of Industrial Statistics of this Commonwealth Every contract of hiring oral written or implied from circumstances now in operation or made or implied on or before June thirty one thousand nine hundred and thirteen shall be conclusively presumed to continue subject to the provisions of article two hereof unless either party shall on or before June thirty one thousand nine hundred and thirteen in writing have notified the other party to such contract that the provisions of article two hereof are not intended to apply and unless there shall be filed in the Bureau of Industrial Statistics a true copy of such notice together with proof of service within the time and in the manner hereinabove prescribed provided however that the provisions of this section shall not be so construed as to impair the obligation of any contract now in force In the employment of minors article two shall be presumed to apply unless the said written notice be given by or to the parent or guardian of the minor It shall not be lawful for any officer or agent of this Commonwealth or for any county city borough or township therein or for any officer or agent thereof or for any other governmental authority created by the laws of this Commonwealth to give such notice of rejection of the provisions of this article to any employee of the State or of such governmental agency

(b) After June thirty one thousand nine hundred and thirteen an employer who permits the entry upon premises occupied by him or under his control of a laborer or an assistant hired by an employee or contractor for the performance upon such premises of a part of the employer's regular business entrusted to that employee or contractor shall be conclusively presumed to have agreed to pay to such laborer or assistant compensation in accordance with the provisions of article two unless the employer shall post in a conspicuous place upon the premises where the laborer's or assistant's work is done a notice of his intention not to pay such compensation and unless there be filed with the Bureau of Industrial Statistics within ten days thereafter a true copy of such notice together with proof of the posting of the same setting forth upon oath or affirmation the time place and manner of such posting and after June thirty one thousand nine hundred and thirteen any such laborer or assistant who shall enter upon premises occupied by or under the control of such employer for the purpose of doing such work shall be conclusively presumed to have agreed to accept the compensation provided in article two in lieu of his right of action at common law or under article one unles he shall have given notice in writing to the employer at the time of entering upon such employer's premises for the purpose of doing his work of his intention not to accept such compensation and unless within ten days thereafter there shall have been filed with the Bureau of Industrial Statistics a true copy of such notice accompanied by proof of service thereof upon such employer setting forth under oath on affirmation the time place and manner of such service And in such cases where article two binds such employer and such laborer or assistant it shall not be in effect between the intermediate employer or contractor and such laborer or assistant unless otherwise expressly agreed

Section 4. The contract for the operation of the provisions of article two of this act may be terminated prior to any accident by either party upon sixty days' notice to the other in writing if a copy of such notice with proof of service be filed in the Bureau of Industrial Statistics as provided in section three of this article

Section 5 The following schedule of compensation is hereby established for injuries resulting in disability

(a) For the first three hundred weeks after the fourteenth day of total disability fifty per centum of the wages received at the time of injury but the compensation shall not be more than ten dollars per week nor less than five dollars per week provided that if at the time of injury the employee receves wages of less than five dollars per week then he shall receive the full amount of such wages per week as compensation And after the first three hundred weeks of total disability for the remainder of the life of the employee forty per centum of the wages received at the time of the injury but the compensation shall not be more than eight dollars per week nor less than four dollars per week Provided that if at the time of the injury the employee received wages of less than four dollars per week then he shall receive the full amount of such wages as compensation Nothing in this clause shall require the payment of compensation after disability shall cease should partial disability be followed by total disability the period of three hundred weeks mentioned in this clause during which compensation was paid for such partial disability

(b) For disability partial in character (except the) particular cases mentioned in clause (c) fifty per centum of the difference between the wages received at the time of injury and the earning power of the employee thereafter but such compensation shall not be more than ten dollars per week This compensation shall be paid during the period such paritial disability not however beyond three hundred weeks after the fourteenth day of such disability Should total disability be followed by partial disability the period of three hundred weeks mentioned in this clause shall be reduced by the number of weeks during which compensation was paid for such total disability

(c) For all disability resulting from permanent injuries of the following classes the compensation shall be exclusively as follows

For the loss of a hand fifty per centum of wages during one hundred and seventy-five weeks

For the loss of any two or more of such members not constituting total disability fifty per centum of wages during the aggregate of the periods specified for each

The loss of both hands or both arms or both feet or both legs or both eyes shall constitute total disability to be compensated according to the provisions of clause (a)

Amputation between the elbow and the wrist shall be considered as the equivalent of the loss of a hand and amputation between the knee and ankle shall be considered as the equivalent of the loss of a foot Amputation at or above the elbow shall be considered as the loss of an arm and amputation at or above the knee shall be considered as the loss of a leg Permanent loss of a hand arm foot leg or eye shall be considered as the equivalent of the loss of such hand arm foot leg or eye

This compensation shall not be more than ten dollars per week nor less than five dollars per week provided that if at the time of injury the employee receives wages of less than five dollars per week then he shall receive the full amount of such wages per week as compensation

(d) No compensation shall be allowed for the first fourteen days after disability begins except as hereinafter provided in clause (e) of this section

(e) During the first fourteen days after disability begins the employer shall furnish reasonable surgical medical and hospital services medicines and supplies as and when needed not to exceed twenty-five dollars in value unless the employee refuses to allow them to be furnised by the employer

(f) Should the employee die as a result of the injury the period during which compensation shall be payable to his dependents under section 6 of this article shall be reduced by the period during which compensation was paid to him in his lifetime under this section of this article No reduction shall be made for the amount which may have been paid for medical and hospital services and medicines nor for the expenses of the last sickness and burial Should the employee die from some other cause than the injury the liability for compensation shall cease

Section 6 In case of death compensation shall be computed on the following basis and distributed to the following persons

1 To the child or children if there be no widow nor widower entitled to compensation twenty-five per centum of wages of deceased with ten per centum additional for each child in excess of two with a maximum of sixty per centum to be paid to their guardian

2 To the widow or widower if there be no children twenty-five per centum of wages

3 To the widow or widower if there be one child forty per centum of wages

4 To the widow or widower if there be two children forty-five per centum of wages

5 To the widow or widower if there be three children fifty per centum of wages

6 To the widow or widower if there be four children fifty-five per cetnum of wages

7 To the widow or widower if there be five children or more sixty per centum of wages

8 If there be neither widow widower nor children then to the father and mother or the survivor of them if dependent to any extent upon the employee for support at the time of his death twenty per centum of wages

9 If there be neither widow widower children nor dependent parent then to the brothers and sisters if actually dependent to any extent upon the decedent for support at the time of his death fifteen per centum of wages for one brother or sister and five per centum additional for each additional brother or sister with a maximum of twenty-five per centum such compensation to be paid to their guardian

10 Whether or not there be dependents as aforesaid the reasonable expenses of last sickness and burial not exceeding one hundred dollars (without deduction of any amounts theretofore paid for compensation or for medical expenses) payable to the dependents or if there be no dependents then to the personal representatives of the deceased

Compensation shall be payable under this section to or on account of any child brother or sister only if and while such child brother or sister is under the age of sixteen No compensation shall be payable under this section to a widow unless she was living with her deceased husband at the time of his death or was then actually dependent upon him for support No compensation shall be payable under this section to a widower unless he be incapable of self-support at the time of his wife's death and be at such time dependent upon her for support The terms "child" and "children" shall include step-children and adopted children if members of decedent's household at the time of his death and shall include posthumous children Should any dependent of a deceased employe die or should the widow or widower remarry or should the widower become capable of self-support the right of such dependent or such widow or widower to compensation under this section shall cease If the compensation payable under this section to any person shall for any cause cease the compensation to the remaining persons entitled thereunder shall thereafter be the same as would have been payable to them had they been the only persons entitled to compensation at the time of the death of the deceased

The wages upon which death compensation shall be based shall not in any case be taken to exceed twenty dollars per week nor be less than ten dollars per week This compensation shall be paid during three hundred weeks and in the case of chidren entitled to compensation under clause 1 of this section the compensation of each child shall (if the other parent be dead or have abandoned such child) continue until such child reach the age of sixteen at the rate of fifteen per centum of wages if there be but one child with ten per centum additional for each additional child with a maximum of fifty per centum

Section 7 Except as hereinafter provided all compensation payable under this article shall be payable in periodical installments as the wages of the employee were payable before the accident

Whenever in this article the term "wages" is used it shall be construed to mean the money rate at which the service rendered is recompensed under the contract of hiring in force at the time of the accident and shall not include gratuities received from the employer or others nor shall it include board lodging or similar advantages received from the employer unless the money value of such advantages shall have been fixed by the parties at the time of hiring In occupations involving seasonal employment or employments dependent upon the weather the employee's weekly wages shall be taken to be one-fiftieth of the total wages which he has earned from all occupations during the year immediately preceding the accident unless it be shown that during such year by reason of exceptional causes such method of computation does not ascertain fairly the earnings of the employee in which case the period of calculation shall be extended so far as to give a basis for the fair ascertainment of his average weekly earnings In continuous employments if immediately prior to the accident the rate of wages was fixed by day or hour or by the output of the employee his weekly wages shall be taken to be five and one-half times his average earnings at such for a working day of ordinary length excluding earnings from overtime and using as the basis of calculation his earnings during so much of the preceding six months as he worked for the same employer Where the employee is working under concurrent contracts with two or more employers his wages from all employers shall be considered as if earned from the employer liable for compensation

Section 8 Compensation under this article to alien dependent widows children and parents not residents of the United States shall be the same in amount as is provided in each case for residents except that at any time within one year after death of the injured employee the employer may at his option commute all future installments of compensation to be paid to alien dependents not residents of the United States by paying to such alien dependents two-thirds of the total amount of such future installments of compensation Alien widowers brothers and sisters not residents of the United States shall not be entitled to any compensation

Section 9 Unless the employer shall have actual knowledge of the occurrence of the injury or unless the employee or some one on his behalf or some of the dependents of some one on their behalf shall give notice thereof to the employer within fourteen days after the accident no compensation shall be due until such notice be given or knowledge obtained If notice be given or the knowledge obtained after fourteen days but within thirty days after the accident the delay shall not bar compensation unless the employer shall show that he was prejudiced thereby and then only to the extent of such prejudice If the notice be given or the knowledge obtained after thirty days but within ninety days after the accident and if the employee or other beneficiary shall show that his delay in giving notice was due to his mistake or ignorance of fact or of law or to his physical or mental inability or to fraud misrepresentation or deceit or to any other reasonable cause or excuse then compensation shall be allowed except to the extent that the employer shall show that he was prejudiced by such delay Unless knowledge be obtained or notice given within ninety days after the accident no compensation shall be allowed

To (name of employer)

You are hereby notified that an injury of the following character ( ) was received by (name of employee injured) who was in your employment at (place) while engaged as (kind of employment) on or about ( ) the ( ) day of ( ) Anno Domini ( ) and that compensation will be claimed therefor

Date Signed ( )

but no variation from this form shall be material if the notice be sufficient to inform the employer that a certain employees name received an injury the charactr of which is described in ordinary language in the course of his employment on or about a time specified and at or near a place specified

Section 11 The notices referred to in section three and section nine hereof may be served personally upon the employer or upon the manager or superintendent in charge of the works or business in which the accident occurred or by sending them through the registered mail to the employer at his or its last known residence or place of business or if the employer be a corporation either foreign or domestic then upon the president vice-president secretary or treasurer thereof Knowledge of the occurrence of the injury on the part of any of said agents shall be the knowledge of the employer

Section 12 After an injury the employee if so requested by him employer must submit himself for examination at some reasonable time and place and as often as may be reasonably requested to a physician or physicians legally authorized to practice under the laws of such place who shall be selected and paid by the employer If the employee requests he shall be entitled to have a physician or physicians of his own selection to be paid by him present to participate in such examination For all examinations after the first the employer shall pay the reasonable traveling expenses and loss of wages incurred by the employee in order to submit to such examination The refusal of the employee to submit to such examination shall deprive him of the right to compensation under this article during the continuance of such refusal and the period of such refusal shall be deducted from th period during which compensation would otherwise be payable

Section 13 In case of failure to agree upon a claim for compesation under this article between the employer and employee or the dependents of the employee either party may submit the claim as to questions of fact nature and effect of the injuries and the amount of compensation due therefor according to this article to the Court of Common Pleas of the county in which the accident occurred or of the county in which the adverse party resides or has a permanent place of business or by agreement of the parties to the Court of Common Pleas of any other county which courts shall hear and determine such disputes in a summary manner and their decisions as to all questions of fact shall be conclusive

Section 14 In case of personal injury all claims for compensation shall be forever barred unless within one year after the accident the parties shall have agreed upon the compensation payable under this article or unless within one year after the acident one of the parties shall have filed a petition as provided in section fifteen hereof In cases of death all claims for compensation shall be forever barred unless within one year after the death the parties shall have agreed upon the compensation under this article or unless within one year after the death one of the parties shall have filed a peititon as provided in section fifteen hereof Where however payments of compensation have been made in any case said limitation shall not take effect until the expiration of one year from the time of the making of the last payment

Either party may present a petition to said court or any judge thereof setting forth the names and residences of the parties and the facts relating to employment at the time of the accident the extent and character of the injury the amount of wages received at the time of the acident the knowledge of the employer or notice of the occurrence of the injury and such other facts as may be necessary and proper for the information of the said court shall state the matter or matters in dispute and the contention of the petitioner with reference thereto This petition shall be verified by the oath or affirmation of the ptitioner

Upon the presentation of such petition the same shall be filed with the prothonotary of the Court of Common Pleas and the court shall fix a time and place for the hearing thereof not less than three weeks after the date of the filing of said petition A copy of said petition and order shall be served upon the adverse party as a summons in a civil action may be served Within seven days after the service of such notice (unless the time be extended by the court for cause shown) the adverse party shall file an answer to said petition which shall admit or deny the substantial averments thereof and shall state the contention of the answering party with reference to the matters in dispute The answer shall be verified in like manner as the petition If no answer be filed as aforesaid evidence shall be offered at the hearing by the petitioner only The court shall in every case have authority to allow amendments of the petition or answer and to suspend the proceedings during the refusal of the employee to submit to the examination required by section twelve hereof

At the time fixed for hearing or any adjournment thereof the said court or any judge thereof shall hear the witnesses and in a summary manner decide the merits of the controversy This decision called an award shall be in writing and filed with the prothonotary of the Court of Common Pleas and shall contain a brief statement of the facts as determined by said court Costs may be awarded by said court in its discretion and when so awarded the same costs shall be allowed taxed and collected as are allowed taxed and collected for like services in the same court After petition filed the Court of Common Pleas may in its discretion upon motion of either party or of its own motion appoint one or more impartial physicians or surgeons to examine the injuries of the claimant and to report thereon to the court Said court shall have power to fix the compensation of such physicians or surgeons and to tax the same as a part of the costs of the proceedings The report of any physicians or surgeons appointed by the court as aforesaid shall be filed with the prothonotary and shall be a part of the record and shall be open to inspection by both parties Such report shall not be conclusive of the facts therein stated but shall be advisory only Appeals may be taken from the award of the Court of Common Pleas to the Supreme or Superior Courts in such manner and upon such terms as the Supreme Court shall by rule prescribe but no appeal shall operate as a supersedes unless allowed by trial or appelate court except where the compensation shall have been commuted as provided in section sixteen of this article Cases arising under this article shall have precedence both in the Courts of Common Pleas and in the appellate courts over all other civil cases

Section 16 The compensation contemplated by this article may be computed by said Court of Common Pleas at its present value when discounted at six per centum interest with annual rests disregarding the probability of the beneficiary's death (except in commuting payments due under clause (a) section five of this article) upon application of either party with due notice to the other if it appear that such commutation will be for the best interest of the employee or the dependents of the deceased employee or that it will avoid undue expense or undue hardship to either party or that such employee or dependent has removed or is about to remove from the United States or that the employer has sold or otherwise disposed of the whole or the greater part of his business or assets Except as provided in section eight hereof and in this section no commutation of compensation shall be made

An agreement or award of compensation may be modified at any time by a subsequent agreement or may be reviewed by said court upon the application of either party on the ground that the incapacity of the injured employee has subsequently increased or diminished or that the status of the dependent has changed In such case the provisions of section twelve and fifteen of this article with reference to medical examination shall apply

At any time after the entry of the award a sum equal to all future installments of compensation may (where death or the nature of the injury renders the amount of future payments certain) by leave of court be paid by the employer to any savings bank trust company or life insurance company in good standing and authorized to do business in this State and having an office in the county in which the award was entered and such sum together with all interest thereon shall thereafter be held in trust for the employee or the dependents of the employee who shall have no further recourse against the employer The payments of such sum by the employer evidenced by the receipt of the trustee noted upon the prothonotary's docket shall operate as a satisfaction of said award as to the employer Payments from said fund shall be made by the trustee in the same amounts and at the same periods as are herein required of the employer until said fund and interest shall be exhausted in the appointment of the trustee preference shall be given in the discretion of the court to the choice of the employee or the dependents of the deceased employee

Section 17 The right of compensation granted by this article of this act shall have the same preference (without limit of amount) against the assets of the employer as is now or may hereafter be allowed by law for a claim for unpaid wages for labor provided that no claim for compensation shall have priority over any mortgage or conveyance of land recorded prior to the filing of the petition or agreement as to compensation in the office of the prothonotary of the county in which such land is situated Claims or payments due under this article of this act shall not be assignable and (except as provided in section two of article III hereof) shall be exempt from all claims of creditors and from levy execution or attachment which exemption may not be waived

Section 18 Where the employer and the employee or the dependents of the employee shall after any accident agree upon the compensation payable hereunder for such accident a memorandum of such agreement signed by the parties may be filed with the prothonotary of said Court of Common Pleas The costs of the prothontary for such service shall be allowed taxed and collected as heretofore upon a confession of judgment When thus filed such agreement shall have the same effect as if it were an award of the court as provided in section fifteen hereof but shall be subject to review by the court for fraud mistake or other cause shown provided however that nothing in this Section shall be construed to permit a commutation of payments except as provided in sections eight and sixteen hereof and provided further that no agreement relating to compensation shall be valid if made within fourteen days of the accident nor shall any such agreement be valid of it vary the percentage of wages payable as compensation or the period during which compensation is to be paid as stated in sections five and six hereof

Section 19 If default shall be made by the employer for thirty days after demand in the payment of any amount due under any of the provisions of this article then upon petition of any person interested and after ten days notice thereof to the employer served in the same manner in which a summons may be served the court or any judge thereof shall if the default still exists enter judgment thereon for the amount or amounts due together with interest thereon and costs Upon such judgment no stay of execution shall be allowed except in the discretion of the court

Section 20 It shall be the duty of the prothonotary of each Court of Common Pleas to make report monthly to the Bureau of Industrial Statistics of all proceedings begun in such court under this article of this act classifying such report in such manner as to show whether the proceedings are brought for the settlement of a dispute as to liability for compensation for a modification thereof for a commutation of payments for a judgment in default of payment or for fixing of counsel fees and such report shall state the number and term of each proceeding but neither names nor further detail need be given unless required by the Bureau of Industrial Statistics

Section 21 Where a third person is liable to the employee or the dependents for the injury or death the employer shall be subrogated to the right of the employee or the dependents against such third person but only to the extent of the compensation payable under this article by the employer Any recovery against such third person in excess of the compensation theretofore paid by the employer shall be paid forthwith to the employee or to the dependents and shall be treated as an advance payment by the employer on account of any future installments of compensation

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

REASONS FOR VOTE.

By Mr. REUBEN HOWARD. In casting my vote against House Bill No. 399 I do not want it understood that I am opposing the principle invoived in an adequate and proper workman's Compensation Bill. I favor such legislation if it is so drafted as to provide reasonable and proper relief to the laboring man whose protection is intended by such laws. But when an effort is made to enact a measure like this one, the effect is made to impose a burden upon the employer of the individual workman and the agricultural employer that is entirely out of proportion with the benefit to be gained by the laboring interests at large, I feel that my duty to all the people of my district obligates me to vote in the negative.

By Mr. STRAUSS. I favor a bill of this kind but farmer's should be excepted from its provisions.

By Mr. LANIUS. The bill as drafted is distinctly unjust and places undo hardship upon the farmers of this Commonwealth. Under the act they are compelled to assume the liability for their own employees and have no control under certain conditions. I have reason to believe, from past knowledge, that the act will prove nothing short of an additional tax upon the farmer since the manufacturer will undoubtedly advance the price of his products. Mr. Shern, the sponsor of this bill, has admitted upon the floor that he knows nothing of farms or farmers.

Reasons for votoing no.

For the same reason given here, namely, that this act as well as the acts immediately following are of the same class and are companion bills of this one, I vote in the negative. I believe in a compensation to the worker, but I believe that the farmer who feeds and clothes and shelters the nation should not be subjected to unjust treatment at the hands of any legislative body. Agriculture is the staff of our existence, the farmer, that great son of toil, is man's best friend, and should this act become a law, I am satisfied that the future will vindicate my views. I desire only to be just and my constituents who know me and whose confidence I enjoy will most certainly agree with me that I have acted both wisely and justly.

Reasons for voting no.

By Mr. COCHRAN. Mr. Speaker, my reason for voting against House Bill No. 399 is because the proposed law will impose a great burden upon the Agricultural Districts and the small employer of labor. I am in favor of a Workman's Compensation law that accomplishes what such laws are intended for, but I believe that the advantage which the labor interests, intended to be protected by this act, will have is not commensurate with the loss and injury that the agricultural interests and small employers of the State will sustain.

By Mr. SPANGLER. Every progressive movement of importance in the history of the world has been attended with fear, mistrust and vigorous opposition. Human nature naturally recoils at the novel, especially when it has for its purpose a change in the method of finacial responsibility, a substitution of an entirely new system for one that is old and has the sanction of time. New taxes and new methods of taxation always arouse suspicion and hostility in those who are compelled to bear their burden.

It is, therefore, little wonder that when the manufacturer or employer is brought face to face with a law that prescribes compensatory damages that are certain, direct and specific and which constitute an entire change over the old system of haphazard uncertainty, he should become fearful and anxious as regards their effect upon him.

The Workingman's Compensation law that we are to pass upon to-day is a new development in the industrial progress of Pennsylvania. In the past ten years there has been an increasing demand for improvement in the conditions surrounding labor. The employer of the present knows that the sanitary and healthful surrounding produce better workmen, and better workmen produce better work, and he has therefore come to realize that the improvements in the way of safety-devices, ventilation and sanitary facility that humane laws have compelled him to install for the well-being of his employees, have not retarded but promoted his prosperity.

Pennsylvania has, up to the present, not been abreast to the times in respect to the safeguarding of the workman against injury sustained by them in the course of employment. The right to recompense on the part of the employee is hedged about by the same limitations and restrictions that obtained a hundred years ago, with slight statutory modification and improvement. That we have entirely outgrown the present system is as patent as the contrast of the mode of dress of 1860 with that of 1913. Gradually but surely the public conscience has awakened to the belief that the workman injured in the course of employment, when that injury is not self-inflicted, should be provided for and assisted. and that the workman should not be cast upon the human scrap-heap where he becomes a burden to himself and the community that is compelled to keep him.

In order that this step of progress might be taken advisedly and not precipitately, the Legislature of 1911, by the Act of June 14, 1911, provided for the appointment of an Industrial Accident Commission to investigate the subject. In pursuance of said Act, the Governor appointed seven eminent men who made an exhaustive investigation into the subject of workmen's compensation as applied both in this country and abroad. In their report, on page 6, the Commission condemned the present status of employers' liability as follows:

"(1) the delay while the case is awaiting trial and while appeals are pending, always preventing relief at the moment of the workman's greatest need;
(2) the technicality inseparable from hard-fought litigation;
(3) the frequent failure of cases through the employee's liability to produce "evidence of negligence";
(4) the success of a plaintiff whose conscience and whose counsel permit him to exaggerate or to lie, while one more scrupulous will be defeated in a case quite as meritorious in facts;
(5) the bitterness that nearly always results, to the injury of both employer and employee;
(6) the frequency of illogical and unjust verdicts, and the possibility of corrupt verdicts;
(7) the waste of litigation in lawyers' fees, witnesses' fees, disturbance of business and expenses of preparation for trial—a victory for the employer often costing him as much money as would have quite relieved the needs of the employee; and
(8) the exorbitant contigent fees often charged by lawyers representing the employee. It is no exaggeration to say that under this system as now applied in Pennsylvania, not more than one-third of the amount spent by the employer in claim department outlay ever reaches the employee. The balance is absorbed in transmission.

We believe that to discuss the demerits of such a system would be superfluous. It has brought injustice, suffering and discontent. Its disappearance will be welcomed by every think man."

The Commission, in their report, set forth the four general systems of compensation for injured workmen that have been tried at various times and in various countries. They are; (a) employers' liability based on fault; (b) compulsory elective insurance funds; (c) compulsory compensation by employer or employee; (d) elective compensation by employer or employee.

All of these systems have been thoroughly studied by the Commission and their advantages and defects clearly and logically set forth in the report of the Commission.

The bill that we now have before us is the bill that this committe has drafted and recommended. It is a composite of the best features of workmen's compensation laws at present in force throughout the world. On page 12, the report states: In preparation of this bill we have tried to adopt the best features of laws of the same kind in other states and countries. but with a view to the prevention of controversies and litigation we have gone farther than any other act in the definition of the term used. The schedule of compensation has been prepared with the utmost care and, while it is more liberal in its allowance of compensation for serious, permanent injury than many similar laws, that of New Jersey, for example, this feature is balanced by restricting the allowance for medical attention to a sum more nearly commensurate with the ordinary cost of such attention."

In order to protect himself, the employer will be compelled to insure against accident, which most employers do now in the absence of employers' liability act. That this insurance will adapt itself automatically to meet the degree of risk, the experience of the past has proved.

I represent a district that contains within its boundaries a city which ranks as the third city of the State in the diversity of its manufactured products. Its manufacturing plants represent millions of dollars and employ thousands of hands. I have heard fears expressed on the part of a number of large manufacturers in my city relative to the effects of this bill upon their business and some have even gone so far as to say that, in the event of the passage of this bill, they will close down their shop because of the extraordinary hazard they will be compelled to assume. I do not, however, believe that the concensus of opinion of the manufacturers who have given this bill their thorough consideration and who thoroughly understand it, will oppose it. I believe that this bill, if enacted into law, will, in all probability, need some changes which experience with its operation, alone can bring to light. If I personally believe that this bill, if enacted into a law, would not improve the general condition of the manufacturer as well as of the employee, I would feel justified not only in voting against it but in exerting my most vigorous opposition to bring about its defeat. But I believe, on the contrary, that this law is a step forward in industrial progress and that time will bring to pass its vindication and demonstrate its merit.

Mr. CARSON. Reasons for voting against Bill No. 399, or Workman's Compensation act. Will work a hardship on more persons than it will benefit. That it is a crude drawn act. Without regard to a great majority of the persons affected thereby and it will seriously affect the interests of small corporations, farm and individuals and further, section 3, article one, relieves contractors from all responsibility and puts it on owners of property which surely is illogical.

For these and others reasons, I vote in opposition to my preelection promises.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. ALWORTH. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question.

Mr. ALWORTH. Mr. Speaker, not being present in the House when Bill 399 was called, I desire to be recorded as voting "aye".

The SPEAKER. The gentleman desires it to be noted upon the record that, had he been present when House Bill No. 399 was voted upon, he would have voted "aye". If there is no objection, the clerks will be directed to enter this notation immediately after the vote upon said bill.

The Chair hears no objection and it is so directed.

SPECIAL ORDER.

NAYS—7.

Body,	Hoffman,	Kuhns, E.G.M.,	Mellott,
Hibshman,	Kitts,	Lanius,	Rothenberger,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 403, as follows:

An Act to provide for the incorporation and regulation of Employers' Mutual Liability Associations

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That any twenty or more employers who have in the aggregate not less than five thousand employes in the State of Pennsylvania and who have accepted the provisions of article two of the workmen's compensation law of one thousand nine hundred and thirteen may form an incorporated employers' mutual liability insurance association for the purpose of insuring themselves and such other employers as may become subscribers to the association against liability for the compensation payable under the terms of article two of such act "Provided however that in the case of associations engaged only in insurance of employers engaged in agriculture the minimum number of employers shall be two hundred and the minimum number of employes shall be five hundred

Section 2 The articles of association thereof shall state

(a) The name of the association
(b) The place of its principal office
(c) The duration of the association
(d) The name and address of its treasurer

Any name not in use by an existing association may be adopted but must clearly designate the object and purpose of the association

Section 3 The subscribers to said articles of agreement shall acknowledge the same before some person empowered to take acknowledgements of deeds and forward the same in duplicate to the Commissioner of Insurance who shall certify in duplicate to the Governor whether all of the requirements hereof have been complied with Whereupon the Governor shall in case he approves the application endorse his approval thereon in duplicate and cause letters patent to issue creating the subscribers and their associates a body corporate under the name designated in said articles but such association shall not engage in business until the further provisions of this act have been complied with

Section 4 Such association shall not begin to issue policies until a list of the subscribers with the number of employes of each together with such other information as the Commissioner of Insurance may require shall have been filed at the Insurance Department nor until the president and secretary of the association shall have certified under oath that every subscription in the list so filed is genuine and made with an agreement of all the subscribers that they will take the policies subscribed for within thirty days of the granting of a license by the Commissioner of Insurance

Section 5 Upon the filing of the certificate provided for in the preceding section the Commissioner of Insurance shall make such investigations as he may deem proper and if his findings warrant it grant a license to the association to issue policies

Section 6 Charters under this act may be perpetual or limited in time as the articles of agreement shall specify

Section 7 Such association shall have the power to make by-laws for the government of its officers and the conduct of its affairs and the same to alter and amend and adopt a common seal

Section 8 The annual meeting for the election of directors shall be held at such time in the month of January as the by-laws of the association may direct Of the time and place of said meeting at least thirty days' previous written or printed notice shall be given to the subscribers or such notice may be given by publication not less than three times in at least two daily or weekly newspapers published in the city or county wherein the association has its principal office and in the legal periodical if any designated by the rules of court of the proper county for the publication of legal notices Subscribers who during the preceding calendar year have paid into the treasury of the association premiums amounting to more than one-half of the total premiums received by it during that year shall constitute a quorum At such annual meeting the subscribers shall elect by ballot from their own number not less than five directors a majority of whom shall be residents of this Commonwealth to serve for at least one year and until their successors are duly chosen Provided however that such association may provide in its by-laws for the division of its board of directors into two three or four classes and for the election thereof at its annual meetings in such manner that the members of one class only shall retire and their successors be chosen each year Vacancies may be filled by election by the board until the next annual meeting In the choice of directors and in all meetings of the association each subscriber shall be entitled to one vote for every one hundred dollars or any fraction thereof paid by him in premiums into the treasury of the association during the preceding calendar year Subscribers may vote by proxy and the record of all votes shall be made by the secretary and shall show whether the same were cast in person or by proxy and shall be evidence of all such elections Not less than three directors shall constitute a quorum The directors shall annually choose by ballot a president who shall be a member of the board a secretary a treasurer who may also be either the president or secretary and such other officers as the by-laws may provide and they shall fix the salaries of the president and secretary as well as the salaries or compensation of such other officers and agents as the by-laws prescribe Vacancies in any office may be filled by the directors or by the subscribers as the by-laws shall prescribe

Section 9 Policies of insurance issued by any such association may be made either with or without the seal thereof and they shall be signed by the president or such other officers as may be designated by the directors for that purpose and attested by the secretary

Section 10 If at any time the number of subscribers or the number of the subscribers' employes within the State falls below the minimums stated in section one hereof no further policies shall be issued until the total number of subscribers and the total number of employes within the State are not less than such minimums

Section 11 The board of directors shall be entitled to inspect the plant work-room shop farm or premises of any subscriber and for such purpose to appoint inspectors who shall have free access to all such premises during the regular working hours and the board of directors shall likewise from time to time be entitled to examine by their auditor or other agent the books records and payrolls of any subscriber for the purpose of determining the amount of premium chargeable to such subscriber

The board of directors shall make reasonable rules and regulations for the prevention of injuries upon the premises of subscribers and they may refuse to insure or may terminate the insurance of any subscriber who refuses to permit such examinations or disregards such rules or regulations and forfeit all premiums previously paid by him but such termination of the insurance of any subscriber shall not release him from liability for the payment of assessments then or thereafter made by the board of directors to make up deficiencies existing at the termination of his insurance

Section 12 Every subscriber to such association shall be under a contingent mutual liability for the payment of losses and expenses in excess of the cash funds of the association to an amount equal to the premium paid by him during the current year

Section 13 The board of directors shall determine the amount of the premiums which the subscribers of the association shall pay for their insurance in accordance with the nature of the business in which such subscribers are engaged and the probable risk of injury to their employes under existing conditions and they shall fix premiums at such amounts as in their judgment subject to the approval of the Commissioner of Insurance shall be sufficient to enable the association to pay to its subscribers all sums which may become due and payable to their employes under the provisions of article two of the workmen's compensation law of one thousand nine hundred and thirteen and also the expenses of conducting the business of the association In fixing the premium payable by any subscriber the board of directors may take into account the condition of the plant work-room shop farm or premises of such subscriber in respect to the safety of those employed therein as shown by the report of any inspector appointed by such board and they may from time to time change the amount of premiums payable by any of the subscribers as circumstances may require and the condition of the plant work-room shop farm or premises of such subscriber in respect to the safety of their employes may justify and they may increase the premiums of any subscriber neglecting to provide safety devices required by law or disobeying the rules or regulations made by the board of directors in accordance with the provisions of section eleven of this act No policy of insurance issued to any subscriber shall be effective until he shall have paid in cash the premium so fixed and determined

Section 14 If the association be not possessed of cash funds over and above its unearned premiums on undetermined risks sufficient for the payment of incurred losses and expenses it shall make an assessment for the amount needed to pay such losses and expenses upon the subscribers liabel to assessment therefor in proportion to their several liabilities

Section 15 The board of directors may from time to time fix and determine the amount to be paid as dividends upon policies expiring each year after retaining the unearned premiums upon undetermined risks and sufficient sums to pay all the compensation then payable or which may become payable on account of injuries therefore received by employes of the subscribers and to pay the expenses incurred in the operation of the business of the association

Section 16 The board of directors may divide the subscribers into groups in acordance with the nature of their business and the probable risk of injury therein In such case they shall fix all premiums make all assessments and determine and pay all dividends by and for each group in accordance with the experience thereof but all funds of the association and the contingent liability of all the subscribers shall be available for the payment of any claim against the association Provided however that (as between the association and its subscribers) until the whole of the contingent liability of the members of any group shall be exhausted the general funds of the association and the contingent liability of the members of other groups shall not be available for the payment of losses and expenses incurred by such group in excess of the earned premiums paid by the members thereof

Section 17 A statement of any proposed premium assessment dividend or distribution of subscribers into groups shall be filed with the Insurance Department and shall not take effect until approved by the Commissioner of Insurance

Section 18 If any officer of the association shall falsely make oath to any certificate required to be filed with the Commissioner of Insurance he shall be guilty of perjury

Section 19 Any subscriber of the association who has complied with all its rules and regulations may withdraw therefrom by written notice to that effect sent by such subscriber by registered mail to the association and such withdrawal shall become effective on the first day of the month immediately following the tenth day after the receipt of such notice but such withdrawal shall not release such subscriber from liability for the payment of assessments thereafter made by the board of directors to make up deficiencies existing at the date of his withdrawal and such subscriber shall be entitled to his share of any dividends earned at the date of his withdrawal

Section 20 If the Commissioner of Insurance shall find that more than fifty per centum of the contigent liability of all the subscribers is required to pay accrued losses after charging against the funds in hand the unearned premiums on undetermined risks no further insurance shall be issued until the subscribers have made good such deficiency

Section 21 Such association shall invest and keep invested all its funds of every description excepting such cash as may be required in the transaction of its business as follows

First In such real estate as it is authorized to hold by section twenty-two of this act

Second In bonds of the United States or the District of Columbia or of any State or territory of the United States

Third In the legally authorized bonds or notes of any city county township municipality school or water district of this Commonwealth or of any other State or territory of the United States or Canada

Fourth in the bonds or notes of any solvent railroad or street railway corporation upon which no default in interest has been made

Fifth In loans upon improved and unincumbered real estate provided that no loan on such real estate shall exceed sixty-six and two-thirds per centum of the fair market value thereof at the time of making such loan

Section 22 No such association shall purchase hold or convey real estate except for the purpose and in the manner herein set forth to wit

First Such as shall be requisite for its convient accommodation in the transaction of its business

Second Such as shall have been mortgaged to it to secure loans previously contracted or for moneys due

Third Such as shall have been conveyed to it in satisfaction of debts

Fourth Such as shall have been purchased at sales upon judgments decrees or mortgages obtained or made for debts due the association or for debts due other persons where said association may have liens or incumbrances on the same

Any real estate purchased under the second third or fourth paragraphs of this section which has been held for a period of more than five years from the date of its purchase shall be sold and disposed of within a period of six months after notice to the association from the Insurance Commissioner to sell and convey the same Provided however that the Commissioner may extend the time for such disposition if he believes the interest of the association will suffer materially by a forced sale

Section 23 Any money of such association over and above the unearned premiums on undertermined risks and such sums as are required to pay all accrued losses may be invested in the securities above enumerated or loaned upon the security of the same or in the stock or other evidence of indebtedness of any solvent dividend-paying corporation created under the laws of this Commonwealth or of any other State of the United States or loaned upon the pledge of the same except its own stock or the stock of any other insurance company Provided the current market value of such security shall be at least twenty per centum more than the sum loaned thereon But no such association shall invest any of its funds in any unincorporated business or enterprise nor in the stocks or evidence of indebtedness of any corporation the owners or holders of which stock or evidence of indebtedness may in any event be or become liable on account thereof for any assessment except for taxes not more than one-fifth of its capital shall be invested in a single mortgage nor shall any of its funds be loaned on personal security alone No such association shall invest in acquire or hold directly or indirectly more than ten per centum of the securities of any single company nor shall more than ten per centum of its assets be invested in the stock of a single company No such association shall enter into an agreement to withhold from sale of any of its property but the disposition of its property shall be at all times within the control of its board of directors If any investment or loan is made in a manner not authorized by this act the officers and directors making or authorizing the same shall be personally liable for any loss occasioned thereby

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I desire at this time to call up House Bill No. 955, file folio 1085, on page 43 of yesterday's Calendar Bills on Third Reading Postponed for the Present.

Agreeably to order,

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 955, entitled:

An Act authorizing cities of the first class to make contracts for lighting telephone service removal of garbage removal of ashes or for street cleaning for a period not exceeding five years providing for annual appropriations for payments for successive years prescribing the extent to which such contracts shall be included in statements and estimates of current liabilities and current income in tax levies and in determining the legality of warrants on the city treasurer and repealing inconsistent acts

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL RECOMMITTED.

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary Special.

Mr. COX. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Mr. FREY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up House Bill No. 774, file folio 1137, on page 44 of to-day's Calendar, bills on third reading postponed for the present.

Agreeably to order,

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 774, entitled:

An Act to repeal an act approved the fourth day of March one thousand nine hundred and eleven entitled "An Act to cede jurisdiction to the United States over the Hanover Public Road in the County of Adams leading to the scene of the cavalry fight"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. FREY. Mr. Speaker, when this bill was reached in its regular order on the third reading calendar some members of the House desired some information on it. As I was absent at the time, the bill was placed on the postponed calendar. In explanation of this bill I desire to say that two years ago this House passed the act which this bill seeks to repeal. It gave the United States Government jurisdiction over what is known as the Hanover Public Road. Since that time neither the United States Government nor its agents have done anything to improve this road, and it has fallen into a state of decay, and has become a menace to the traveling public. This bill will place the road in charge of persons who will see that it is in a condition that will make it safe for travel. I would therefore ask the Gentlemen of this House to support the bill.

The question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

NAYS—3.

Jones, J. R., Kaufman, Morrow.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and considerationof House Bill No. 570, as follows:

An Act requiring any individual firm or corporation or mining anthracite coal in this Commonwealth where coal is mined and paid for by the car to keep a record of all coal mined at the miners' chutes where said coal is loaded in cars providing that said record shall be the final basis in computing the miners' earnings per car without any deduction for any slate or refuse that may be loaded in said car or cars in the usual and natural course of mining coal providing further that said record shall be open for the inspection of all miners and providing penalties for failure to comply with the provisions of this act

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of th[illegible] Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That at every anthracite coal mine in this Commonwealth where coal is mined and paid for by the car a record of all cars of coal mined shall be kept at the miners' chutes or at the most convenient and practical of said chutes where said coal is loaded in cars which record shall be the final basis in computing the miners' earnings per car without any deduction for any slate or other refuse that may be loaded on said cars in the usual and natural course of mining and loading coal and which record shall be open at all times for the inspection of all miners

Section 2 Any individual firm or corporation violating any of the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall for each offense be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than fifty dollars nor more than one hundred dollars

Section 3 That all acts or parts of acts inconsistent with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LENKER. Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the House, on behalf of the Mine Workers of the Anthracite Coal Fields I presented this bill. If enacted into law it will abolish a pernicious system. The first part of Section one of this Act is intended to correct a very faulty system of keeping track of the miners' cars, closely allied to the "docking system" which I will explain later on, and which is responsible for large losses of money to the miners of most sections. I know you will all agree with me that the miners should recieve credit and pay according to their contract for each car loaded. This he does not get under most mining companies until his car of coal reaches the breaker, which generally is several miles away. Now this faulty system gives dishonest miners an opportunity to take the ticket from the car placed there by the original owner of the car and replace it with one of their own, thereby gaining credit and pay for coal which, of course, rightfully belongs to another. Now this is practiced considerably. The passage of this act would remove this opportunity of dishonest miners. It will also remove and abolish considerable suspicion and, I might even say, a deep conviction in the minds of the miners of some sections that some company officials deliberately refuse to credit the miner with his entire output. Sometimes under this system cars are emptied or wrecked before reaching the breaker. Although in charge of the mining company, the miner in no wise responsible for the loss, if the ticket becomes lost the miner does not receive credit for his coal. Now, the miner should and will, under the provisions of this proposed act, receive credit for his coal when loaded, when his responsibility should cease; even without additional cost to the mining companies, by having the loader or loader boss keep a record, the same as it is done under the Philadelphia & Reading Company's system which is very satisfactory to all concerned. Now, under this unjust system the honest miner is at all time at the mercy of the dishonest miner, and the dishonest company official. I suppose we have some of these also. Now the second part of section one of this Act was designed in order to abolish a subtle and pernicious system that is responsibile for very large losses in earnings to the miners of most sections. The injustice of this so-called "Docking System" is evident and apparent to all who understand it, and one of the greatest purposes and reasons that I can advance for this abolition is furnished by the fact that it is practiced but little, if at all, by the Philadelphia & Reading Company,—to their everlasting credit,—the largest anthracite producing Company in the State of Pennsylvania.

Now the miners are only appealing to you in this bill for justice. They are only asking for a square deal. They believe and know that when they make a contract with their inside foreman, who is in charge of all work under ground, to receive a certain stipulated price per car, that that contract so made should not be abrogated or broken by the outside foreman, who, although not a party to the contract, hires a man who is called a "Docking Boss", who must dock the miner, if it is a proper name—they call it stealing—the entire cars or portions of cars, claiming the cars contain too much rock, slate or dirt. Now, the miner must bear this unjust abrogation of the contract, notwithstanding the fact that these impurities are naturally produced in the usual and natural course of the mining of coal, for which the miner is in no-wise responsible; and notwithstanding the fact that these cars for which the miner receives little or nothing are dumped into the breaker with the other coal. This statement, startling as it may seem to some of you, is true. As a practical miner, I personally know that where the miner's coal contains impurities such as rock and slate his work is harder and extremely dangerous.

Now the reasonable and just contention of the miners is that if this coal contains impurities in undue proportions, that the Company officials should of right investigate his working place and stop it if deemed necessary, instead of using this so-called docking system as a cloak merely to take large portions of his earnings regardless as to whether or not his coal contains impurities. It is a strong statement, gentlemen, but I know of what I speak.

I now desire to present a few figures showing the practice of this nefarious system in one section. I desire to say, gentlemen. that the few figures I have here, as to the docking system, is not practiced to that extent throughout the entire anthracite region. The repeal of the Act of 1883 has removed all restrictions so that companies can now dock at will. During the month of January in the Summit Branch Coal, prepared at Lykens, at the upper end of Dauphin County, there were 13,571 cars sent to the breaker. The miners were docked 413 3-4 cars for dirt, 424 3-4 cars for slate and they lost 61 tickets. Now, gentlemen. that would be about the average throughout the entire year. Taking the month of March, 540 docked for dirt, 540 for rock. Take the month of November, 426 for dirt and 478 for rock; and so on. It runs about the same throughout the entire year.

Now, gentlemen, in conclusion, I want to say that I have a due regard for the value of our corporations, but when they use their mighty powers to crush and oppress, as some of them plainly have, under this docking system, they should be plainly shown that the people of this State can and will limit them to operations that are fair and just as well as to operations that they in the absence of specific legislation can construe as being legal. I ask you, gentlemen, in the name of the long-suffering miner of the anthracite Coal Fields, in the name of the State Federation of Labor, that knows the justice of this bill and has endorsed it, I ask you in the name of all common decency and fair play, to give this bill your unanimous support.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE ON JUDICIARY GENERAL RELATIVE TO CHARGES AGAINST HON. CHARLES N. BRUMM.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, I desire to report from the Committee on Judiciary General, the report of the allegations against the Honorable C. M. Brumm, one of the judges of the Twenty-first Judicial District.

The SPEAKER. The report will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk then read the report as follows:

To the House of Representatives:

The Judiciary General Committee hereby reports that after carefully examining the within charges and allegations against Honorable Charles A. Brumm, one of the Judges of the Twenty-first Judicial District, it is the opinion of the committee that if the charges are true, there is sufficient to warrant the appointment of a committee to investigate the same and hereby recommend that a committee of five members of the House be appointed to investigate the charges so made, and make such report as the circumstances and facts warrant

(Signed,) FRANK H. ROCKWELL,
Chairman.

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I move the adoption of the report.

Mr. SPEISER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL INTRODUCED.

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker,

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. S. B. Scott.

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

The SPEAKER. The title will be read for information.

The title was read as follows:

An Act directing the legislative reference bureau to prepare compilations or codes by topics of the existing general laws of this Commonwealth for adoption or rejection by the General Assembly fixing the powers and duties of the bureau therein fixing the compensation of the assistant director and making an appropriation therefor

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, in explanation why I introduce this act at this time, I would like to state that this bill has been drawn in view of the reasons which the Governor gave for vetoing a bill of a somewhat similar nature last week. I have every reason to believe that this fully meets the views of his Excellency, alluded to in the act of my original bill.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears no objection, the Clerk will receive the bill.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. MITCHELL. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. MITCHELL. Mr. Speaker, the pink calendar quotes me as having introduced House Bill No. 1520, relating to a Highway measure in Centre County. I am not the sponsor of that bill. I believe the sponsor of that bill is Mr. Gramley.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will make the correction.

SENATE CONCURS IN RESOLUTION.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented the following extract from the Journal of the Senate informing that the Senate has concurred in the Resolution from the House of Representatives, as follows:

Resolved by the House of Representatives (if the Senate concur) That House Bill No. 619, file folio 2619, entitled,

An Act to amend the fourth paragraph of section seven of an act entitled "An Act to provide for the classification of the townships of the Commonwealth with respect to their population into two classes and to prescribe the form of government for townships of each class" approved the twenty-eighth day of April Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and ninety-nine passed on final passage Thursday, March 20th, and now in the Senate be recalled for the purpose of amendment.

The SPEAKER. What is the pleasure of the House as to this bill.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE.

Mr. STEELE. Mr. Speaker, I move that we reconsider the vote by which this bill passed on final passage.

Mr. CARTER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. STEELE. Mr. Speaker, I move that we reconsider the vote by which this bill passed third reading.

Mr. CARTER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer the following amendment:

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read as follows:

Amend section one line nineteen by striking out after the word "offensive" the words "to prohibit within the township the burial or interment of deceased persons or within such partial limits within the same as they may from time to time prescribe and to regulate the depth of the graves"

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendment as read? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none and the amendment will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the Bill as amended?

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker. I desire to offer an amendment to the title of this bill.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the amendment for information.

The amendment was read as follows:

Amend after the last word in title 10 add the following: "authorizing townships of the first class to make regulation respecting pig pens slaughter houses bone boiling establishments, manure pits, drains, cesspools, cemeteries or places of burial and manufacturies that are offensive."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent to the insertion of this amendment? The Chair hears no objection and the amendment will be made in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the Bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill, as amended, lie over for printing.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE.

The SPEAKER asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. Kaiser for the balance of the week owing to the death of his father.

SENATE MESSAGES.

RESOLUTION FOR CONCURRENCE.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented the following extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows, viz:

In the Senate, March 24, 1913.

Whereas, The work for the United States Governoment in the Frankford Arsenal, at Philadelphia, requires the construction of a magazine and a high explosive shop, to cost approximately forty thousand dollars ($40,000), which would replace inadequate, unsanitary and unsafe buildings now used for the purpose, therefore,

Be It Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), That the attention of the Representatives in Congress from Pennsylvania is hereby invited to the need for said buildings, and said Representatives are hereby respectfully urged to secure the appropriation of funds at the forthcoming session of Congress for the construction of said buildings as recommended by the Secretary of War.

The SPEAKER. The question is on concurring in the resolution of the Senate.

It was agreed to.

Orderd, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

RESOLUTION FOR CONCURRENCE.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented the following extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows, viz:

In the Senate, March 24, 1913.

Whereas, By an explosion at the Frankford Arsenal of the United States Government, at Philadelphia, one Patrick Glancy and Peter McColgan, lost their lives in the course of their employment in said Arsenal; and

Whereas, The widows of these men, namely Mrs. Elizabeth Glancy and Mrs. Annie McClogan, were left without adequate support for themselves and their small children; and

Whereas, These women have never been idemnified for the loss of their said husbands; therefore

Be it Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur) That the Representatives in Congress from Pennsylvania be respectfully requested to secure appropriate legislation to reimburse the said Mrs. Elizabeth Glancy and Mrs. Annie McColgan for the loss sustained by them through the death of their husbands while in the employ of the United States Government at the said Frankford Arsenal, at Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

The SPEAKER. The question is on concurring in the resolution of the Senate.

It was agreed to.

Ordered. That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly

Mr. KITTS offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION.

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That House Bill No. 300 be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amending the title thereof.

MOTION TO PLACE BILL ON CALENDAR.

Mr. MARTIN. Mr. Speaker, I offer the following motion:

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the motion.

The motion was read by the Clerk as follows:

Moved that House Bill No. 495, Pink file folio 2217, which if enacted, prevents wooden passenger coaches from being placed between steel passenger coaches in trains, and which has been negatived by the Committee on Railroads, be placed on the calendar, notwithstanding the negative recommendation of the Committee.

Mr. LENKER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question of agreeing to the motion, the roll was called as follows:

The SPEAKER. Less than the number required by the rule having voted in the affirmative, the motion is lost.

RESOLUTION AMENDING RULE NO. THIRTY-SEVEN.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer a resolution at this time.

The SPEAKER. The resolution will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk then read the resolution as follows:

Resolved, That House Rule No. Thirty-seven be amended as follows: Strike out the words "sixty members" and insert in lieu thereof the words "a majority of the members present and voting."

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, I ask the unanimous consent of the House for the present consideration of this resolution.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the present consideration of the resolution? Is there any objection? The Chair hears objections and the resolution will lie over for printing.

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I ask the unanimous consent of the House to refer this resolution to the Committee on Rules.

The SPEAKER. The resolution will lie over under the rules, and cannot be considered at this time.

RESOLUTION NO. 35.

Mr. FORSTER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent of the House to call up Resolution No. 35 at this time.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent to the calling up of this resolution? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none and the resolution will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk then read the resolution as follows:

Resolved, That the following be a rule of this House: "No bill negatived by a committee shall be placed upon the calendar of this House unless a motion to place such bill on the calendar be made within five days after such bill is reported from committee."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the adoption of the resolution?

QUESTION OF INFORMATION.

Mr, SHERN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of information.

Mr. SHERN. Will the Speaker rule that any bills negatived prior to the passage of this resolution, should it pass, would come under the ban?

The SPEAKER. The Chair would like to hear the resolution read again before answering that question.

Mr. FORSTER. Mr. Speaker, the resolution was this: that a bill negatived by a committee must be called up for the consideration of the House within five days after the report of the committee. I believe last night the Speaker said that a reasonable construction of that would be that a bill which had been negatived prior to the passage of this resolution would have to be called up within five days after the adoption of this resolution.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, in a resolution of this kind, it seems to me that before it is brought up for the consideration of the members that it ought to be so drawn, even if it has to be amended, so as to be perfectly clear as to its meaning and not have the Chair or the House from time to time place a construction on it. The resolution at this time is not so vastly important that it could not lie over until to-morrow.

Mr. FORSTER. Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my request for the calling up of this resolution.

RESOLUTION NO. 19.

Mr. WALNUT. Mr. Speaker, sometime ago I introduced a resolution providing for a change of Rule Thirty-three. I do not see it among the resolutions.

The SPEAKER. The resolution was reported affirmatively by the Committee on Rules this evening.

Mr. WALNUT. Would it be in order to call up that resolution for consideration at this time.

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, it can be called up at this time.

Mr. WALNUT. This is a resolution providing for a change of Rule Thirty-three, making it impossible to amend the Constitution by a concurrent resolution, requiring that this be done by a Joint Resolution, which shall go upon the Calendar the same as a bill, and I ask the unanimous consent of the House to consider Resolution No. 19 at this time.

The SPEAKER. The resolution will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk then read the resolution as follows:

Resolved, That Rule thirty-three be amended by inserting after the word "bill," in line one, the words "and every resolution providing for an amendment to the Constitution," by striking out in line two the words "on the bill," and insert the word "thereon," and insert on line three after the word "law" the words "and no such resolution shall be adopted."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the adoption of the resolution?

Mr. McCLINTOCK. Mr. Speaker, I introduced a resolution, which is a concurrent resolution, and which would be prevented from being acted upon if this resolution is adopted. The resolution introduced by me has been upon the files for sometime, and I would like to explain it to the House before it would be defeated in this manner. This resolution would defeat it, and I object to Mr. Walnut's resolution at this time.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears objections, and the resolution will not be considered.

RESOLUTION NO. 9.

Mr. McCLINTOCK. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time Resolution No. 9, file folio 871, and ask the unanimous consent of the House to have it considered at this time.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the consideration of the resolution at this time? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none, and the resolution will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk then read the resolution as follows:

Concurrent Resolution proposing an amendment to article fourteen, section two, of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania

Section 1. Be it resolved by the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania (if the Senate concur), That the following is proposed as an amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in accordance with the provisions of the eighteenth article thereof:

Amend section two of article fourteen of said Constitution which reads as follows:

"Section 2. County officers shall be elected at the municipal elections and shall hold their offices for the term of four years beginning on the first Monday of January next after their election and until successors shall be duly qualified, all vacancies not otherwise provided for shall be filled in such manner as may be provided by law," so as to read as follows:

Section 2. In the county of Philadelphia the coroner, recorder of deeds, county commissioners and county treasurer shall be appointed by the mayor of the city of Philadelphia, subject to the approval of councils of the city of Philadelphia, but the county treasurer shall not be eligible to succeed himself. The register of wills in the county of Philadelphia shall be appointed by the judges of the orphans' court of said county and the clerk of the court of oyer and terminer and quarter sessions of the peace in the county of Philadelphia shall be appointed by the judges of the courts of common pleas. All other county officers shall be elected at the municipal elections and all county officers shall hold their offices for the term of four years, beginning on the first Monday of January next after their election or appointment and until their successors shall be duly qualified all vacancies not otherwise provided for shall be filled in such manner as shall be provided by law.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the adoption of the resolution?

Mr. McCLINTOCK. Mr. Speaker, about January 9th a prominent Philadelphian handed to me this resolution, which I thought at that time was a bill, and after reading the resolution I informed that gentleman that I was not in favor of it, and that I did not see how I could present it to this House. He insisted that it was one of the Committee of Seventy's measures of Philadelphia, and that they had been distributed among the Philadelphia members to be presented to this House. I being a new member at that time, not understanding fully the responsibility that is placed upon the sponsor of a resolution or a bill, accepted it and introduced it into this House. I am in the same position to-night as I was the night the gentleman presented the measure to me. I am opposed to it, but I wanted to make this statement so that the members of the House would know the reason for the resolution being presented by me. I would, therefore, move, Mr. Speaker, to strike this resolution from the calendar.

Mr. SHERN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, I desire at this time to call up House Bill No. 218, file folio 1919, entitled,

An Act for the better protection of wild birds and game within the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, requiring citizens of the United States residing within this State to procure a license before using guns for the purpose of hunting for any wild birds or animals protected by the laws of this Commonwealth, and providing penalties for violation of its several provisions and the manner of proceeding to enforce compliance therewith and providing for the disposition of the license fees and penalties received.

from page two of to-day's calendar, postponed for the present at this morning's session.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 218, entitled:

An Act for the better protection of wild birds and game within the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, requiring citizens of the United States residing within this State to procure a license before using guns for the purpose of hunting for any wild birds or animals protected by the laws of the Commonwealth and providing penalties for violation of its several provisions and the manner of proceeding to enforce compliance therewith and providing for the disposition of the license fees, fines and penalties received.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. HERMAN. Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Wyoming, Mr. Herman.

Mr. HERMAN. Mr. Speaker, before I vote upon this bill I feel that it is only fair to myself that I be given a chance to state to you briefly why the local hunters and farmers of my county feel as they do towards this measure.

They see, or think they see, in this bill the hastening of the time when the local sportsman will be deprived of the privilege of not alone hunting but of enterance upon the wild lands of this Commonwealth, and when I say local hunter I do not mean the man who lives in the county only, but all those who by the force of circumstance are not able financially to own any of the unseated lands of this Commonwealth.

Mr. Speaker, you want to know how they have come to this conclusion? It is known to you that a vast part of our State is nothing more than a waste land, from which the virgin timber has been removed, and under which no minerals exist. Hence, as far as actual value is concerned, it is next to worthless. These vast tracks at present are the hunting grounds of all those who wish to avail themselves of the privilege not alone for hunting, but for pleasure.

To-day these thinly timbered lands are sold for the taxes and are being rapidly bought up by hunting clubs and private parties. In either case it is the end of the local sportsman, for no sooner do these sales take place than the parties and clubs take advantage of the trespass laws of our State and cover these tracts with warnings to the public to stay off.

It is true that this class of sportsmen have the privilege of getting the consent of the owners to enter these lands. But they ask and, I think, with reason, where and how can we find these owners? They do not reside upon these lands in far too many cases not even within the boundaries of our Commonwealth. Just a few examples to show you that this state of affairs really exists. We will take Pike and Monroe counties. No better hunting grounds can be found within our boundaries than within these two counties, and from the way the wild lands have been treated by gun clubs and men of means in this section shows that my statement is correct. The Blooming Grove Hunting and Fishing Club now owns for its own private sports and pleasures 40,000 acres. Within their boundaries are at least three large lakes, great natural resources of this State that of themselves should not be owned by private parties, but is a resource that by right belongs to the people of the whole State.

Just south of this tract the Bright Creek Park Association owns and controls 10,000 acres which are used for like purposes. Still farther south and joining the above is the Easton Anglers' Association with about 40,000 acres. Then over to the northwest of these tracts is the Scholla tract with its 32,000 acres. Then north of this property is the Billings tract, sold last summer to parties whose names I do not recall. This makes nearly a continuous tract of about 100,000 acres of wild land upon which you and I have little or no chance to enter. Nor is that all. There are about twenty-five tracts of 400 acres each in these two counties alone that have already been bought up for speculation by parties for the most part from outside of the State. These properties for the most part are leased to gun clubs.

Now, Mr. Speaker, all the other counties of the State which have been recently depleted of their forests are being subjected to like treatment by foreigners as well as native parties in my own and adjoining counties. These conditions are only in the course of beginning, but the work is surely under way.

And they argue further that, as an incentive for capital to invest in these lands, we are about to pass an act creating auxilliary forest preserves, whereby under certain conditions these waste tracts taken over by individuals and hunting clubs cannot only own and control these wilds, but will be exempt from practically all the taxes and yet put upon the State the burden of paroling these lands with State officers, a part of whose duty it will be to protect game, not for the people of the State, but for those persons or clubs who own these lands, and it is only reasonable to suppose that these lands that are now owned will be immediately changed into auxilliary preserves, so as to reduce the taxes and secure this protection.

If this bill becomes a law, they contend that the moneys raised by it will be largely used to employ professional game wardens, whose work will be to protect the game on these lands that are owned and controlled entirely for private hunting. It is true that the provisions of the bill specify that 50 per cent. of all moneys raised or to be raised is to be used to pay counties upon certain obnoxious animals. But, gentlemen of the House, they have some reason to doubt that the succeeding Legislatures will so appropriate the moneys raised by this Act that this will be done. Only a few years since the Legislature of this State told the farmers that if they would do away with their work tax on roads and levy a cash tax they would give them $20 per mile for road purposes. Again they said to us if you will establish certain high schools and grade them to a certain standard, we will give you certain sums to help maintain these schools, and again, at the 1911 session you promised a maximum and minimum salary of $55 and $45 to teachers of a certain grade. Now, gentlemen, you know that these pledges, when kept at all, only gave us a small percentage of the moneys promised. My people naturally are in doubt whether this is not another law that takes too many legislative acts to enforce.

Gentlemen of the House, it is with regret that I have found myself forced to take a position upon this question that brings me in opposition to those who under different circumstances I should be only too glad to serve, and not these alone, but those sportsmen with whom I have spent many pleasant hours in the woods.

I thank you, gentlemen, for your kind consideration and I want to assure you that you true sportsmen have no better friends nor the State no better protectors of its game than the farmers of Wyoming county.

Mr. SHERN in the chair.

Mr. GRAMLEY. Mr. Speaker, there has been so much said on this subject up to this time that I fear that what may be said from now on may only fall on deaf ears, but I feel as if I were derelict to my duty, I feel as if I would not be representing my constituency were I to sit still and say nothing.

I will preface my few words that I have to say by holding before you a paper on which there are no less than 3,002 names protesting against the enacting of any bill into a law that will give us a hunters' license of any kind. Now, some of you may say that I have had these signatures obtained within the last two years. That is true of some part of this paper, but I would say to those persons that we are unalterably opposed to a resident hunters' license law of any kind. no mater how much you pay. I have also in my possession a letter which I received just within the last two weeks, in which the writer, who is a justice of the peace, tells me that he was asked by high authority at Harrisburg to ask me to use my efforts in behalf of this bill, but the writer tells me that, although he was asked from high authority from this town. he is not in favor of this bill, notwithstanding the fact that it might be of some financial gain to him if this bill shou'd become a law. I have also in my possession a list of thirty-seven names which I received just yesterday and which came to me in the same way. Blanks were furnished asking them to sign in favor of this bill. They signed it, but changed the reading, which makes the paper say "We are opposed to this law." I have further received from various parts of my county information in which they absolutely refused to list the blanks. They were asked to sign in favor of this bill. Now, gentlemen, this is called an act to protect wild birds and game. I feel like saking that it is paradoxical to draw up a bill which allows you to go forth with a gun loaded, and with that loaded gun to go and to take game. Isn't that bordering on the verge of the ridiculous? Wouldn't it be a better plan to protect the game by closing the season? Wouldn't it be better for us to go to work and say "We will not shoot the anima'ls for a number of years?" Wouldn't that protect them better? We are here enacting a bill into law to protect game, but the law that we are enacting allows us to go forth with a loaded gun, whether there is a license back of it or not. Gentlemen, that doesn't look right. We are told that the object and intent of this bill is to restrict hunters and sportsmen. I believe, Mr. Speaker, that perhaps the object is to restrict the hunter but the object is not to restrict the sportsman. You will not restrict the sportsman, whether you make that tax a dollar or five or ten, but you may possibly restrict the hunter by inflicting a tax for the simple reason that the hunter invariably is the young man, or the old man for all that, who lives close where the game is. But he does not go forth in the sense of sport; he does go forth with the sense of having a little pleasure and simply taking home with himself for his family something to eat. But, gentlemen, what does it matter whether you shoot that animal for sport or for food? The animal is dead. You are not sparing the game at all. The only thing, therefore, I say that will restrict the hunter or the boy is to make him pay the bill or the dollar tax. But I wonder whether that is constitutional. I wonder whether it is in line with republican forms of government. Are we not discriminating in behalf of the rich and against the poor? I wish to give you an illustration. This bill says in one place, "provided that nothing in this act shall be construed to prevent any bona fide owner or any bona fide lessee of lands within this Commonwealth or any member of the family of such owner or lessee such person being a citizen of the United States residing upon and cultivating lands of not less than ten acres in extent—." That simply means to say this: If I own ten acres of land, I am allowed to hunt without this license and I am allowed to hunt upon your land too, if you are adjoining mine, without paying this tax, in case you will give me permission. But, now suppose you are my next door neighbor and you own but nine acres of land, while I own ten. What is the result? Because I own ten, I can hunt on my land and on yours without paying a tax, but because you own one acre less than I do, you dare not hunt on your own or on mine until you pay the tax. Now, gentlemen, that is not fair. It is discriminating in favor of the man of wealth against the man who is not so well off. The man who has ten acres is privileged and you are, by this bill, discriminating against the man who has only nine acres. I say that is not right. There is another section in this bill that I think is not right. It refers to the fact that any person who shall be found in possession of a gun or mechnical device, and so on, shall be liable to a fine. It simply means this, gentlemen: If you are carrying a gun across a field, not on a hunting expedition, you are liable to a fine. Now, I have a concrete case in mind; I know of a case where a father and a son own a gun in common and they live about a mile and a half apart by way of the road, but only about a mile as the crow flies. I know that that father frequently carries that gun to his son's place, and the son frequently carries the gun to his father's place, and they go diagonally across the field, because it is a shorter distance. Now, gentlemen, that father and son are both liable to prosecution under this bill, if they simply carry that gun from one home to another. Is that right? But this bill, if it becomes a law, will make that possible. It is never right, gentlemen. I have also in my possession a paper which was sent me. The intent of the paper, of course, is to be in favor of this law or this bill. It shows statistics covered by the Norristown Fish and Game Protective Association. This Association is pleased to state that we have now a hunters' license in thirty-six states and seven Canadian provinces. That gives a total of forty-three political divisions, in which they have a hunters' residence license law, but the writers of this paper are not pleased to give us a report of the forty-three divisions. They are pleased to refer to but twenty-three, which is practically fifty per cent. of them, saying nothing of the others, and out of the twenty-three states to which I refer, I find that in no less than four of them they do not feel pleased to give the revenue that is obtained from this license; furthermore. in seven more the annual revenue is less than thirty thousand dollars. How much money would you have out of such a revenue if you were to use only fifty per cent. for the propagation of game, or fifty per cent. of it for bounties? I see that there are only five states here mentioned that have a revenue of between thirty and sixty thousand dollars. Out of the total of forty-three divisions, only three divisions have a revenue of over one hundred thousand dollars. The revenue coming from this, gentlemen, is not as you fancy it to be. I do not think this paper speaks so loudly in favor of this bill. We hear so much said about the careless boy. This paper calls him the reckless boy, calls him the wanton boy. Now, I plead guilty to the fact that we have some boys who are reckless with guns, but we do have sportsmen, gentlemen, who are reckless with the gun among the old and the young—among those in middle life we find an indifference and carelessness often manifested and exercised by those who hunt. You make reference to the poor boy who is not here in defense of himself; he is denied that privilege. The sportsman is here to-night; he is ready to plead his side. He is sure to put the sin upon the boy. He is sure to make the boy the scapegoat. The boy is the sinner; the sportsman is the saint. Gentlemen, is not that about the way? Now, to the sportsmen of Pennsylvania, I want to say this: Let us defeat this bill. Your interests are served just as well without this bill as with it. Defeat this bill and we welcome you when you want to hunt. Come among us and you are welcome to be there, but I am instructed by my constituents to say to the gentlemen of this House, sportsmen or hunters or whoever you are, if this bill becomes a law, you are not welcome to come within the limits of Centre county. Now, that sounds selfish. I know it does. That sounds selfish; I plead guilty to that fact; but it is true, the farmers of our county feel as if an act of injustice is done to them. They feel as if this House is in a manner putting an insult upon their boys and upon their neighbors' boys. This will not mean by its passage that the boy in the country cannot afford to lose a dollar; to that boy the dollar looks mountain-high, to you it is a mere speck. That boy is obliged to stay on the farm. He is obliged to husk corn, he is obliged to pick apples, he is obliged to do the one hundred and one chores on the farm, while the sportsman will come and shoot away the game right in front of the house of the boy. Now, gentlemen, that often happens and it is not right. Now, that may happen whether we have a license or not, but when we do not have a license there is nothing to keep a boy from having his pleasure, and a license may keep him from hunting simply because he has to pay down a dollar. I want to read to you just a little more and I shall be done. There is an amendment that I take umbrage to, exception to. The amendment providing that a tag should be worn on the back of the sleeve should be eliminated. A tag with figures to be one inch in height, if running into five figures, would require a tag two by six inches. Since it must carry the year number for which it has been issued, it is unthinkable that any Representative of the people of this grand old State should consent to tag a citizen the same as the law now provides for the tagging of a dog. We appeal to you, our representatives, to treat the man who loves his gun for the pleasure as well as benefit to be derived from it, with the same respect you would treat other citizens. Kill this obnoxious measure and give the Game Commission sufficient funds to meet their needs to the end that native game animals and birds may be propagated and preserved.

Mr. GROSS. Mr. Speaker, I call for the previous question.

Mr. SCHUCK. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The SPEAKER. The previous question has been called for.

The motion was seconded by the following members:

Messrs. Becker, Bittles, Blair, William F. Body, Burnett, Caldwell, Carson, Geiser, Goss, Gray, Frank; Heidinger, Hemminger, Kuhn, Harry P.; Latshaw, Letzkus, Lohr, Matt, McCaig, Metzenbacher, Mitchell, Morrow, Musser, Sassaman, Shaffer, Ira E.; Strauss, Walsh and others.

The SPEAKER. More than twenty members having joined in moving the previous question,

On the question,

Shall the previous question now be put?

It was agreed to.

The SPEAKER. The question now before the House is,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

REASONS FOR VOTE.

Mr. CLAYCOMB. Reasons for my vote on House Bill No. 218, file folio 1919: I cast my vote in the negative on this bill for the reason that I believe the great majority of my constituents are opposed to the bill.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 1032, entitled:

An Act providing for the taxing of traction engines for local purposes and repealing a certain act relating to the taxation of traction engines.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. REESER. Mr. Speaker, I am opposed to this bill for several reasons. In the first place I object to it because there is a bill following this which taxes traction engines for road purposes. In this bill it does not ask that there be any tax on traction engines for road purposes, only for city, county, poor and school taxes. Now, Mr. Speaker, if the intention is to tax traction engines because they hurt the roads, why does not this bill ask for a tax for road purposes. Instead of that it is only for city, county, school and poor. Now, when we come to consider this matter, let us see what the people are paying in this State on matters of this kind. Almost any farmer, and I am not standing up for the farmer, because he can stand up for himself, but there are men who have traction engines for the purpose of building roads who are paying from forty to sixty mills tax on these engines according to this bill, making it six per cent., and a great many of our townships in various counties go in debt for that purpose and buy a traction engine to work on the roads. That makes twelve per cent. that they are paying for a machine that they are only using for a few months in the year. I think it is very unfair and unreasonable. Who is there in this House to-day who would like to invest a thousand dollars and pay sixty dollars a year tax for the purpose of only using it five or six weeks in the year. I think it is an unreasonable proposition, and there is no man in this House who has ever done any business no matter whether he is a farmer or a business man who would like to do this. I think this bill is unreasonable, unjust and unfair, and I hope the members of this House will vote it down.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, the reason that this bill was introduced was that about two years ago there was a great complaint concerning traction engines, which are a great big heavy machine, some of them weighing three, four and five tons, passing over the public roads and creating great injury, breaking down the bridges and tearing up the macadam of the roads, and many of them do much more damage. It is proper that they should be used. The supervisors throughout the State made complaint about it and at their request this bill was introduced two years ago. It was passed by the Assembly and signed by the Governor, but the Attorney General construed it to mean a State tax. Now this bill is to correct that and make these traction engines liable for local purposes, for counties, townships, cities, schools, all of them, and it seems to me that it is no more than fair that these engines which damage the road should at least pay for a small proportion of the damage they do. That is all this bill is for.

The question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

When in the opinion of the board of trustees it appears probable that the mental condition of any inmate of said institution has so improved that his or her release will be beneficial to such inmate and not incompatible with the welfare of society the said board may recommend the discharge of such inmate to the court committing him or her to said institution which recommendation shall be accompanied by a record of the case of such inmate setting forth the date of his or her commitment the time of his or her detention the history of his or her case in the institution and the opinion of the superintendent and medical staff as to his or her present mental condition whereupon the said court may in its discretion after hearing all persons desirous of being heard in the premises issue an order under the seal of the court upon the said board to discharge the said inmate from the said institution

Section 4 That sections eleven twelve fourteen and fifteen of the said act entitled "An Act to provide for the selection of a site and erection of a State Institution for the Feeble-Minded and Epileptic to be called The Eastern Pennsylvania State Institution for the Feeble-Minded and Epileptic and making an appropriation therefor" approved the fifteenth day of May Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and three and section two of an act entitled "An Act supplementing an act approved the fifteenth day of May Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and three entitled 'An Act to provide for the selection of a site and the erection of a State Institution for the Feeble-Minded and Epileptic to be called the Eastern Pennsylvania State Institution for the Feeble-Minded and Epileptic and making an appropriation therefor' by abolishing the commission therein established providing for the completion of said institution regulating the powers of the board of trustees and repealing the tenth and seventeenth sections thereof" approved the twentieth day of June Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and eleven and all acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith be and the same are hereby repealed

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. WHITAKER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. NORTH. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 1009, entitled:

An Act to repeal an act approved the twenty-fifth day of March, Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and three, entitled "An Act to encourage the repression of tuberculosis of cattle and to provide for the disposition of the carcasses of meat-producing animals that are infected with tuberculosis to a degree that renders their flesh unfit for use as food."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. JOHN ROBERT JONES. Mr. Speaker, this is a repealer and I would ask that the sponsor of this bill explain the effect of the act which it repeals.

Mr. STONE. Mr. Speaker, this act repeals the act of 1893 which simply provided for the payment by the State for the examination of dead carcasses by the State Sanitary Board. An appropriation was made for the payment of this expense, and at the end of the year it was found that there had been issued certificates to the amount of $25,000 more than the amount of the appropriation. That amount now stands as an indebtedness against the State, and it was therefore thought best to repeal this act, as it was an act which never should have been passed. The State should not have to pay for meat that is infected after the cattle have been killed, and I therefore hope the members of this House will support this measure.

The question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 711, entitled:

An Act relating to the management of penitentiaries, jails, prisons, houses of correction, workhouses, houses of refuge and reformatories.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. O'NEILL. Mr. Speaker, the sponsor of this bill would like to explain the purpose of it.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Lowers.

Mr. LOWERS. Mr. Speaker, in accordance with the request of the gentleman from Philadelphia (Mr. O'Neill) I would say that this bill is simply for the purpose of making it possible for wardens of penitentiaries, jails, etc., to adopt the aggregate plan. As is well known, most modern institutions of that kind have already adopted the aggregate plans for their prisoners with the exception of one penitentiary, which still has the solitary confinement plan in vogue. And it is to make it possible to do away with this unnecessary and crude manner of keeping prisoners that this bill is introduced.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 964, entitled:

An Act authorizing and empowering township supervisors in townships of the second class to enter into contract with electric, gas or other light companies for the purpose of lighting and illuminating the streets, highways and other public places in any village in said township and to provide for the collection of funds for that purpose by levying a tax upon owners of property in the district benefited.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. E. G. M. KUHNS. Mr. Speaker, here you have a bill giving authority to supervisors of second class townships to go into contract with lighting companies to light up our country villages. Nobody would object to that end of the proposition. But there is one thing, and this is the financial end. The bill provides that the township supervisors shall go into contract to illuminate the country towns, and those benefited thereby are to pay for the expense. Well, now, who is benefited? I think everybody would be benefited; any passrby on a dark night would be benefited. But could we collect anything? Those living nearby would all be benefited, but would they pay? Now, gentlemen, this is putting a hardship on these country people, not that they would not want it, but there are thousands of things that we people in the country would like to have in our own individual homes. But there is one reason that we do not have them, and that is because we cannot afford to pay for them. Now, I am positive that every member here from the country knows that this is one of the impossibilities, and I appeal to the city members to vote this bill down.

Mr. WILTBANK. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. E. G. M. KUHNS. Certainly, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WILTBANK. Mr. Speaker, would this affect first class cities?

Mr. E. G. M. KUHNS. Mr. Speaker, this bill refers to townships of the second class.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 917, entitled:

An Act to prohibit the killing of foxes by certain methods in Delaware county and fixing a penalty for violation of this act.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. BLELOCH. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point.

Mr. BLELOCH. Mr. Speaker, this bill is unconstitutional because it is local legislation. It applies only to Delaware county.

The SPEAKER. The Chair does not consider itself sufficiently versed in the law to decide the question, and will leave the point of order to the House.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I think, if the gentleman will read the Constitution, he will find that local legislation of this character is not prohibited by the Constitution and that the Constitution provides that legislation of this character, when advertised for thirty days in two papers in the county affected, or the territory affected, such legislation can be enacted. I would like the Clerk to say that attached to the bill is the notice, with the necessary affidavits that it has been advertised for the necessary thirty days. I think the Clerk will say that such is on the bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia (Mr. Bleloch) withdraw his point of order.

Mr. BLELOCH. Mr. Speaker, I will.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. STONE. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be ready by the Clerk.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

1. Section 1, line 6, by striking out the word "and" after the word "taken," and inserting the word "to."

2. Section 13, line 34, by inserting the word "for" after the word "sell;" also to strike out the word "for" following the word "dairy," and inserting the word "or."

3. Section 19, line 2, by correcting the spelling of the word "any."

4. Section 22, line 24, by striking out the word "livestock" and inserting in lieu thereof "Livestock."

5. Section 29, line 6, by inserting the word "an" after the word "test;" also, in line 13, by striking out the first word "is," and inserting in lieu thereof the word "it."

6. Section 34, line 5, by correction of the spelling of the word "Fahrenheit."

7. Section 35, line 7, by correcting the spelling of the word "Fahrenheit."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to insert the amendments as read? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none and the amendments will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

The bill as amended was then agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 656, entitled:

An Act appropriating money to aid and encourage vocational education in the public schools of Pennsylvania.

Mr. SNYDER presented petition of Washington Camp No. 52, P. O. S. of A., favoring the passage of bill to erect a monument to Molly Pitcher.

Which was referred to the Committee on Appropriations.

TIME OF NEXT MEETING.

Mr. CROW. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. CROW offered the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), That when the Senate adjourns to-day it shall be to meet on Monday evening, March thirty-first, at nine o'clock.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

RESOLUTION AUTHORIZING THE GOVERNOR TO EXPEND $50,000 FOR THE RELIEF OF OHIO FLOOD SUFFERERS.

Mr. HERBST. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time. This is a resolution in regard to our stricken neighbors in the State of Ohio.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. HERBST offered the following resolution, which was twice read:

Resolved, That we sincerely sympathize with the sorely stricken citizens of our neighboring State of Ohio;

Therefore, Be It Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), that the Governor be and he is hereby instructed to forward $50,000, or as much thereof as may be needed, to our needy neighbors in such a manner as he may consider will do the most good, and that the same be provided for in the General Appropriation Bill.

Mr. HERBST. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39 be suspended in order that the resolution may be considered at this time.

Mr. SHEATZ. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the Senator from Berks, Mr. Herbst.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Berks, Mr. Herbst, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HERBST. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. SHEATZ. Mr. President, I would like to know if this resolution carries with it an absolute appropriation of $50,000 or whether it is in the discretion of the Governor to carry it into effect.

Mr. HERBST. Mr. President, we all know that a friend in need is a friend indeed, and if we want to do anything for our neighbors we ought to do it quickly. In other words it is a matter in which, I think, our great State can do no less than at least give our neighbors $50,000, and I think they need it. The Governor has discretion to use as much of it as he thinks fit.

The PRESIDENT. Is there any objection to the immediate consideration of the resolution just read? The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

Mr. McNICHOLS. Mr. President, I was absent when the resolution was read. The point I wish to raise at this time, while I believe the members of the Senate sympathize with out neighbors in Ohio, still the same reports in our papers convey the information to the members that maybe we have just as serious trouble in our own State. I noticed this morning's report that Meadville, in the upper end of the State, is under two or three feet of water; that the entire City of Meadville is flooded and I believe that it would be better to delay the consideration of this resolution until such time as we have more information.

Mr. HERBST. Mr. President, I ask that the resolution go to committee.

Mr. McNICHOL. Mr. President, I trust that the gentleman will not insist on referring that bill to committee, because, although the Senator from Lackawanna refers to Meadville with two or three feet of water, if there is any accuracy in the newspaper reports this morning that the City of Dayton is under forty or fifty feet of water, any one of us can realize what the appalling situation must be, and it is possible that this $50,000 may be but a drop in the bucket compared to the needs of these people, and I trust the gentleman will insist on his resolution, and I do not think the Senator from Lackawanna needs have any fear that if any city of Pennsylvania is in distress but that the State will respond.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

Resolved, That a committee of five Senators be appointed whose duty it shal be to draft suitable resolutions expressive of the sence of the Senate upon the death of the late Senator David A. Wilbert, of Allegheny County, who died on January twenty-sixth, one thousand nine hundred and twelve, and present the said resolutions to the Senate at a special meeting to be held Tuesday afternoon, April eighth, at three o'clock.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair appoints as said Committee Senators Kline, Magee, Thompson, DeWitt and Morgan.

MOTION TO PLACE ON CALENDAR BILL REPORTED WITH A NEGATIVE RECOMMENDATION.

Mr. FARLEY. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 620, (House Bill No. 107), entitled:

An Act establishing a court for the County of Philadelphia prescribing its jurisdiction and powers providing for the service of its writs processes or warrants by the proper officers of the county or city of Philadelphia regulating the procedure therein and appeals therefrom and providing for the expenses thereof known as the Municipal Court Bill, which was reported from committee today with a negative recommendation, be placed upon the Calendar.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. McILHENNY. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Farley.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Farley, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FARLEY. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. McILHENNY. Mr. President, does the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Farley, realize that if this motion of his is lost it will put the Municipal Court Bill in a very precarious condition.

Mr. FARLEY. Mr. President, I presume it will, yes.

Mr. McILHENNY. Mr. President, may I ask that the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Farley, withdraw his motion?

Mr. FARLEY. Mr. President, no, I will not withdraw my motion.

Mr. McILHENNY. Mr. President, No friend of the municipal court in Philadelphia can vote for this motion, and therefore I move that the motion of the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Farley, be laid upon the table.

Mr. HEACOCK. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?
